BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET

NEW YORK.

BRICKS. There has continued a very slow market and the drift of values has continued downward. Arrivals of Hudson River brick have been fairly large, and as demand has been on a very limited scale sellers have found it somewhat difficult to place receipts. In fact, we understand that one concern has supplies on hand that they have been holding for the past thirty days. No changes have occurred in the prices for strictly special bricks, which have contiaued to bring $5, but other fancy bricks, which ordinarily have been classed as specials, have sold at $4.75. Fine brick has sold at $4.50, and from this prices have ranged down to $4 for good brick and $3.750

3.87½ for common and ordinary. The best grades of pale grade have continued to receive a moderate amount of attention, and have held steady at $2, but the less desirable grades have moved slowly at $1.50@1.75. The call for Jersey bricks has been very moderate, and $4 has been the top price paid. The shipments to this market, however, have been moderate, as manufacturers have not been disposed to send supplies forward at the prices now ruling, and at quotations the market has been fairly steady. The poorer grades have sold down to $3.50.

CEMENT.—The call for Rosendale cement has been decidedly limited, and although no changes have been made in the quoted prices—80@85c—we understand that to do business sellers have been disposed to shade quotations a trifle, and at the close the tone was called easy. The demand for the American brands of Portland cement has been fairly good, and prices have been well maintained. Foreign do. have had a moderate call at unchanged values.

GLASS.—The market for window glass has latterly shown a somewhat steadier tone. There has been a limited amount of activity to the trading, and prices have been maintained by jobbers with some show of firmness. We understand that plans have been about completed for the continuance of the Eastern and Western Window Glass agencies for another year, beginning Oct. 1. The Pittsburg Plate Glass has suspended operations at all its factories, and does not intend resuming operations again until stocks have been sufficiently reduced to warrant it.

IRON AND STEEL.—There has been a very slow and weak market for pig iron, and sellers of what is commonly known as "cheap Southern" and also inferior Northern brands have been offering supplies at $1@1.25 per ton under quotations for standard brands.

LATH.—Arrivals have been fairly large since our last report, but buyers have shown increased interest and offerings have been fairly well absorbed at $1.55@1.60. At the close there was a fair amount of tone to the market, as it was reported that the number of cargoes on the way to this market were quite limited and the stock in the hands of receivers was also small. Consequently there was some talk of asking materially higher prices for the next arrivals.

LIME.—No changes have been apparent in the market for lime. The amount of business transacted has been very moderate, but as stocks in first hands have been limited and receipts have been small there have been no supplies pressing for sale, and prices have held steady, with 60c quoted for common Eastern and 70c for finishing do. There has been very little St. John or State lime on the market, and prices quoted are largely nominal.

LUMBER.—The recent engagement of gold in England for shipment to New York, together with the action of the Loan Committee of the Clearing House deciding to issue loan certificates when called for to any bank a member of the Association has had a favorable influence upon trade generally, and in the lumber market some factors are inclined to expect something of a revival of business in the fall, as they anticipate that the steadily growing confidence in the success of the sound-money cause at the coming Presidential election and a probable less stringent money market will act as a stimulus to trade. At present, however, business continues in a very tame and unsatisfactory condition. Buyers limit their transactions to hand-to-mouth orders, no disposition having been shown to anticipate wants, and prices, as a rule, have shown an absence of tone, sellers having been willing generally to grant concessions to do business. Collections, as a rule, have continued very unsatisfactory, and for this reason some dealers have not been disposed to encourage further trading.

No changes can be noted in the market for Eastern spruce. Very few random cargoes have been on offer, as the continued demand in the provinces for English deals and a moderate export trade with South America has kept the shipments to this market at a minimum; still demand has been light and prices have shown no particular steadiness. A limited number of orders for special cargoes have been placed at about quotations. West Virginia and State spruce have received only a very moderate amount of attention, but no changes have been made in quoted values.

There have been no new developments of importance in the market for pines. Demand has been decidedly slow for all grades and the weakness of the coarse grade of white pine has continued quite pronounced, and the little business transacted has been pretty much at buyers' terms; the better grades, however, have been in small supply, and although they have had no especial call, they have been well held. The demand for North Carolina pine has been light and yellow pine also has sold slowly. Later, we hear, that a large sale of white pine for boxing, probably about 1,000,000 ft., has been made recently at $10.

The hemlock market has continued to show a fairly good tone. There have been a limited number of orders in the market, and as there has been no surplus stock pressing for sale, values have been maintained. The market for cypress has been without radical changes. The amount of business transacted has been very moderate, and although offerings have been somewhat limited, they have been slightly in excess of the demand, and prices have been somewhat ragged.

Little if any changes have occurred in the general situation of the market for hardwoods. A moderate amount of attention has been given to plain and quartered oaks, but other woods have had only a very limited call, and as a consequence prices have ruled easy, although not quotably lower.

The "Northwestern Lumberman" says: "Reports from the English lumber markets are somewhat more encouraging than they were a month ago. Imports at both London and Liverpool were on a liberal scale during July, but the consumptive demand was very good and prices are firm, though no particular advance is noted. At London the free importation of pine deals from Canada has added to the dock stock, but prices for the higher grades have been well maintained, and there are some prospects of an improvement in values. Lower grades have met with light demand and the market for them is a little weaker, especially if of undersized specification. Spruce deals have arrived freely, but were readily taken care of, and prices have not suffered.

"The demand for Southern yellow pine is good, both at London and at Liverpool. The stock of sawed timbers is ample for present requirements, and when pushed for sale low prices are realized, but there is a steady regular demand for this stock at fair values. Deals have improved in price within the last month, but demand is only of a retail character. At Liverpool hewed timbers have met with good demand and prices are steady.

"Walnut logs of prime quality and large size continue in steady request at fair prices. The demand for inferior and small logs is limited, stocks are heavy and prices are a trifle weaker than they were a month ago. In planks and boards the better grades remain steady. The lower grades are weaker in prices, though some large sales have recently been made.

"The demand for both plain and quartered oak lumber is rather quiet, and no improvement in values is reported. Logs have been imported freely and stocks are ample for all requirements.

"American whitewood logs of the poorer qualities can only be sold at low prices. Only large prime logs should be shipped and these in limited quantities. Planks and boards continue to sell well, with only moderate stocks on hand. Receipts of satin-walnut (green) have been heavy stocks are excessive and prices rule low. Their is a fair market for moderate supplies of American oak staves."

NAILS.—There has been a tame and irregular market. Buyers have continued very conservative in their operations, limiting their purchases to their immediate needs. Prices have been quoted unchanged and firm by the Association, but, according to reports that have been in circulation in the trade, it appears as if there had been indirect concessions granted where it was found absolutely necessary to do business. The output of independent manufacturers has been steadily increasing latterly, and owing to the slowness of trade their influence has been felt to a considerable degree, as a number of merchants report that they have little or no difficulty in obtaining supplies at concessions. We quote at $2.30@2.40 per keg for car lots at mil, $2.25 per keg for small parcels from dock, and $2.57 from store. Wire, $2.70 for car lots from dock, and $2.80 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Much the same conditions have prevailed in the market for paints as have been noted for some time past. The amount of business transacted has been very moderate, as the only demand in most instances has been to supply immediate wants; but as there has been no pressure to sell, prices have been fairly well maintained. A better demand has been reported from paper makers latterly for China clay, and prices have ruled steady. White lead has moved slowly, and while no changes have been made in quoted values we understand that to obtain a good-sized order corroders would probably have shaded prices ¼c per lb. The Association figures on lead last announced are as follows, subject to change without notice. Pure white lead, dry or in oil, red lead, and litharge in kegs, in lots of 500 lbs. and over, 5¼c.; red lead and litharge in barrels and half barrels, ¼c. per lb. less than the price in kegs; white lead (cases), 1c. per lb. over price in kegs; white lead in 25-lb. tin pails (packed in 100-lb. or 200-lb. cases), 1½c. per lb. over price in kegs; white lead, assorted in 1-lb., 2-lb., 3-lb. and 5-lb. cans (packed in 100 or 200-lb. cases), 1½c. per lb. over price in kegs. Terms: On lots of 500 lbs. and over, 60 days, or 2 per cent discount for cash, if paid within 15 days from date of invoice f. o. b. at New York. Special prices for dry white lead in barrels. Quantities: To make either of above assorted quantities and assortment of packages either or all of the articles may be counted. The above prices and terms supersede all previous prices and terms offered by this company

There has been a fairly firm tone to the market for linseed oil, although the amount of stock going into consumption has been very moderate, deliveries on contracts having been small, and in the way of new business very little has been accomplished; in fact, some crushers have shown a disposition to avoid making contracts ahead at ruling prices. Western crushed oil has been unchanged; sales have been made in tank cars at 28½c, which is equivalent to 30c in bbls., at which price the market has ruled steady. American is quoted at 31c for 5-barrel lots or over, and 32c for less than 5-barrel lots; do. boiled was at 33@34c; Calcutta was at 50c. Western crushed oil was quoted at 30@31c. The market for spirits of turpentine has been quiet, and prices for machine made barrels has weakened slightly in response to easier advices from the South, where receipts have shown an increase latterly. At this writing, however, the market was steady, with oils and regular at 24c and machines at 24¾c. We quote at 24@25¼c per gallon, according to time and place of delivery, quantity, style of package, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Nothing of interest transpired in the market for tar. Only a small jobbing business has been transacted, but there has been no pressure to sell, as stock in first hands has been only moderate, and advices from primal markets have reported steady prices. The demand for pitch has been quiet, but values have unchanged and are fairly steady. We quote tar at $1.65@1.85 in pine or Wilmington barrels, $2.40¼@2.50 in pork barrels, and $3.25 in oil barrels. Pitch, $1.85@1.90.

WITH SUPPLEMENT.

EACH week now brings something to revive the courage of the business community, which sank so low in July and is regaining strength so slowly. There continue to be failures and the closing of industrial establishments, but it ought to be remembered that, while these attract much attention, the solvent concerns and the manufacturers who continue at work, which are vastly in the majority, receive no attention at all. The voice of the voter is being heard in the land and affords a pleasing contrast to the petulance and scolding to which the nominee of the populistic element of the country has taken to treating the public during his progress westward. If Maine is as equally emphatic in favor of sound money on Tuesday week as Vermont was last Tuesday, of which there is good reason to hope, that will be another very good feature by being an assurance that this ridiculous cheap money craze has not gained any hold upon the New England States, even where crazes are wont to find a suitable soil to flourish in. That business is held in the leash of this free silver movement and is impatient under the restraint the markets of the past few days have proved; for, while there are unfortunately few indications of return to trading or manufacturing activity, there are marked evidences that a speculative interest in business is being manifested and is growing. This is not only seen in the market for stocks and bonds, but also in other markets, notably that for pig-iron, which has been sensibly affected by buying for higher prices. The atmosphere in the money market is wholesomer, and the shrewd capitalists who, three weeks ago, began the process of buying which ordinarily precedes a recovery from severe depression are not by any means discouraged.

SOME disturbance in the European security markets has been caused by a very natural expectation that money will command better rates in the future. For over two years and a half the Bank of England discount rate has been two per cent, while outside rates have ruled lower. Cheap money has been a great aid to speculation, as we have pointed out from time to time, and the day seems to have at last arrived for calling a halt in order to see whether this has been wholly justified. Then, too, the bettering political prospects in the United States, and the indications that the agitation for free silver will receive its quietus at the polls next November will draw the attention of capital to American securities, with the not improbable result that those sections of the stock exchanges devoted to transactions in them will boom while others see breaks or will languish. But the ultimate result for all concerned will be wholesome, because Americans have been too long neglected, and money has been too cheap. A hearty movement in American securities would absorb an enormous amount of capital and put up the rates for money to respectable figures. The public has at last taken to disregarding war rumors. The special correspondent has scared so often that he can scare no more for a little while. Some sanity on this point was needed. There was, as we all know, for a time danger of hostilities in South Africa between the British and the Boers, but that it has passed away under the influence of the spirit of honorable concession shown on both sides, is proved by the fact that the Rand is under full headway again, the production of gold larger than ever and general business prosperous. Even the condition of affairs in Constantinople excites sympathy rather than alarm, because it is felt that every previous crisis has been met by diplomatic measures, and there is every reason for believing that this one will be. The Sultan's apparent inability or want of desire to maintain the peace of his own capital, is likely to bring about some arrangement which, if it does not immediately lead to the dismemberment of his empire, will secure for it a board of conservation made up of representatives of the Great Powers, which will pave the way for eventual dismemberment under some system satisfactory to the several parts and safer for the peace and prosperity of all. Negotiations have been opened for a rearrangement of the national debt of Argentina, the previous ones having practically all fallen through, owing to the inability of the government to meet them. Australian banking affairs are still giving trouble, though they have now a comparatively small influence upon the home financial centre. There are several conversion schemes on the carpet, notably with French and Russian government loans, while there is always talk of similar treatment of the German Imperial four per cent loan. If these are carried out, while likely to be more or less disturbing until the terms are completed, they will throw a great deal of lucrative business into the hands of bankers and brokers.

THE value of the Vermont election depends upon the effect it will undoubtedly have on the crowd. Argument counts for little with the multitude, because the multitude is not influenced by reason, but by sentiment, passion and prejudice, and beyond all else the sway of the moment. A crowd cannot endure defeat. The chill of failure destroys the cohesion of the mob, the very principle that makes it a mob. The recent frost from Vermont will nip the growth of Bryanism as nothing else can. It is a premonition of failure. It puts the "sway of the moment" against Silver, and, unless there be some reaction, will do more for McKinley than anything else possibly could do for him. The silver movement is largely an affair of feeling. It can be maintained only by emotional stimulants. That is why Bryan is right from the tactician's point of view in appealing to national, sectional and class prejudices. He has a natural touch for the mob—we use the word not offensively but as designating men moving collectively—and his personal success with the mob would be ten times that of a man like McKinley, unless his course be checked by influences of the kind the mob feels. It is not the physical effect of the first volley that overawes a riot. The crowd as a military force could possibly master the militia; what operates is the psychological power of a determined opposition. It breaks up the mob as such, by restoring individuality to its units. The cohesion, the impulse, the sway, the very essentials that make it a crowd, a collection acting as one, are gone, and dispersal follows. Thousands were joining the Silverites, seduced, as much as by anything else, by the "movement," the onward rush, the cry for free silver. Upon these the Vermont election will tell powerfully. It is the first volley. With those that pause now, argument and reason will have an effect from which they would be utterly exempt as units in a crowd.

THE story is told of a Canadian who, during war days, asked in Buffalo: "What is the discount to-day on paper?" "None," was the answer; but as he was leaving the following was added: "But we're paying a premium for gold, if that's what you mean." Now, in any attempt to account for the silver delusion the popular verbal inversion concerning the relationship of our paper currency and gold during the war and prior to the resumption of specie payments must not be overlooked. Throughout that period the perpetual din about the premium on gold created, with the ignorant, the impression that it was the metal and not the fiat paper that was the unstable currency. As a matter of fact, gold was the constant, paper the fluctuating money. The strict expression should have been that of the Canadian. Greenbacks were at such or such a discount, were so much below par. Had this phraseology been persistently used a valuable lesson would have been given to the country of the variability of fiat currency. Each step toward resumption would then have been a forcible exposition of the fact that paper money acquires value only in proportion to its convertability into gold or other commodity of intrinsic worth. Our paper rose to par by becoming redeemable in gold. This was the actual process. The popular statement of the fact seemed to indicate, and for the ignorant did indicate, that gold descended from its high station and came to an equality with paper. The matter, of course, is one of words only, but there was a false teaching in the expression; and the lesson has never been quite unlearned by "plain people."

LI HUNG CHANG should be captured by the Silverites before he leaves the country, and induced to describe for the benefit of the American people the prosperity of the Chinese farmer and workingman, who possess the wonder-working silver currency. There are so many countries in the world which use silver money and have used it for centuries that it ought not to be difficult for Bryan and his friends to procure for us actual testimony to the truth of the faith that is in them. If silver has the power to electro-plate this dull world of ours until it shines with the radiance of Eden, why is it that neither

Mr. Bryan nor any of his friends would accept free passage (and this country's blessing) to lands where silver has never been demonetized and the "crime of 1873" is not known of. They are perfectly aware of the fact that silver countries are the poorest of all countries, the least advanced, the slowest to move. Instead of pointing to those ominous regions as testifying even darkly to the solidity of their doctrines they turn away and prophesy to us of the wonders to be wrought elsewhere by the discredited metal. Bryan has so much to say about British gold and the curse of an un-American currency that he will not be dealing with us frankly if he does not procure for us, when Li Hung Chang moves westward, authentic information concerning Chinese silver. British gold always was a snare and an abomination, unfit for good Americans; but the currency of Alle Samme, the pious Hindoo, and the Mexican isn't a bit too fine for Uncle Sam. If it is, thank Heaven, there is wampum! and wampum really is American. Neither the Chinese nor the British have tried that. No international agreement is needed here.

The Outlook for Real Estate.

THE unfavorable monetary conditions brought about by the nomination of Bryan for the presidency, seem to portend a more or less extended anxious period for a large class of realty owners—those whose equities in their holdings have foolishly been reduced through their avidity to saddle them with the extreme mortgage loans that have been readily secured during the past two years. Fortunate among them are they whose obligations were assumed for three-year terms or longer. The present financial crisis suddenly developed by unforeseen circumstances may not end, if precedent is a guide, with the election of William McKinley, nor for many months afterward. A scare such as has overtaken the business community is not a thing to be banished by a hurrah over a sound money victory in November. It has penetrated too deeply beneath the cuticle of capitalists to warrant that belief.

To the credit of real estate it must be said that it has so far given no sign, beyond that of almost unparalleled dullness, of yielding to the changed state that is noted in every line of trade and speculation. It holds its own in good shape, to quote a familiar saying of the dealers. But the cloud that foreshadows a storm has originated in the loan market and appears to promise only an even chance of being dispelled before serious damage results. There is hardly an insurance or trust company in the city that will entertain at present applications for mortgage loans on real estate. An exception is made by a few of them in favor of property of the gilt-edge grade and then only when the security is ample beyond any possible depreciation and the rate of interest higher than could have been obtained three months ago. The trustees of large estates that have for years figured almost as prominently as lenders, have followed the example set by the big institutions and refuse to listen to any overtures whatever from would-be borrowers or their representatives. The smaller estates whose beneficiaries are dependent on unimpaired incomes are more liberal and do not hesitate to loan sums that have accumulated through recent settlements of outstanding obligations. Not so with the savings banks. A carefully prosecuted inquiry this week shows that but one or two of the smaller savings institutions are still in the field as lenders. The excuse given by the respective officers of several of the banks for not considering loans "at present" or "for the next 60 days" is that depositors are steadily withdrawing funds. These withdrawals are being made with remarkable regularity by about an equal daily number of their customers and doubtless, as a precautionary measure, find their way to the proverbial old stocking or other home receptacles that have done duty as primitive banks since money existed. Some of the bank officers are unnecessarily in a state bordering on alarm, and, as becomes custodians of the peoples' savings, will take no chances of being found unprepared in the event of the election or the excitement that may precede that event leading to a nervous panic among depositors. In some instances that we know of they have decided to not only not lend but to call in all loans overdue. This, of course, adds another complication to the situation. Interest rates have advanced all around, and yet there are brokers who claim to control untold sums that are ready to be advanced on real estate security at 4 and 4½ per cent. Their claims may be set down in most cases as buncombe, pure and simple. Loans will continue to be made, of course, and would be if the financial outlook was far more unpropitious. They consist of money that must be invested if incomes are to be paid, and funds that are controlled by far-seeing attorneys, who, uninfluenced by the opinions of others, are convinced of the truth that "the nimble sixpence" is the most desirable one. Moreover, they know that there is absolutely nothing in sight to-day that will prove a safer or more satisfactory investment than a loan on improved real estate, advanced after proper investigation, and with the exercise of ordinary intelligence.

As was to have been expected, the popularity of the gold clause has increased with mortgagees. Of the regular mortgages, including purchase money loans, covering the fee, published in our list last week, and involving property below the Harlem River, exactly 25 per cent contained the now popular clause, and it is understood that the percentage is still greater in the loans recently placed but not yet advanced and recorded.

AN immense amount of printed matter has been turned out by the Committee on Draft of the Greater New York Commission, but we fear the committee has sacrificed itself for little purpose, because of an opinion we have that if the Commission does not reject its work, the Legislature will. The suggestions of the Committee, were they present any not now included in our system of municipal government, are not in line with the known intentions and wishes of the men who rushed this scheme of consolidation through the Legislature and are, for that reason, doomed to failure. We doubt if they wish to see the Mayor of the consolidated city made a sort of autocrat, or the departments placed under single heads, removable at any time by the Mayor. Besides these there are several new principles enunciated in the draft charter, which have already met with opposition from without the Legislature, and are sure to be fiercely contested if ever proposed within. It is, therefore, unnecessary to discuss the work of the Committee in detail. Those parts of the committee's work which directly effect realty and improvements are particularly defective. For instance, by adopting the present building law of New York City for Greater New York, there would be imposed a standard of construction upon the whole area, which was originally intended for a quite restricted area. In fact the law is now unjust when applied to much of the territory beyond the Harlem, which was added to New York City by the act of 1895, and would be still more unjust if applied to the farming regions of Richmond and Queens counties, which, by legislative absurdity, are to form part of Greater New York and make a fiat city. That is an important general objection to the work of the Committee on Draft relating to buildings. A specific one is that the fire limits, according to their plan, are those of Manhattan Island only, consequently the whole of Brooklyn would be outside the fire limits, except as present city ordinances could be made to apply under the new conditions. These discrepancies could not have escaped the attention of the Committee on Draft, and they doubtless used the New York City law merely as a stop-gap, expecting that the committee which has undertaken the revision of the building laws will extend their work to make it apply to Greater New York and submit a draft law that the Commission can accept. If this is so it is the wisest course they can adopt, because there is no lawyer or body of lawyers who can draft a suitable building law without the aid of men—whose numbers are remarkably few—who have had a sufficiently wide practical experience to know the deficiencies of the present law and what is necessary for the outlying districts. The necessary qualities are to be found in the committee, whose names we gave some time ago, who have asked to be heard before the Commission in relation to the building law, and to have entrusted to them the task of drafting a bill which shall meet the requirements of good construction according to locality. If the Commission decides to grant this request it will save itself a large amount of unnecessary labor and serve the public at the same time.

THEN, too, the suggestions of the Committee on Draft, on Taxes and Assessments, in spite of reports to the contrary, are not approved by the Tax Department of this city. Having said that it is needless to say that they do not embody the views of the Department. They propose to create a department under a single head, to be called the Commissioner of Taxes and Assessments, who is to arrange and superintend the work now performed by the Tax Department and the Board of Assessors. He is to be assisted by a board of assessors and three judges of appeals, appointed by himself, and on him and them is to fall the duty, which, to specify as difficult is to indulge in most moderate language, of equalizing the valuations and taxes for the consolidated city. Some may think this is not a difficult task at all. They are those who look upon consolidation as a way of relieving the City of Brooklyn from the pecuniary obligations now found too onerous for it. The means for doing this, which they suggest, is to simply raise valuations within the limits of the existing City of New York to the level of those prevailing in Brooklyn and make the tax rate the same for the whole of Greater New York. A sop to owners of New York realty is found, in a provision that the borough boards, upon petition by property owners, but always with the approval of the mayor, may improve streets and lay out parks and assess the cost of the same on the property benefited, but within the borough. The idea intended to be conveyed is that a considerable part of the cost of improvements will be locally borne and that inequitable burdens will not be laid upon property in general. But power to make the same improvements is also conferred on the municipal assembly, which may act in its discretion, without petition from adjacent property-owners, and put the cost in whole or in part upon benefited districts or upon the general fund. With two such ways of obtaining street improvements there is very little question where the influence would be thrown to get them made. In fact the more the work of the Committee on Draft is examined the more it is seen that it is hurriedly done and will not stand critical examination. The committee is trying to crowd the work of several years into a few months, and the consequence is naturally unsatisfactoriness in every direction. It is to be hoped that when the Commission gets to work it will display more deliberation. If it does not, and the Legislature is equally hasty, we shall enter upon a more complete municipal muddle than ever any city was ever cursed with.

Liability For Commissions—Exclusive Agency.

A decision of considerable importance to real estate agents was rendered by the Supreme Court, Appellate Term, in the case of Daniel Levy versus Catharine Rothe. Appeal was taken from judgment obtained by plaintiff. The opinion, which was prepared by Justice Bischoff and concurred in by the other two justices who heard the appeal, Daly and McAdam, states:

The defendant's employment of the plaintiff, a real estate broker, was evidenced by the following writing:

"In consideration of the sum of $1, to me in hand paid, the receipt whereof is hereby acknowledged, and of other good and valuable considerations, I do hereby give unto Daniel Levy, of the City of New York, the option and sole agency to sell and offer for sale the premises No. 257 West 30th street, in the City of New York, about 24x140, for the period of six months from the date hereof, and hereby agree not to place the said premises for sale during the said period in the hands of any other agent or broker. Price, $20,000."

Within a month from the day upon which the employment took effect, the defendant herself secured a purchaser, and sold the premises. On the next succeeding day the plaintiff presented a customer, who was able and willing to purchase upon the prescribed terms, and upon such customer's rejection by the plaintiff this action was instituted to recover the plaintiff's commissions.

It is apparent from the contract before us that it was thereby intended not only to secure to the plaintiff the exclusive agency to negotiate a sale, but also the exclusive right to negotiate a sale during the period limited. Such a right necessarily resulted from the plaintiff's "option" to sell, unless, indeed, the contracting parties are to be charged with redundancy. The word "option" may have been inartificially chosen by the parties, but while it remains its effect is not to be avoided. It is a synonym for "choice" or "preference" (Cent. Dict., "Option"), and so must be taken as evidence of an intention to confer upon the plaintiff a right which he was to possess or enjoy above all other persons. The exclusive agency of the plaintiff to negotiate a sale in the defendant's behalf plainly followed from the context of the writing hereinbefore set forth, without reference or allusion to such "option," and unless, therefore, it is held that the defendant intended to waive her right to negotiate a sale in person, so much of the contract as undertook to give the plaintiff an "option" to sell must be held to be meaningless or redundant, in violation of the rule of interpretation already alluded to. The exclusive agency to negotiate a sale, independently of any "option" to sell, secured to the plaintiff a preference over all persons other than the defendant. Obviously, therefore, the "option" choice or preference in the negotiation of a sale was intended to secure him against the interference of the defendent in person as well. The verdict is amply supported by the facts in evidence, and the judgment should therefore be affirmed.

The Boulevard Receives Official Notice At Last.

At a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment held on Tuesday last the following letter was received and referred to the Comptroller:

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS,
COMMISSIONERS OFFICE
NEW YORK, August 27, 1896.

HON. WILLIAM L. STRONG, Mayor and Chairman Board of Estimate and Apportionment;

DEAR SIR.—For a number of years past the small park spaces through the centre of the Western Boulevard, which were designed for the adornment of that thoroughfare and its surroundings, have been an eyesore and detriment instead of an ornament, in consequence of years of neglect to provide for and attend to their proper maintenance.

In response to a pressing public demand, voiced in many petitions and letters from individuals and associated bodies of citizens, and under a personal sense of official duty, I have concluded that the restoration of these park spaces to a decent appearance, comporting in some degree with their object and surroundings, should no longer be postponed or set aside.

The present appropriation for "Boulevards, Roads and Avenues—Maintenance of," like the appropriations for last year and preceding years, contains no provision or allowance for this work, but it is practicable to provide for it, or at least a part of it, by a transfer of $5,000 from the appropriation for "Repairs and Renewal of Pavements and Regrading," from which that amount can be spared by postponing repairs less urgent. It will enable this department to demonstrate what can be accomplished at comparatively small cost toward an improvement which is universally demanded.

I, therefore, respectfully request that the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) be transferred from the appropiation for "Repairs and Renewal of Pavements and Regrading" for 1896 to the appropriation for "Boulevards, Roads and Avenues—Maintenance of," for 1896, the same to be applied exclusively to the improvement of the centre plots or park spaces on the Boulevard.

Very respectively,
CHARLES H. T. COLLIS, Commissioner of Public Works.

The Petition for Mr. Constable's Removal.

The petition published in our issue of July 25th last asking for the removal of Stevenson Constable from the office of Superintendent of the Department of Buildings, has been presented to Mayor Strong with forty-one names attached. They are: J. R. Thomas, Hugh Lamb, Francis Drischler, Andrew Spence, Small & Schuman, Edward L. Tilton, James C. Cauldwell, Joseph Greever, W. C. Dickerson, A. E. Walker, Michael Bernstein, D. T. Atwood, Kurtzer & Rohl, James O'Hare, J. H. Burchall, Albert A. Curtis, Nathan Langer, H. Palmer, Chas. H. Smith, T. Reynolds, G. H. Budlong, Paul F. Higgs, W. E. Thompson, John D. Fouget, Henry Thompson, W. H. Hoefer, John A. Elliott, J. Averit Webster, C. A. Milner, Frank A. Rooke, John A. Luther, James S. Wightman, Henri D. Dickinson, Elliott Lynch, W. B. Biglow, Henry F. Willard, Brendel & Co., Thos. W. Keogh, George H. Griebel, J. F. Goger and G. E. Farquhar. Since the publication of the text of the petition and the names of its signers last July, John W. Smith, John B. Dolin, J. H. Valentine, D. Burgess, L. Macleod, W. A. Hall, H. G. Knapp, Thos. C. Vache, Chas. Macnay, Owen Healy, A. Gallatin Deering and John A. Linscott seem to have withdrawn, as their names do not appear on the list of signers now published. Superintendent Constable had an interview with the Mayor on the subject of the petition and the latter has not announced his intentions with regard to it.

Through Elevated Trains to Tremont.

The Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company is perfecting plans for running through trains from the City Hall and South Ferry to Tremont. It is understood that twelve trains will run each way for two hours in the morning and two hours in the evening, beginning about the 15th inst.

Payment of Taxes.

The daily newspapers announce, amidst expressions of surprise, and giving several explanations, that the city will not be ready to receive taxes until October. The main fact is quite true, only there is nothing remarkable or unusual about it. Of late years, owing to the requirements of legislation, it has been impossible to get the tax books written up before the end of September, and the receipt of taxes is generally begun on the first Monday in October, as it most probably also will be this year.

Obituary.

Michael Gibbons, founder of the well-known building firm of M. Gibbons & Sons, died at his residence in Brooklyn on Tuesday of last week, at the age of 60 years. Mr. Gibbons attained exceptional prominence as a contractor and builder, and was intrusted with the erection of many important structures, not only in Brooklyn, but in this city and elsewhere. He retired from active participation in the business of his firm a year or two ago, leaving its management to his two sons, who for a long time previously had been his associates in building enterprises. The deceased had accumulated a comfortable fortune, and was a liberal giver to numberless charities in New York and our sister city.

Personals.

Jonas Weil, of the firm of Weil & Mayer, is due in town, after a two months' vacation spent at Sharon Springs, the Thousand Islands and elsewhere.

Jacob A. King is winding up the season at Griffin's Corners, N. Y., for which resort he recently left Keyport, N. J.

Giuseppe Tuoti, the well-known real estate broker of No. 189 Grand street and No. 503 Fifth avenue, has formed a partnership with Mr. Francklyn Lawrence, who henceforth will be associated with him in the management of the firm's extensive and growing business.

J. Clarence Davies is back from a long and enjoyable visit to Europe and once more prepared, as formerly, to dispose of sections of North New York in small or large parcels as buyers may prefer.

Questions and Answers.

TRANSFER TAX.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

A sister dies, leaving a personal estate of $34,000, of which two sisters each is bequeathed $4,000. The rest and residue the deceased gave in her will to strangers. Have the appraisers and Surrogate the right to assess a tax of 1 per cent. on the bequest of $4,000 to each sister? Executor's attorney says that the amount less than $10,000, which is exempt by law, is estimated on the total assets, and not on the amount alloted to each sister; e. g., a testator's $15,000 which he in equal shares bequeaths to two sisters, although each sister's share is much less than $10,000, they are assessed a tax of 1 per cent. Is that legal or not?

Answer.—If the estate of the decedent exceeds in amount $10,000 the bequest to a sister is taxable.—Law Editor.

COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly inform me in your next issue if I am not entitled to judgment against A in the following case: I gave a piece of property to A, whom I had known as a prospective purchaser, and went with him and the janitor through the property, showing him everything. He left, promising to let me have an offer on the following morning, but I did not hear from him. A few days later the janitor of the house informed me that my purchaser, A, had been showing another party through the house. The following day I learned from the owners that the property had been sold in exchange for another house, and, further, that my purchaser, A, had acted as broker in the transaction and received full commission, and when I told them the full facts of the case they were quite indignant at A's actions, and advised me to start suit at once.

Answer.—You have no cause of action against A.—Law Editor.

GUARDIAN'S BOND.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

(1) Is there a new law requiring bonds from guardians, the guardians being appointed as such, also as executors, by the testator (guardians and executors are the same persons) in his last will? How does this new law read if so? (2)Executors have received commission on first settlement of their accounts rendered. Are they entitled to an annual commission, and at what per cent? (3) In your Aug. 15 number, page 235, left, "Rules and Regulations of the Real Estate Exchange." Do these rules appear in print, and where can they be procured? (4) In your paper for 1890 you advertised a pamphlet, "The Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Counsellor G. Van Sicklen, 50 cents. Can this book be had? If so, how much for last edition?

Answer.—(1) We know of no such new law. (2) They are entitled to a commission whenever they render an account, in accordance with the law, and should properly render an account once every year. The commission is 5 per cent on the first $1,000, 2½ per cent on the next $10,000, and 1 per cent on the remainder of the amount accounted for, up to $100,000. (3) They may be procured at the office of the Real Estate Exchange, No. 59 Liberty street, N. .Y. (4) The book is out of print; a new edition is to be issued soon.—Law Editor.

RIVAL AGENTS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please answer the following question in your next issue: A owns a house and puts it into C's hands to let; R gets into the house; puts his bill on to let, without authority of A. (1) What redress has C got against R for such an act? (2) A rents the house; can C collect commission from R, or has C a case against R?

Answer.—(1) None. (2) No.—Law Editor.

ENCROACHMENT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I recently sold a tenement property, but the purchaser refused to take title, his attorney having discovered that my building encroached 2 inches on the adjoining land. The building was erected more than twenty years ago, and no objection has been made by the owner of the adjoining property. Does this undisputed possession for over twenty years give me title to the 2 inches or shall I have to acquire it by purchase in order to clear my title?

Answer.—Your undisputed possession gives you title, unless during the twenty years the title has been in some one who was under a disability which prevented him from enforcing his rights, as for instance, infancy. (See Crary vs. Goodman, 22 N. Y., 171.) —Law Editor.

COMMISSION FOR LEASING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

Will you kindly inform me in your next issue if a broker is entitled to charge commission on the full twenty years, or on ten years when a party takes a ten-year lease of a building with the privilege of renewing same for ten years more? Also, what is the legal rate of commission?

Answer.—He is entitled to charge commission on ten years only. If by legal rate of commission you mean a rate established by an act of the Legislature, there is no such rate. A broker may make an agreement with his customer for any rate whatever. If there has been no agreement the "custom of the trade" fixes the "legal" rate, which is, according to the rules of the New York Real Estate Exchange, one per cent. on the gross rental for the term of the lease; in Brooklyn the rate is two and one-half per cent. on the rental of the first year and one per cent. on the rental for the remainder of the term.—Law Editor.

PAVING ON ELEVENTH AVENUE.

o the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

Dear Sir: In your issue of August 15 I notice an article in connection with the laying of asphalt pavement. In your answer you state that the cost of same would be charged to the general fund, not assessed on the abutting property-owners. In connection with this matter, I would like very much to have your views as to where the assessment is to be levied for asphalt paving which is now being done on 11th avenue, between 20th and 27th streets? I understand that there is a statute known as Chapter 449, Laws of 1889, which has some bearing on this matter. As one of your subcribers, I know it would please many of your readers among the material men in this section to have you look into this matter carefully and give us your views.

Answer.—The matter of paving 11th avenue, from 20th to 27th street, has not reached the Board of Assessors yet, and it will be some time before the assessment is levied; how long it is impossible to say at this writing. Chapter 449 of the Laws of 1889, has relation to paving of streets on land originally under water and which is a charge on abutting property held under grant from the city. We will treat it at length in an early future issue.—Editor "Record and Guide."

WHERE EXPERTS DIFFER—INFORMATION WANTED.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you or some one of your correspondents having knowledge of the subject, give me information as to the best method of constructing a brick cistern 12 feet in diameter and 12 feet deep, the bottom to rest on sandy soil. I find expert opinions differ as to the thickness of the walls, the proportion of cement to be used, and especially as to whether the foundation would better be constructed of three courses of brick, with an inverted arch for the bottom, or flat, with 12 inches of good concrete, two parts cement, one part sand and four parts clean broken stone. Opinions seem to agree that the vertical walls should be at least 12 inches thick. F. C. Moore (Continental Ins. Co.)

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

HEIGHTS OF FIREPROOF BUILDINGS.

Please inform me whether the law is passed in regard to fireproof apartment houses, limiting the height of same to the width of the street?

Answer.—The bill you refer to was one limiting the heights of all buildings in proportion to the width of the streets. It did not pass. There is no legal limitation on the height of a fireproof building.—Editor "Record and Guide."

An Error.—The act regulating the height of dwelling houses, Chapter 454, Laws of 1885, limits the height of apartment houses to 70 feet upon all streets and avenues not exceeding 60 feet in width, and 80 feet upon all streets and avenues exceeding 60 feet in width. Under the recent amendment to the building law, all buildings exceeding 70 feet in height must be constructed fireproof.

CAN ALIEN OWN REAL ESTATE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please let me know in next issue of "Record and Guide" whether an alien can own real estate in this country.

Answer.—No; not unless he has filed a deposition in accordance with Chapter 547 of the Laws of 1896, passed on the 12th of May last. Section 4 of this act reads as follows: "An alien, who, pursuant to the laws of the United States, has declared his intention of becoming a citizen, and who is, and intends to remain, a resident thereof, may make a written deposition to such facts, before an officer authorized to take the acknowledgment or proof of deeds to entitle them to be recorded within the State. Such deposition must be certified by the officer before whom it is made, and may be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, and when so filed, must be recorded by him in a book kept for that purpose." Section 5 reads as follows: "An alien may, for a term of six years after filing the deposition described in the last preceding section, take, hold, convey and devise real property, etc." There are various other provisions in the act relative to the tenure of real property by aliens, but the foregoing answers the question propounded.—Law Editor.

DIVISION STREET PARK.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: I would like to know when the Park Department intend to tear down the buildings on Division street and vicinity for the purpose of building the park?

Answer.—Plans are not yet completed for laying out park, nor instructions given to the Corporation Counsel to commence condemnation proceedings. Watch our "Notice to Property Owners" column as well as our news columns, where the matter will receive attention as official action is taken.—Editor "Record and Guide."

TO GET PAVING RENEWED.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

Will you please answer the following: What are the necessary steps to be taken to have a block in this city asphalted? The present pavement is very bad.

Answer.—The property-owners and residents of the block should send a petition to the Board of Aldermen stating the facts and their wishes, through the Alderman of the Ward.—Editor "Record and Guide."

Dodge Co. (Incorporated), Cammeyer Building, No. 310 Sixth Avenue (18th Street Station).

Real Estate Market.

House sales have been the feature of this week's business, and it is not improbable that they will continue to dominate the sales market throughout September. To them is due an appreciable improvement in the aggregate investment reported as compared with the amounts involved in the transactions announced during the last three weeks. Our reports indicate sales closed that reach a total of about $700,000. Governor Morton's 5th avenue purchase is the most important and interesting item of the week.

The following are the comparative tables for the New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1895 and 1896.

Five parcels, disposed of under decrees of foreclosure and a sale for account of creditor of a leasehold interest, do not make a very striking auction record even if it is the first week in September. Last year, during the corresponding week, the sales embraced nineteen separate properties, all but two of which took place in accordance with court orders obtained by mortgagees. There were two adjournments announced at the Broadway Salesroom on Thursday, by Peter F. Meyer & Co. and Richard V. Harnett & Co., respectively. The properties involved were No. 70 South street and the southwest corner of 3d avenue and 158th street, both of which will again be offered on the 17th inst. On the same day, at the Real Estate Exchange, Richard V. Harnett & Co. postponed until the 14th inst. a sale of the leasehold premises, No. 740 3d avenue, northwest corner of 46th street.

Philip A. Smyth sold, on the ground, last Saturday, 64 lots at Westchester, 24th Ward, for the account of a syndicate. The total realized was $32,450, and every lot offered found a buyer. Prices ruled low and considerably less than previous quotations for similar lots in the neighborhood. The highest price obtained was $1,770 for a lot of extra size on the southerly corner of Westchester and Washington avenues. An ordinary lot on the opposite corner of the same avenues brought $975 and two similar corner parcels at Westchester and Green avenues sold for $1,110 and $1,000, respectively. An average price of $750 was secured for inside lots on Westchester avenue; from $425 to $600 each, for similar lots on Washington avenue; $425 to $500 each, for those fronting on Butler place, and about $325 apiece for lots adjoining in the rear on Halsey place. Previous to the auction, Mr. Smyth sold at private contract, three of the lots embraced in the proposed offering of 155 and has since disposed of six others. Owing to the lateness of the hour on Saturday when the last of the lots presented was knocked down it was found advisable to postpone the offering of the remaining parcels, which now number 82, until to-day when the sale will be resumed at 1.30 o'clock p. m.

H. C. Mapes & Co. will sell at auction on Labor Day, Monday, September 7th, at 10.30 a. m., on the grounds, 325 city lots and three new houses, conveniently located on Morris Park and Columbus avenues and adjoining streets at Van Nest Park, 24th Ward, this city. The West Farms trolley cars, from 3d avenue and 129th street and 8th avenue and 135th street, pass Van Nest Park; fare five cents. Water, gas, electric light, schools, police and fire protection are supplied.

Peter F. Meyer & Co., will officiate at a continuation sale of Undercliff terrace lots on Wednesday, October 7th, at the Real Estate Exchange. One hundred and twenty-one lots will be sold, being the unsold portion of 275 lots offered successfully last May by the same auctioneers.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors on Wednesday, William E. Haws, John R. Foley, Walter D. Rusher and W. Willis Reese were elected members of the Real Estate Board of Brokers.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

Riker & Son have sold for John D. Crimmins to Governor Levi P. Morton the four-story stone front residence, lot 42 x 125, No. 681 5th avenue, with stable in the rear and a carriageway 8 x 58.5, running north to 54th street, on which it is designated No. 2 East. Nothing definite has been learned regarding the price, but it is known to be above $200,000. The Governor, after necessary alterations are made, will occupy it as his town house. The property was formerly owned by the late Allen Dodworth, and the dwelling occupied by him for many years as a home and dancing academy, which attracted the most exclusive patronage. It was sold for his estate by Auctioneer William Kennelly to Mr. Crimmins for $172,000 in the Broadway Salesroom on May 5. The price, it was agreed by the many experts present at the time, was a low one, their various estimates of the value of the parcel ranging upward from $210,000.

J. Arthur Fischer has sold for Cecilia and Mary Cunningham the four-story English basement house, 16.8 x 55 x98.9, No. 253 West 37th street, to Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor for $12,100.

John G. Folsom has sold for Mrs. Anna Meisel, the three-story brick dwelling with lot, 21.2 x 94.7, No. 113 East 10th street, between 2d and 3d avenues, to L. H. Prahar.

The Marquis de St. Paul, who bears up cheerfully under a variety of additional names, has sold, presumably to the Stokes estate, owner of the Platt street corner parcel adjoining, the old three-story building with lot, 28.6 x 94.6, No. 90 William street. The property was last sold in 1810, and passed into the hands of the Marquis by inheritance.

Wilmerding & Feld have sold for Mrs. Rachel G. Gunhut at a price exceeding $40,000, the four-story stone front dwelling with lot, 25 x 98.9, No. 63 West 36th street, and for Cornelia W. Jones, of Tuxedo Park, the three-story brick dwelling with lot, 17.10x98.9, No. 231 West 37th street.

Peter Lang has bought of Mrs. Emma W. Inglee at about $14,000, the four story brick tenement with lot, 21 x 65, No. 689 Washington street, north of Charles street.

Mandelbaum & Lewine have bought of Michael J. Ganey the three-story brick house, 25x50x98.9, No. 219 East 25th street. They have also purchased the lease of No. 230 Henry street, the fee of which was bought by them two years ago.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

A. L. Mordecai & Son have sold for Potter & Bro. the vacant plot, 100.11x145, on the southeast corner of Manhattan avenue and 114th street, to John R. Todd, who, it is understood, will not improve it. The contract price of $81,500 covers a trade for two other parcels, one of which, the five-story flat with lot, 37.6x 100.11, on the south side of 114th street, 30 feet west of Park avenue, has been resold by the same brokers for the Messrs. Potter to J. Cummings at $45,000. The location of the third property involved has not been learned.

The Wm. S. Anderson Co. has sold for Builder W. H. Picken, to W. P. Mitchell, No. 221 West 112th street, 18x50x100.11, the last of a new row of three-story stone front houses recently completed.

Alex. Guthman and James McComb have sold for Ferdinand Forsch the five-story flat with lot, 25x99.11, No. 172 West 135th street, to W. J. Murray, who will give in trade four lots on the Southern Boulevard, 100 feet west of St. Ann's avenue and a similar plot on the north side of 135th street, 125 feet west of St. Ann's avenue.

W. P. Mangam has sold for Mrs. Maryot to a Mr. Louis, the three-story brick house, 25x45x100.11, No. 235 East 123d street.

The Frank L. Fisher Co. has sold for Adam E. Fischer (John G. Prague), the new four-and-one-half-story American basement dwelling, 16.8x58x102.2, No. 68 West 85th street, to D. Smith at about $30,000.

Mattie A. Cockburn has sold to a Mrs. Randall at about $27,000, the three-story stone front dwelling with lot, 20x100.11, No. 50 West 120th street, one of a new row of five houses completed some months ago.

James W. Ketchum has sold for Mrs. Rosina Vollhart at about $40,000, the five-story marble front flat, about 34.11x90x100.11, Nos. 9 and 11 East 115th street, which the seller acquired, subject to a mortgage for $32,500, in a trade a short time ago.

The announcement, made last week, that George Heesemann and Mrs. W. C. Turner had bought of Ottinger Bros. for improvement, the plot 100.11x100, on the northeast corner of Morningside avenue and 120th street, proves to have been incorrect. The information upon which the statement was based had unfortunately reached us at too late an hour to permit of verification. Our informant, however, was honest in his conviction, but mistaken as to the property purchased. A similar plot thereabout has been secured by the parties mentioned, but as neither could be found in the last few days, we are unable to give its location.

Jere. C. Lyons' purchase of the block front on the east side of Lexington avenue, between 79th and 80th streets, reported in this column some weeks ago, we learn is off, owing, it is said, to some defect that the buyer's attorney claims exists in the title. William D. Nichols is the owner of the property.

The following interesting item was published in the "Mail and Express" yesterday: "Consents for the construction of the new Church of the Divine Paternity at 76th street and Central Park West have now been obtained from thirty-seven of the forty property owners whose permission is required under the old agreement restricting one of the lots needed to private dwelling purposes. Two of these are believed to be amenable to reason and a small inducement, and it is probable that the church will be built with or without the consent of the third, leaving him to seek damages at law, against which one of the property owners has undertaken to guarantee the church trustees."

NORTH SIDE.

W. J. Murray has, through a trade with Ferdinand Forsch, referred to above, disposed of two plots of four lots each, one on the Southern Boulevard, 100 feet west of St. Ann's avenue, and the other on the north side of 135th street, 125 feet west of St. Ann's avenue.

John R. Ross has sold for Harry M. Perkins three lots on the east side of Cambreling avenue, 150 feet south of Pelham avenue, to Sarah A. Lisk for immediate improvement.

LEASES.

J. Arthur Fischer has negotiated a second lease of the hotel, closed for some months past, on the northwest corner of 6th avenue and 44th street. The lease of the same property reported not long since fell through owing to the inability of the tenant to complete proposed financial arrangements that would have insured his obtaining a liquor license and making necessary improvements. No hitch will occur in the present instance. Reuben Smith is the lessee and the term is ten years from Sept. 15, at an annual rental of about $4,500. The building will again be occupied as a hotel.

The fact that Ludwig Baumann had secured a lease of the plot 92x245 with buildings, on the southeast corner of 6th avenue, and 17th street from the trustees of the estate of William Astor (John J. Astor, beneficiary), was made public a few days ago, and although the news was somewhat belated it is interesting in view of the transformation that is taking place in that section of the retail district. The lessee has long been the occupant of the store on the lower half of the avenue plot and sub-tenant of the upper half of the corner building. When renewing the lease for 21 years with renewals, of his present store, he also secured the corner from May 1, 1900, the date of the expiration of the existing lease and also the adjoining Astor property on the street, a plot 145x92, with seven four-story dwellings. The leases of the two houses nearest the corner having expired, Mr. Baumann obtained possession of them on May 1, and they are now being altered and extended as an L addition to the avenue store. The other dwellings are likely to be similarly occupied as soon as control is gained by their new tenant. The latter, it is not believed, will secure possession of the entire property before 1900, and it is his present intention to then erect on the plot a modern store that will compare favorably with recent improvements in the vicinity and others that are in contemplation. Nothing positive is known respecting the aggregate yearly rental agreed upon, unless it is that the figures, based on guesses, given by the daily papers are exagerated and therefore useless for purposes of comparison with the terms on which other nearby property has been secured in the last year or so.

M. & L. Hess have leased for Henry Corn, the store, basement and sub-basement and first loft in the building now being erected on the northwest corner of Waverley place and Greene street, to E. V. Connett & Co., wholesale hat merchants; for Amund Johnsen the store and basement in the building now in course of erection, at No. 736 Broadway, to James M. Cahn & Bro., and to a new millinery firm—La Vake Brett Co.—the store and basement of Nos. 743-5 Broadway, 50x200. The same firm has leased for James W. Aitken the building on the northeast corner of Greene and Houston streets, to A. Flisser, and for Julius Metzler the building No. 509 6th avenue, to S. Goldstein.

Jacob A. King has leased for L. C. Friedline the third, fourth, fifth and sixth lofts of No. 97 Wooster street to S. Citron & Co. for a term of five years.

Real Estate Notes.

It will interest the real estate world to learn that Robert Valentine, trustee of the Shaker community at New Lebanon, N. Y., after a brief experience as a lessee on a wholesale scale, has resigned his interest in New York property. He will in future devote his attention, as formerly, to marketing the medicinal cure-alls that are the specialties of the community. Our readers will remember that Mr. Valentine created somewhat of a sensation in the spring by leasing 11 valuable parcels, at an aggregate annual rental of about $135,000, the advance rent of which amounting to a little more than $12,000, was said to have been paid with checks drawn on the Shaker's bank of deposit at Pittsfield, Mass. It subsequently transpired that William S. Munn and Dillon C. Willoughby, a real estate dealer who had, through previous operations, attracted a great deal of unfavorable criticism, were associated with the lessee in his ventures. In fact, it was even asserted that he was a mere puppet in their hands, contributing his reputation and check-drawing ability to their superior knowledge of how to advantageously invest in realty, the understanding being that the profits to accrue would be divided. With each lease, it is stated, Mr. Valentine signed a declaration of trust, assigning his interest in the profits to the Shakers. The latter have probably yet to realize anything from the investments, and may be considered fortunate if they have been reimbursed any part of the original amount drawn from their account by their trusted and trusting trustee. Less than a month ago, Theodore Schmalholz took judgment by default against Mr. Valentine for $735 for meat furnished the Hotel Minot. Shortly afterwards the Otis Realty Company, of this city, capital stock $10,000, was incorporated, with Daniel C. Otis, Adolph Meyer and Dillon C. Willoughby as directors, and new blood has since been taken in in the person of Theodore C. Gross, who has been chosen secretary and treasurer. This and last week's records show that the new corporation has acquired by assignments or sub-leases possession of all or nearly all of the original Valentine properties. Mr. Munn is not in the new deal, but must be credited with having secured in May an assignment of perhaps the most valuable of the leaseholds, Nos. 599 Broadway, 172 Mercer street, and 15 and 17 Houston street and obtaining a three years' mortgage upon it for $6,000 from Oscar B. Smith, of Morristown, N. J. This property is among those transferred last week to the Otis Realty Company. Had as good judgment been exercised in leasing the other ten parcels, the Valentine-Willoughby-Munn combination might have continued, with Mr. Gross hovering in the background and more than suspected of having an interest in it. That it was not is shown by the leasing of three notoriously unprofitable hotels, and two or three other properties that, even at the seemingly low rentals agreed upon, are of exceedingly doubtful utility. Among them is the Kernochan Building, on the southeast corner of Broadway and 12th street. When Mr. Valentine's representatives took possession of it on May 1, it is said, the tenants of the old building, which years ago had been a fourth-class hotel, were in arrears for rent $8,000 or more. Probably recalling the old saying of its being "cheaper to move than to pay rent," under the new management many of them have since gone elsewhere, leaving the upper part of the building almost empty. The retirement of Mr. Valentine from the real estate field, and possibly in view of the judgment mentioned and other complications, from New York itself for some time to come, is to be regretted in some ways. Whether he be, as some people claim, a philosopher, or, as others say, merely an old gentleman in or near the dotage period of life, he has long been a unique character, whose appearance on Broadway never failed to attract attention, by reason of his being arrayed in natty looking garments of days gone by, and his flowing snow-white locks being crowned by a tile of such peculiar construction that it might, if seen by him, excite the envy of our late illustrious guest, Li Hung Chang. The philosophic trend of his disposition was shown when one of the sensational dailies published a few months ago a pointless article, containing what it believed was a complete exposure of the alleged nefarious operations of himself and his associates. The only comment he made was contained in a telegram sent to the latter from New Lebanon, which read: "Some people think they know more about a man's business than he knows himself." Certain it is that he failed to worry in the least over the "exposure."

The wrangle, partly aired in the Supreme Court last week between the alleged promoters of the project to erect a tall building on the old St. James Hotel site gives color to a rumor that was circulated while the sale, since consumated, was pending. Its substance was that the property could be bought at a very much lower price than the one at which, after many delays, it changed hands. The lower figure, of course, would have had for its basis a cash consideration. That an extravagant price was nominally realized by the Spofford estate for the hotel site was made evident by the extraordinary mortgage accommodations extended to the buyers. The dispute over seemingly impossible commissions claimed to have been earned and pocketed, to the exclusion of his fellow- promoters of the scheme, by John L. Martin, one of the incorporators of the St. James Company, in which the title is now vested, is additional evidence that the top notch was reached when $973,000 was paid for the property. But as only $48,000 in cash was paid in, and the disgruntled promoters have stated in court that their share of the commissions collected amounts to a much larger sum, it becomes apparent that practically all the risk of the venture proving unprofitable has been assumed by the previous owners, who accepted in payment second and third mortgages aggregating $1,048,000, a sum larger than the purchase price, subject to a first mortgage for $1,300,000 obtained from the Mutual Life Insurance Company. The deal was certainly a peculiar one, and an innovation suggestive of Western methods that are hardly safe to follow in New York. It reminds one of a phrase quite commonly applied when marked success, usually temporary, is attained by a Wall street piker or a small-fry racetrack gambler: "He started in with a shoestring." The shoestring capitalist and his imitator are, however, out of their proper element when real estate is selected to gamble with. Nevertheless, there have for some time past been indications in downtown real estate and building circles of speculative operations conducted similarly to those of the shoestring manipulator. Some of them have already turned out disastrously for trustful sub-contractors, while others that have been carried to completion, or are under way, have yet to undergo severe strains that are not unlikely to prove ruinous to all concerned. The easy money market, such as we have experienced for two or more years, has unquestionably been the chief reason for their existence. Prevailing monetary conditions can be relied upon, however, to prevent other hap-hazard ventures from springing into life for some time to come. The injury they cause to legitimate real estate and building interests is incalculable.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the Deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that is is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at the foot of this list.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

Editor Record and Guide:

Sir: The lien of Frank Indelli for $454, filed August 28th, against my property on Edgecombe avenue and 140th street is unjust. Said Indelli was a sub-contractor under Salvatore Spalloni and was never employed by me. Mr. Spalloni informs me that Indelli abandoned his work before completing it, and that he, Spalloni, is now completing it by day's work. He also says that Indelli has already been paid more than the value of the work which he has done.

John Connors, owner, 2651 8th av.

Dated New York, September 3, 1896.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for further particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—Latterly there has been quite a speculative demand, sufficient to fully absorb the accumulations in receivers' hands, which amounted to about 40 barges. The legitimate trade demand, however, has continued very moderate, but owing to the lowness of prices now ruling manufacturers in many instances have stopped shipping, and we also hear that some manufacturers have ceased making brick for the season. Despite the fact that the accumulated supplies ni receivers' hands have been taken up and the supplies arriving have shown a falling off, the market has shown no material improvement in tone; prices, however, have been unchanged, the range for Hudson River having been from $3.75 for ordinary to $4.25 for fancy and $4.50 up to $5.00 have been the prices for specials. No changes have been apparent in the market for pale brick. The call for best grades has been moderate and they have ruled steady at $2. The less desirable grades, however, have moved slowly and have been quoted at $1.50@$1.75. Manufacturers of Jersey brick have been shipping only very limited supplies and prices have ranged from $3.50 to $4.00, according to quality.

IRON AND STEEL.—Although no changes have been made in the market for pig iron, the undertone has been decidedly weak and some outside brands have sold at low prices. At the close, however, there is some talk of speculative manipulation, which has given a trifle more tone to the situation. Business has been flat. We quote at $11.50@12.50 per ton for No. 1 X foundry, $11.25@11.75 for No. 2 X do., and $10.75@11.00 for Gray Forge. The market for old material has been quiet and easy. No changes have been made in quoted values, but the prices named by buyers for suplies show a decline from those made a fortnight ago. We quote at $12.50@13.00 for old iron rails; $12@12.25 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $11@11.50 for cast scrap; $12.25@12.50 for old car wheels, and $7@9.50 for borings, stove plate, etc. A slow and featureless market has been reported for manufactured iron and steel. Few orders have been placed and although quoted prices have been unchanged, values have, as a rule, shown a general absence of tone.

LATH.—There has been a steady market. The amount of business transacted has been moderate as buyers have shown a disposition to take all offerings at ruling prices, which have shown no changes from those quoted a week ago. At the close the offerings were somewhat limited and sellers were holding fairly firm at $1.60. The business transacted was at prices ranging rfom $1.50@1.60.

LIME.—The market has shown a moderate amount of tone. Supplies have not been large and have been concentrated in a few hands. There has been only a limited amount of activity to the demand, but as shipments to this market have been small, owing to the low prices ruling and supplies have been well under control, buyers have found it necessary to pay full quoted prices to obtain stock. There has been practically no stock of New York nor St. John lime on the market and prices quoted have been nominal.

LUMBER.—Although the market at present continues in a very tame and uninteresting position, belief in something of a revival of trade in the fall is beginning to be more generally anticipated, based upon the growing confidence of the success of the sound money cause and the improvement in the monetary situation. Advices from financial circles have reported further large engagements of gold in Europe for shipment to New York and it is expected that the import movement will not cease until the loaning rates for money have dropped to a normal basis. Merchants have reported no improvement in collections, but with an easier market for money, it is expected that complaint on this score will gradually disappear; in fact the only thing that is needed for a general revival of trade is positive assurance that the free-silver heresy will be completely crushed at the coming presidential election.

The position of the market for eastern spruce has undergone no radical change. The offerings of random cargoes have been quite limited, as there have been few shipments, the demand for English deals and a moderate inquiry from South America absorbing offerings; therefore, comparatively little lumber has found its way to this market; still demand from yards has been slow and prices have shown no particular steadiness. A limited number of orders have been placed for special cargoes and at steady rates. State and West Virginia spruce have received only a very limited amount of attention, but there has been little stock offerings and the market has ruled steady.

The market for hemlock has shown a fairly good tone. There has been no particular activity to trade; still a moderate number of orders have been placed, sufficient to keep mills busy, and prices have been well maintained. The call for cypress has continued of quite limited proportions, and although there has been no particular pressure to make sales, prices have, as a rule, slightly favored buyers.

Nothing of special interest has transpired in the market for pines. There has continued a general stagnation to business, and although prices show no improvement in tone there appears to be an impression that prices have reached bottom.

The market for hardwoods has been without changes or new features of importance. There has been a moderate call for oak and some interest has been shown in chestnut, but for most styles of woods there has been a very slow market and prices have shown a tendency to droop.

The "Northwestern Lumberman" says:

"The result of the forthcoming presidential election is already so clearly assured that we can confidently look ahead and measure its effect on the lumber trade. With the safer element of the nation in control, with sound money and credit reaffirmed, there can be no doubt but that there will be an instant restoration of confidence in financial, industrial, and trade circles as soon as the count of the votes shall have been completed and declared. The iron industry, which is generally considered the leader in this country, is already preparing for a revival of demand for output after election. This attitude is reflected from Pittsburg, the greatest iron and steel centre in the country. The return flow of gold from Europe is probably in a measure an evidence of restored credit in government finances and in investment securities of all sorts. Financiers, manufacturers and business men are getting ready for the upturn in affairs which will surely come with the elections turning in favor of sound money. Lumbermen should take heart of hope in the prospect, and be prepared for the turn in the tide toward prosperity which apparently is not far off.

"The campaign will not progress far into the autumn months before there will be so much confidence in the outcome of the elections that it will be seen the lowest level in depression of business has been reached, and bedrock in values has been touched. In the lumber line the time is not far off when prices shall have reached their lowest mark. After November 3 it is about certain that there will be a stiffening in values. Then will come a disposition on the part of wholesale and retail dealers to add to their depleted stocks before advances of value shall occur. In fact we may then look for a considerable rush to get in on the right side of the market; for all realize that when the change for the better shall occur there will be no further decline in prices. When the decline ceases, there will naturally result firmness, and as naturally an advance. At the point where the decline ceases there will be renewed buying. So soon as owners of lumber begin to hold for prices, there will be awakened interest on the part of buyers who will inevitably expect advances of value. It is probable that some time before the elections there will be a firming of the market. A fairly positive forecasting of the result on November 3 will contribute to this effect. Another contribution to firmer conditions will result from the shutting down of many mills and the consequent limitation of the season's white pine product. This will ease the pressure to sell on the part of mill operators, and enable them, as soon as the market turns to increasng firmness, to hold their lumber for better prices. Dealers will not be backward about observing this change, and they will know that extreme weakness has gone not to return for a long period, for there will be constantly improving conditions with no burdensome and accumulating surplus to rest as a weight on the buoyant tendency of the market.

"It is said among dealers that not much can be expected in the way of improvement this fall, the season will be so near an end before the presidential election shall have decided results. In a measure this may be true. But after the elections there will be money to be made by buying at the right time. Dealers seeing that there is renewed firmness in the market and prospect for a rise in prices before spring, will be eager to place their contracts before a marked rise shall occur. The result will be a general resort of dealers to the mills for chances. They will buy for next season's delivery, have the lumber marked up and left on dock at water side mills, or in yard at railroad points. There will be general buying in this way, with the result that a new and higher basis of prices will be established. In view of this prospect it looks as if dealers who

DYCKERHOFF
PORTLAND CEMENT

Is superior to any other Portland Cement made. It is very finely ground, always uniform and reliable, and of such extraordinary strength that it will permit the addition of 25 per cent more sand, etc., than any other well-known Portland Cement, and produce the most durable work. It is unalterable in volume and not liable to crack. The foundations of many of the most important buildings recently erected in this city were constructed of the Dyckerhoff Portland Cement, such as the Statue of Liberty, Brooklyn Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Arch, Washington Memorial Arch, Grant Monument, Riverside Park, Equitable Life Insurance, New York Life, New York Times, World, Puck, Judge, Metropolitan Telephone, Metropolitan Opera House, U. S. Army, U. S. intend to continue business through another year would not go far wrong if they soon began to look about among the mills for opportunities to place orders. It is scarcely possble that prices will go lower.

"Take piece stuff in the northwestern markets, for instance. There is no great surplus of it at the mills or in the yards. The percentage of such product turned out this season has been less than in former years. On the cargo market in this city the proportion of piece stuff arriving is small by comparison with the amount of inch lumber offered. Commission men and shippers say that there is really a short supply of piece stuff gaged by the demand in other years. Mill operators are refusing to make further concessions in prices, and dealers are beginning to realize that they will not be able to buy this class of lumber at much, if any, lower figures than have prevailed. It looks as if it would not require much stimulus to start the market for piece stuff on an upward grade. Coarse inch lumber will respond more slowly, but the effect of improving conditions will not long be deferred after confidence shall have been restored by the expected result of the elections in November 3."

METALS.—A weaker market has developed for ingot copper. The amount of business transacted has been somewhat limited as the home trade has been a slow buyer and the export demand has also been light. There have been rumors in circulation, however, that sales have been made for export at below quoted rates. At this writing Lake Superior was quoted at 10¾c., other descriptions were 10¼@10⅝c. Manufactured copper had only a very limited call, but no changes were made in values. We quote: For sheets, 32x 72 ins. and 36x96 ins., 16@25c. as to weight; 30x longer than 96 ins., 16@19c.; do. 36x 72 ins., 16@26c.; 36x96 ins., 16@25c.; 36x120 ins., 16@22c.; 36x longer than 120 ins., 16@18c.; 48x 72 ins., 16@26c.; 48x96 ins., 16@24c.; 48x120 ins., 16@24c.; 48x longer than 120 ins., 16@22c.; 60x72 ins., 16@27c.; 60x96 ins., 16@25c.; 60x120 ins., 16@22c.; 60x longer than 120 ins., 16@24c.; 72x96 ins., 16@24c.; 72x144 ins., 16@26c.; 72x longer than 144 ins., 17@24c.; 108x120 ins., 17@25c.; 108x longer than 128 ins., 19@20c.; wider than 108x144 ins., 20x22c.; wider than 108 and longer than 144 ins., 21@24c. Bolt copper, ⅝-in. diameter and over, 16c. Circles, segments and pattern sheets, 60 ins. diameter and less, 3c. above prices of sheets of same thickness; circles 60 to 90 do. do., 4c. do.; circles 96 do. and over, 5c. do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1@2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. All polished copper 1c. per lb. advance over cold rolled copper, when 20 ins. wide and under, and 2c. advance when more than 20 ins. wide. Copper bottoms, 20@26c. per lb. A slight improvement has occurred in the market for pig lead, due almost exclusively to a speculative demand. The inquiry from the consuming trade, however, has continued light. Prices at this writing were quoted steady at 2.70@2.75c. for domestic. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 5¼c. for pipe, 6¼c. for sheet, 12½c. for tin-lined ppe, and 25c. for block tin pipe. The amount of business transacted in the market for spelter has been small, but at the close sellers were showing some firmness and the price was well held at 3.70c. for domestic. Exclusive of a small hand-to-mouth business in the market for sheet tin trade was flat, and as advices from London have been weaker and recent shipments to this market have been large, prices have weakened slightly. At this writing 13.15c. was asked for September contracts on 'Change and 13.30c. was quoted for five-ton lots f. o. b. The market for tin plates has been extremely slow; business, in fact, has not been far from a standstill, but no changes have been made in quotations. We quote as follows: I. C. charcoal, Melyn grade, $4.62½@4.65; Allaway grade, $3.90@3.95; Allaway grade, I. X., $4.70@4.75; charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $5.80@6.00; M. F. grade, 20x28, $11.60@11.70; Worcester grade, 14x20, $4.10@4.15; Worcester, 20x28, $8.00@8.05; American coke tin, 14x20, $3.30@3.65; American charcoal terne, 14x20, $3.60@3.75, and 20x28, $7.25@ 7.50; I. C. coke, Bessemer steel, heavy, $3.50@ 3.75; Bessemer steel, light, 14x20, $3.30@3.40.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—There have been no changes of a radical nature in the general situation of the market. There has continued an absence of spirit to business, as buyers generally have continued to pursue a conservative policy in their operations, limiting their purchases to immediate needs. Latterly, however, a slightly more hopeful feeling has been shown by some over the future prospects of trade, as the improved monetary situation and the growing confidence in the success of the sound-money causes have had a favorable influence. The Association figures on lead last announced are as follows, subject to change without notice. Pure white lead, dry or in oil, red lead, and litharge in kegs, in lots of 500 lbs. and over, 5¼c.; red lead and litharge in barrels and half barrels, ¼c. per lb. less than the price in kegs; white lead (cases), 1c. per lb. over price in kegs; white lead in 25-lb. tin pails (packed in 100-lb. or 200-lb. cases), 1½c. per lb. over price in kegs; white lead, assorted in 1-lb., 2-lb., 3-lb. and 5-lb. cans (packed in 100 or 200-lb. cases), 1½c. per lb. over price in kegs. Terms: On lots of 500 lbs. and over, 60 days, or 2 per cent discount for cash, if paid within 15 days from date of invoice f. o. b. at New York. Special prices for dry white lead in barrels. Quantities: To make either of above assorted quantities and assortment of packages either or all of the articles may be counted. The above prices and terms supersede all previous prices and terms offered by this company. Much the same general conditions have been noted in the market for linseed oil as have been prevalent for a number of weeks past. The volume of business transacted has been very moderate, as the number of new orders have been limited and the call for deliveries on contracts have been quite moderate. Crushers, however, have shown no particular anxiety to hurry business at present values, and the market has ruled steady. The offerings of Western crushed oil have been limited and prices have been unchanged and steady. American city crushed is quoted at 31c. for 5-barrel lots or over, and 32c. for less than 5-barrel lots; do. boiled was at 33@34c.; Calcutta was at 50c. Western crushed oil was quoted at 30@31c. There has been a slow market for spirits turpentine. The consuming trade has been a very light buyer, and canners and varnishmakers have given practically no attention to the market. Advices from the South have reported fairly active and steady markets, but in the local market supplies have been gradually increasing and the price for machine-made barrels has been lowered to 24½c.; oils and regulars have been unchanged at 24c. We quote at 24@25c. per gallon, according to time and place of delivery, quantity, style of package, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Slightly increased interest has been shown in the market for tar, and a limited amount of business has been transacted at steady prices. Southern advices have reported unchanged, and steady markets. The call for pitch has been very moderate, but prices have been without changes and steady. We quote tar at $1.65@1.85 in pine or Wilmington barrels, $2.40@2.50 in pork barrels, and $3.25 in oil barrels. Pitch, $1.85@1.90.

VOL. LVIII. SEPTEMBER 12, 1896. No. 1,487

WHEN it is remembered that the speculative movement on the Stock Exchange is slight, and that traders are never in one mind on the situation for a day together, the way in which prices hold is a very satisfactory feature. It proves that there is considerable quiet buying for cash, which serves to hold quotations firm. This is not to be wondered at, seeing the extent to which the decline went up to the time of the Madison Square Bryan meeting, and it explains the steady rise that has taken place since that event and the failure of operators on the short side to make any considerable breaks. There is no doubt whatever that the political situation, while it will be watched with anxiety until after the results of the election are known in November, is not the cause of fear and disquietude that it was. It was so long, too, that gold had moved this way under the ordinary operations of trade, that the public could not believe that this movement was natural, and, consequently, the imports of gold have not yet exerted their proper influence upon the market. As people come to see that imports are due under the trade balances, and under a return of confidence, they will tell upon quotations, besides making money easier to obtain for the purposes of business. The money market is still affected by the drain from the interior, but this will not endure much longer, now that harvesting has progressed so far, and this centre should soon be profiting by the return movement. We shall soon, too, see the effects of reviving energy, the heated, and at the same time the idle term having about ended; in fact, the business which was so awfully dull only a week or so ago, is already picking up. The caution and conservatism that has marked all centres is in no wise lessened, so that the business still is of the hand to mouth variety, but more is passing from the one to the other than was the case, and, it would take very little encouragement to considerably increase the volume of this movement without in any way becoming dangerous by reason of its extent. The opinion is pretty general in Wall Street that the Stock Market will see a relapse after the Maine figures are announced next Tuesday, on the theory that that is the last favorable point that can appear between this and the election in November. As good a way to lose money as we know of is to follow general opinions.

FOREIGN affairs discussed in Europe are nearly all Turkey. The late rising at Constantinople is, of course, one of the conundrums that the newspapers love to find answers for, though it seems only to resolve itself into this: That the Porte has raised a spirit of enmity in the minds of its Mahommedan subjects against its Christian subjects which it is unable to quell, and the case is so serious that other assistance will have, either by invitation or otherwise, to intervene. The determination of Great Britain to act independently does not mean that her armies are going into the interior of Turkey, but that atrocities must cease within sight of her ships and wherever else her power can extend without being involved to such an extent that she would be placed at a disadvantage in her endless disputes with governments much more powerful than that of Turkey. The Czar's journey is expected to result in some sort of understanding among the European Great Powers on the subject of Turkey, but it is unlikely that there will be another "concert" with Great Britain taking a part. The opportunity this gave the others to attack her prestige was so promptly and thoroughly taken that she would be foolish not to keep out of such agreements for the future, and, indeed, there is more likely to be real unanimity of action if there is no chance for befooling the one party, who, if compromised in Turkey, is compromised in all the rest of the world to the advantage of each one of the others at some one point or another. Some idea of the wealth of Great Britain can be obtained from the fact that £242,163,000 of personal and real property paid death dues in the year 1894-5, and of its distribution from the fact that 85.49 per cent was paid in England, 9.97 per cent in Scotland and 4.54 per cent in Ireland. These figures also indicate that Ireland is not taxed in disproportion to its share of the Commonwealth, as its friends claim, because of the Imperial revenue of the same year; 86.50 per cent was collected in England, 10.49 per cent in Scotland and 3.01 per cent in Ireland. A discussion has been begun in the Parisian newspapers on the advisability of the Government's securing a monopoly in alcohol. This, it is claimed, would give it a revenue of 1,000,000,000 francs. M. Leroy Beaulieu, who, though full of common sense in economic matters, has often to see his opinions and advice disregarded, describes this scheme as a gigantic and silly hoax. The result of the German bourse law is complaints from many quarters of shrinking trade. The textile trades within the Empire are not as active as they have hitherto been. Austria and Hungary are still wrangling over the State Treaty. Late crops have been damaged by two weeks' continuous rains, but on the whole the harvests are turning out satisfactorily.

Automatic vs Conscious Inflation of Currencies.

THERE is no reason why the world's production of gold and silver should exactly equal the world's increased need of money. If it has done so in a given year or during a given century, the coincidence has been the result of chance. It seems very absurd that we should continue to depend upon Providence for a stable currency, and yet it must be admitted that Providence or chance has done the work of supplying such a currency rather better than conscious political intervention would have been likely to do it. While the thing is unreasonable on the face of it, yet there are reasons for thinking it better than the conscious manipulation of the currency by governments.

Whatever else may be said about the forces which supply us with the precious metals, they have at least the advantage of being automatic. People do not mine gold or silver or refrain from doing so for the set purpose of altering the value of the circulating medium. Being automatic, the operation of these forces is more predictable than that of a political body. And what the commercial world needs is not so much to have values stable, as to be able to foresee what values will be at a given time in the future. If the production of gold and silver were to cease entirely and it were settled that the world would use only these two metals for money from that time forth their resulting appreciation would be at once discounted, and borrowers would get loans at lower interest because of it. What we need is not so much a stable standard of deferred payments as a standard whose variations, if any, can be foreseen. When governments manipulate the standard their action is mischievous more especially for the reason that it is unpredictable, and when taken is never regarded as final. Such interference breaks a business man's heart quicker than almost anything else. He cannot tell what to count on, and consequently loses courage, and active operations languish. It is this paralysis of uncertainty from which we now suffer. But it should be steadily borne in mind that the Silverites were not the first to invoke government interference.

If, as faithful Silverites believe, the demonetization of silver was the result of a tacit conspiracy among the money lenders of the world, it may be doubted if the conspirators served their own purposes well by bringing it about. It can be plausibly argued that a great deal of predictable and discountable inflation brought about by the automatic forces of precious metal production would not have hurt industry, or even the money lending classes as much as the introduction of politics as an active factor in regulating the amount of the world's coin money. They that take the sword shall perish by the sword, and those who use governments to manipulate the purchasing power of money will find that more than one class can play at that game.

The power of the automatic forces to counteract political action was being beautifully illustrated when the last outbreak of free coinage fever began. As a remedial measure for an appreciated currency the present free coinage agitation is about fifteen years behind the times. It is so much belated that it runs directly counter to remedial measures which the automatic forces of industry had already well under way when it took form.

The civilized world, having served notice on miners that it was much more anxious to secure gold than to secure silver, the mining industry was being rapidly adjusted to this condition of demand. In districts where both metals are found the change from silver ming to gold mining has been very noteworthy. The large silver mines are not usually closed, and sometimes no larger gold mines are developed, but the experience and patience of thousands of prospectors is turned from one quest to the other, capital is more readily secured to develop gold "prospects" than silver "prospects," and last but not least, the skill of technicians and the ingenuity of inventors is turned from the mining and handling of one kind of ores to that of another. The "life" of an average mine is not long. A Colorado paper estimates it at five years. While we hear most of the immensely rich and tolerably long-lived mines, yet the annual output is made up largely of the product of the smaller mines, which are sooner worked out. It is the continual discovery of new mines and new ways of working old and abandoned mines or mining districts that mainly keeps up the supply of the precious metals.

One who traveled two or three years ago among the Sierras and Rocky mountains found the prospectors for gold multiplying rapidly. The general depression of industry, co-operated with the special depression in silver to bring about this result. From silent sawmills and abandoned logging camps, from towns where employment was not to be had, from ranches and ranges where work was profitless, as well as from the depressed silver camp men, singly or in little groups, were trooping to the farther mountains. Many of them had been "grub staked" by tradespeople of the towns, many had saving sufficient to get a burro load of provisions and tools, and some relied almost wholly upon the rifle to give them food while they wielded the pick and shovel in search for wealth. Many of them had no extravagant expectations, but were headed for some old placer digging with which they were aquainted, where a man "could make fifty cents a day and expenses, anyhow, and maybe more."

The dribbling streams of gold which their prospectors set flowing have done much to swell the annual output, but the active search of so many men also greatly increased the likelihood of large finds. The man who is now owner of the richest mines in the Cripple Creek district was a carpenter, who returned to his old work of prospecting because he could find nothing else to do. It was only when Leadville's silver mines had to be largely closed down that she had persistence enough to find rich gold ores under her very streets. Old gold prospects that had been but slightingly investigated during the excitement about silver were again sought out and many of them demonstrated to be valuable. From such conditions it came about that during 1895 for the first time in her history Colorado's gold output exceeded her silver output by several millions.

At the close of 1895 it certainly looked as though the "silver craze" had been swept under by the "flood of gold," and as though if inflation came it would be on a gold basis and industry and geology would be responsible for it instead of politics. While the time selected for an earnest agitation for national free coinage seems ill-chosen if its object were to stop the general appreciation of money which was already being automatically checked, it is possibly well selected for the purpose of forcing the values of the two metals back to something like their old ratio. If gold can ever be depreciated now would seem to be a favorable time to force its depreciation. It is pretty good silver strategy, at a time when gold production is enormously increased to throw the half billion and more of gold that we have been using, flop, on the markets of the world. The effect will be less because political action is never regarded as final, and other nations will look forward to a day when we shall reverse our silver policy and again take part in the scramble for gold.

While idealists think they see far off a time when conscious regulation of the currency will be scientifically managed and Providence will, in this matter, be not only supplanted but improved upon, at present the business world yearns with a great yearning to have the automatic forces left to operate with only a minimum of government interference. Providence still seems able to give us something nearer to justice than can be hoped for from the blundering awkwardness of political actions.

REAL estate owners are so supine and indifferent to their own interests that it is surprising that they have any rights left to be robbed of. Every schemer who "goes for them" must feel, when he finds he has gained his point with so little opposition, somewhat like the shaker of the pagoda tree—astonished at his own moderation. The Board of Aldermen recently passed an ordinance, now in the Mayor's hands for approval, which might be operated to the serious detriment of property facing the Elevated stations; and yet, apparently, real estate owners are as unconcerned as though it related to the affairs of another planet. We print the ordinance we refer to in full elsewhere in this paper. A glance at it will suffice to show that if the new regulation goes into force the newsstands at the foot of the "L" stairs will become part of the political spoils at the disposal of the "Honorable Board," and in the disposition of these privileges the wishes and interests of property owners will, of course, play no part. Besides, it will be seen, the use of the stands is not limited to the sale of papers and periodicals. Viewed in any way the thing is dangerous. Newsdealers are fighting the measure vigorously; but they naturally feel that they have no power of attorney to present the objections of other people, which really ought to be allied with their own. They are quite willing that the stands should be licensed and regulated, and have no objection to this particular ordinance if only it be not used "politically." As a safeguard, they want the consent of property-owners made necessary to legalize the granting of a license in addition to the consent of the Aldermen. Mayor Strong is in favor of the additional requirement, and, certainly, real estate owners should take action immediately to support the newsmen and strengthen the Mayor in the position he has taken.

The "L" Stand Ordinance.

An ordinance to regulate the use of the sidewalks of the streets of the City of New York underneath the stairs leading to the stations of the elevated railroads for stands for the sale of newspapers and periodicals.

Any person desiring to erect a stand underneath the stairs of the elevated railroad stations for the sale of newspapers and periodicals shall file an application in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Aldermen, in which the applicant shall state his name and residence; that he is a citizen of the United States; the location desired for such stand.

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen in each and every month it shall be the duty of said clerk to transmit thereto all such applications received and filed, which shall then and there be referred to the Committee on Law, which committee, at the first meeting of the board in the following month, shall report its decision in each case separately.

In case the board shall approve the location of the stand at any place or places mentioned in such report, it shall pass a separate resolution for each location of the stand; that it shall not exceed the height of over seven feet nor be wider than the width of the stairs under which it is placed; that such stands shall be constructed, erected and maintained at the applicant's expense, under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works, upon plans to be approved by the Chief Engineer of the Manhattan Railway Company, so as to permit of a ready removal of so much thereof as may be necessary to enable the said company, its agents or employees, to get convenient access to the under part of said stairways for the inspection, painting or repairing thereof, and shall be painted the same color as the stairs of the elevated road, and no advertisement shall be painted or displayed thereon; that the permission shall continue only for the period of one year; that an annual license fee of $10 shall be charged on the granting of the permit by the Mayor for stands under the steps of the elevated railroad, as above provided.

Every permit granted pursuant of this ordinance shall contain the following reservation:

It is expressly agreed and understood that this permit is given subject to the right of the Manhattan Railway Company, its agents, employees, successors, or assigns, or the owner of said stairway, at any time properly to inspect, paint, repair, renew, reconstruct or remove said stairway or any portion thereof, and without claim on the part of said licensee as against said company, its agents, employees, successors or assigns, or the owner of said stairway, for damages to, or interference with, said booth or stand, or the business therein conducted occasioned by such inspection, painting, repair, renewal, reconstruction or removal.

That Petition to Mayor Strong.

Some of the signers of the complaint and petition to Mayor Strong asking for the removal of Stevenson Constable from the office of Superintendent of the Department of Buildings, have been surprised and not a little displeased to find that the original complaint and petition was not reposing among the other documents belonging to the Mayor's office, but was apparently given to the gentleman whom it accused, and by him handed to a subordinate to canvass the signers, in order to test the accuracy of the signatures. There is no objection to this test being applied, but there are complaints of its being carried out under the direction of the party accused, and also of the manner in which the work was done by the Superintendent's subordinate who was intrusted with the work. The Mayor's attention has been called to the violation of established procedure in such cases, which the possession by Mr. Constable of the original complaint and petition shows, and his answer is being awaited with interest.

A DISCLAIMER.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Sir: In your issue of Sept. 5th I see my name amongst the list of persons who signed a petition presented to Mayor Strong asking for the removal of Mr. Stevenson Constable, Superintendent of Buildings.

I never signed any such petition, nor authorized any one else to do so, nor do I approve of the movement, and have written to the Mayor to that effect.

I would be obliged if you will make this public, as I am greatly annoyed to have my position so entirely misrepresented.

Wm. B. Bigelow.

Real Estate Market.

The week in real estate has been one of exceptional dullness, the sales reported being few and unimportant. Such a market calls for no comment its significance being simply a continuation of that public indifference to real estate investments to which it has, unfortunately, been our duty to advert of late.

The following are the comparative tables for the New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1895 and 1896.

The auction room was no more interesting than the larger field out of doors. Of fourteen parcels announced to be sold, thirteen of them under foreclosure and one by order of an assignee, the sales of six were adjourned and the majority of those sold were bought by parties interested in the several suits under which the sales were held. A little circumstance, of which considerable was made in the daily papers, shows the paucity of material found in the auction room by the paragraphers. At the offering of No. 256 West 55th street, by Geo. R. Read, the representative of a would-be buyer let slip either in shape of a bid or spoken thought what was apparently his limit, $35,000. This sum was named loud enough for the auctioneer to hear it immediately on his offering the lot, and he, very properly, took it for a bid, and called it several times before it was withdrawn and a bona fide bid of $20,000 substituted. The matter was a very small one, but it served to spend ink upon in default of a better.

A dozen lots were disposed of at the continuation sale of Westchester, 24th Ward, lots conducted on the grounds by Philip A. Smyth on Saturday last. Prices were even lower than on the first day. The inclemency of the weather had, of course, a great deal to do with the poverty of the results. Eight of the lots sold were on Washington avenue. One brought $530, one $400, four $370 each, and two $215 each; one on Butler place sold for $455; two on Halsey place for $355, and the highest price of the day, $775, was obtained for a lot on the corner of Butler place and Greene avenue.

H. C. Mapes & Co. sold on Monday last, Labor Day, on the grounds, 79 lots and 2 houses, located at Van Nest Park, realizing about $40,000. One of the houses, that on Grant avenue, brought $2,675, and the other, that on Jackson avenue, $1,800. This would leave an amount to average about $460 on the remaining 77 lots.

E. A. Cruikshank & Co., No. 176 Broadway, make announcement in our advertising pages of $400,000 to loan, which will interest those who desire cash accommodations.

Gossip of the Week.

Assessments for Paving.

In answering a correspondent some weeks ago we stated in effect that when once the owners of abutting property upon a street have been assessed for the paving of that street and have paid the assessment, they are relieved from further liability for assessments for similar improvements. Substantially this is the fact. Our attention is called to Chapter 449 of the Laws of 1889 and we are asked, whether in our opinion this does not modify our conclusion? We reply in the negative, though knowing that, as the chapter referred to has never yet been interpreted by the courts, there is room for a variety of opinions as to its precise meaning. While the subject is by no means new, there is in it sufficient interest and importance to property-owners to make a statement of the facts pertaining to it always timely.

Those whose recollections go back twenty-five or thirty years will remember that it was not uncommon for a street or avenue to be repaved several times and the cost each time assessed upon abutting property. With the power to enforce this rule in the hands of the city authorities a great abuse grew up, especially during the Tweed regime. Streets torn up and so-called improved or patent pavements laid down at the cost of the property-owners, not because they needed repaving, but because the system afforded opportunities for what may be called, literally, highway robbery. The whole thing, repaving, patenting, and so forth, was only too often a job by which the officials enriched themselves. To put an end to this system, there was passed by the Legislature, about 1873, an act putting into statutory form the general doctrine that where a street is once paved and an assessment made and paid for the work no other assessment for subsequent repavement can be laid. This act seems, however, not to have applied to streets on land which was originally under water, and the title to the adjoining property on which dates back to grants by the city, and which grants require the grantees or their successors to make and maintain the streets. To these, as will be seen later, the act of 1889, referred to above, applies.

The grants to land under water date back as far as the end of the seventeenth century, the first in fact is dated about 1670. These grants, except in some few instances, contain covenants requiring that the grantees shall build streets and keep them in repair for all time. This obligation was found sometimes to be an objection to taking title and to remove this cloud the act of 1889, or as it is known, Chapter 449 of the Laws of that year was passed. It is called "an act relating to paving, repaving and repairing certain streets in the City of New York and the levying of assessments to pay the expense thereof, as a substitute for covenants for paving, repaving and repairing said streets." It reads substantially as follows:

SECTION 1. Whenever streets and avenues in the City of New York, described in any grant of land under water from the city containing covenants requiring the grantee, his heirs or assigns to pave, repair or keep in repair or maintain such streets, shall be in need of repairs, pavement or repavement, the Common Council of the City of New York, by ordinance, may require the same to be so paved, repaved or repaired, and the expense thereof to be assessed on the property benefited thereby; said work to be done and said assessment to be levied in accordance with the existing provisions of law relating to the paving of streets of said city; and whenever the owner of a lot so assessed shall have paid any assessment levied for such paving, repaving or repairing such pavement, such payment shall be considered to, and shall, release and discharge such owner from any and every covenant and obligation as to paving, repaving and repairing contained in the water grant under which said premises are held, and shall release such lot from all liability in respect thereto. Said release of one owner shall in no manner effect the liability of other owners holding under the same grant to comply with the terms and conditions thereof in respect to land held by them respectively. When any assessment for such paving shall have been once levied and paid under the provisions of this act, no further assessment shall be imposed for paving or repaving any such street or avenue, unless it shall be petitioned for by a majority of the owners of the property, who shall also be the owners of a majority of the front feet on the line of the proposed improvement. For the purpose of such assessment West street shall be considered a street of seventy feet in width, such being the width of the street required to be made under the water grants under which said street was originally conveyed by the city.

SEC. 2. The owner of any lot affected by any water-grant covenants to pave, repair or maintain any street in front of or adjacent to such lot may notify the Commissioner of Public Works, in writing, in respect of said lot, specifying the ward number and street number thereof that he desires, for himself, his heirs and assigns to be released from the obligation of such covenants and elects and agrees that said lot shall be thereafter liable to be assessed as provided in the first section of this act, and thereupon the owner of said lot, his heirs and assigns shall thenceforth be relieved from any obligation to pave, repair or maintain said street by reason of any water-grant covenants in respect of such streets in front of said lot, and the lot in respect of which such notice was given shall be liable in assessment accordingly. A registry of such notices shall be kept in the Department of Public Works. Such release of one owner shall in no manner affect the liability of other owners holding under the same grant to comply with the terms and conditions thereof in respect of lands and premises held by them respectively.

It goes, almost without saying, that this act is very loosely drawn and as a consequence it is very hard to say what would be the result of litigation upon it. The view taken in the Corporation Counsel's office hitherto has been that the act puts the initiative for getting paving work done in these streets either with the Common Council or with the owners of abutting property and, provided the work is done in either of the two ways specified, when once a street is paved under assessment it stands in the same category as other streets so far as assessments for repaving and repairing are concerned. This seems the common-sense view of the matter particularly to the lay mind, but as anyone can see by a perusal of the act, it allows other views to be taken. Still the condition of affairs regarding these streets is peculiar and prevents work being done upon them. The Department of Works would be delighted if the owners of property affected would petition to have these streets paved, consenting to assessment at the same time, so as to give the Department a free hand in future. The general boundaries of the land in which this question of paving, repaving or repairing is acute are generally: 1st, On the East Side, between the Battery and Fulton street, coming up to Pearl street, then following along the line of the river, taking in Cherry street to Clinton street, then down Water street to Corlears Hook; thence along Lewis street to 13th street, Avenue D to 17th street and an irregular line on and below 1st avenue to 50th street. 2d, On the West Side, from Gansevoort street, all west of 10th avenue, to 23d street, and of 11th avenue, from 23d to 42d street. Many of the streets in these regions are in a terrible condition. The Department feels that it can do nothing, except work necessary to the public safety. It is difficult, because of a variety of reasons, to get the Common Council to pass ordinances to pave streets in these districts, and the property-owners do not come forward to ask to have the work done. The Department holds that the improvement of these streets can only be possible under the peculiar language of the act, on the initiative of the property-owners. The register for property- owners who elect to be assessed in accordance with the act is kept in the office of the chief clerk of the Department of Public Works and now contains about 550 names.

The Fate of Fire Island.

Fire Island, which was purchased in 1892 by the State as a cholera reservation, has been found to be a burdensome and useless piece of property, so far as the preservation of the public health is concerned, and is to be sold. D. Phoenix Ingraham & Co., acting for a syndicate, has offered $50,000 for it. The price paid by the State under the cholera excitement was $210,000, and it has expended a good deal of money for care and betterments. The State Land Board has for these reasons passed a resolution authorizing the sale of the Island at auction, after advertisement, at the office of the Quarantine Commissioners in this city.

Street Opening

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement at its meeting yesterday discussed the long projected viaduct at 153d street, which it will be remembered is opposed by the New York Central R. R. Co., but took no action upon the matter.

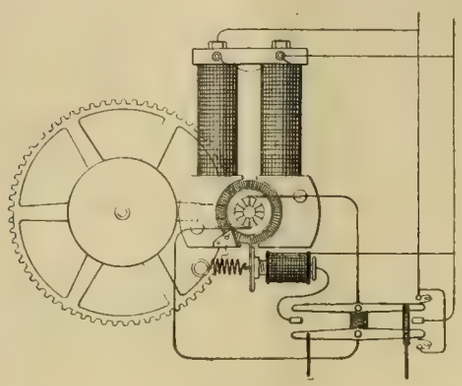
A resolution was passed to open 120th street, from Morningside Park to Riverside Park.

Messrs. C. Gordon and R. W. Gilder appeared before the Board in reference to the vacant area at 76th street and East River, now used as a playground by the East Side Home Settlement. They were opposed to this piece of property being taken by the City.

Corporation-Counsel Scott reported that there could be found no property in the vicinity of Cypress avenue on which to levy the whole of the assessment for the opening of the street unless St. Mary's Park was included, which would mean the levying of $11,000 directly on the city. He wanted to know if the city intended to abandon the work. The matter was laid over.

Important to Taxpayers.

The following notice has been issued by the Finance Department: "The Receiver of Taxes requests that all taxpayers who intend paying their taxes by check, will immediately file with him requisitions for bills. In such cases the bills will be mailed to taxpayers as soon as they can be made out, which will be in time to enable owners to send checks to the Receiver before Oct. 1, and so avail themselves of the entire rebate of 1%, which may be deducted on all payments deposited before Oct. 1. To facilitate the return of bills taxpayers should send addressed and postage prepaid envelopes, in which to enclose their bills when ready to be mailed to them by the Receiver."



The Receiver will open his books for payment of taxes on Oct. 1, 1896.

Statement of Facts No. 10

BY THE A. B. SEE MANUFACTURING COMPANY RELATING TO THE SUIT BROUGHT BY OTIS BROS. & CO.

All there is of the patent on which the Otis Company based their suit, so far as it relates to what is known as direct connected electric elevators, is shown in the accompanying cut. This cut, as can readily be seen, shows a motor attached to a winding drum by a pair of spur gears and simple form of reversing switch.

A patent to have merit should show something new. This patent, issued Aug. 18, 1885, shows nothing new. Even the form of switch shown was well known years before this patent was applied for. A patent to possess merit should also show a device that is useful. The form of switch shown in this patent is utterly worthless for electric elevator purposes, as it would burn out the fuse as fast as it could be supplied. The Otis Company certainly knew this, for when they wanted to run their elevators by electric motors they secured the right to use the Eickemeyer controller, which has an automatic device to prevent the full current from being thrown on the motor suddenly.

A patent suit is justly brought only when two firms are manufacturing the same or similar devices for which one or both hold patents, and where each maintains that he has a right to use the device in question.

The Otis Company were manufacturing under the Eickemeyer and Leonard patents, and we were manufacturing under our own patents; between the devices which we and they were using there is no similarity, and neither of us were using the switch shown in the patent on which the suit was based. Then why the suit?

When Charles R. Otis took charge of the affairs of the Otis Company he found but the mere beginning of a business. Under his guidance it grew to take high rank among business firms. His health failed and the business was sold out. The present Treasurer and Vice-President of the Otis Company came into the company at the time of this sale. After a while Mr. N. P. Otis, who had been useful to his brother Charles in former years, came back into the company, and thus matters stood when they went into the elevator trust or combine. This suit grew out of the combine, and the combine grew out of the infatuation that was rife for a while that led men to think that if a few firms in an industry would only combine they could control that industry, and in that way make vast sums of money, and so it came about that we had the cordage trust, the elevator trust, the umbrella trust and trusts of various kinds. It is easy to see the folly of a few men trying to control the elevator business, for elevators are made from the common stock of materials that are used in the various trades, and only when it is possible to control all the lumber yards, foundries and rolling mills of the country will it be possible to control the elevator business by a trust.

Only when an invention marks the beginning of an industry, like the telephone or phonograph, can a patent be obtained controlling that industry. When industries are old, like wagons, elevators and pumps, patents can be obtained only for special features. All that is special in our elevators is our own invention, and covered by our patents, so the Otis company could bring their suit only on a patent that we did not infringe.

A number of firms in any line of manufacture have an undoubted right to unite and try, by so doing, to get larger returns from the capital invested, but the great error usually made by these trade combines has been in not devoting their time to secure these results by wise business methods, but the larger part of their energies have been spent in trying to compel independent firms to join them or to force them out of business, and the means employed have usually been such as form no part of the methods of upright business men.

There is one way in which the independent firms have failed of their full duty, and that is in not standing up for their rights more vigorously when attacked by these trade combines.

The switch of the patent in this suit is worthless; no elevator firm would or could use it; but when in addition to that fact we learned that the Otis Company did not own the patent we instituted a ten thousand dollar damage suit against them for using a suit brought on a patent they did not own to induce purchasers to buy their elevators instead of ours; and when they counted on telling a story of their suit to a purchaser, in their office or his, where there was no one to contradict, telling it in a way to be most effective in securing an order, we told the facts in the columns of the papers where all could read and know for themselves.

The worm-gear elevator whether driven by hot-air, gas or steam engine or by an electric motor is practically the same, having the same car, guides, cables, winding drum, gearing, base and bearings for supporting drum and gearing. The difference being simply in the power applied to the worm-shaft.

The ordinary use of an electric motor is similar to that of a stationary engine driving machinery in a factory, while the operation of an electric motor attached to an elevator is more like that of locomotive engines which have to be started, stopped and reversed, often under full load. There is this difference, however, that while the engineer stands by the levers that control the locomotive the elevator operator has to control the elevator machinery from a distant point. This is why an electric motor attached to an elevator needs a specially designed controller to prevent the current from being thrown on the motor suddenly, for electric motors like steam engines are to be started by having the power applied gradually.

The controller here shown is our own invention; it is the result of much thought, labor and expense, begun more than seven years ago and was produced by experiments along independent lines.

When the Otis Company told that we had copied their machine and were trying to pass it off as our own they assailed our business integrity, and not only our rights but our duty required us to publish the facts.

The name-plate on the door of the company bringing this suit bears the same legend it has borne for many years, but the man who made that company what it was is there no longer.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:
1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.
2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.
3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.
The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the Deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at the foot of this list.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for further particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before publication do not appear in this column, but in a list of Satisfied Judgments.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—No radical changes have been apparent in the general situation of the market for Hudson River brick. There was something of an accumulation over the holiday early in the week. Subsequently, however, this was gradually worked off as arrivals were limited owing to restricted shipments by manufacturers in consequence of the low prices now ruling. The supply carried over by receivers at the close of the week was placed at about 12 barges. Prices have shown no changes as compared with those ruling a week ago, ranging from $3.75 to $4.25 for ordinary to good, and $4.50@$5.00 for specials. There has been a steady market for pale bricks and a moderate amount of business has been transacted at $2 for a good grade of brick. The poorer grades have not brought over $1.75. The market for Jersey bricks showed no changes. The offerings were somewhat limited; South River brick sold at $3.50, and for special makes up to $4.00 was paid.

LATH.—Nothing of importance has transpired in the market. Arrivals have been limited and consequently only a small amount of business has been transacted. At the close the market appeared to be somewhat bare of stock and as there was some call for supplies the price ruled steady at $1.60.

LIME.—Existing conditions have changed very little in the general situation of the market. There has been no particular snap to the demand; still a moderate amount of business has been transacted and as supplies have been concentrated in a few hands and arrivals have been somewhat limited, business transacted has been at full quoted prices. In the absence of supplies the quotations for St. John and State lime have been more or less nominal.

LUMBER.—Confidence appears to be slowly but surely returning in the lumber market. At present merchants differ in their views as regards the prospect for the fall trade. Many have been inclined to believe that no material improvement is to be anticipated until after the present political disturbances over the monetary question are definitely settled; the majority, however, have been disposed to look for a steady increase in business from now on as the fear of the success of the silver party is daily diminishing, and the monetary situation is consequently in a more healthy condition. As regards prices, although there has been no improvement to note, evidence has appeared to be accumulating that they are now on bed rock and there has been, if anything, slightly more steadiness to the general undertone of the markets. Dealers in the local interior markets have latterly been showing increased interest as they evidently have been somewhat encouraged by the improvement in the general business situation, and as they are apparently satisfied that prices are now at about bottom they have shown a disposition to begin stocking up before navigation closes, which it is anticipated will be rather early in the season.

No special movement has been reported in the market for prices. There has been some buying by Newark, Hartford and other interior distributing points, but the city trade has been quite limited, and at inside prices. There have been some export orders for North Carolina pine in the market, but they have been mainly for odd sizes and as the prices have not been attractive to sellers only a limited amount of lumber has been placed.

The market for hemlock has been steady. Demand has been on a moderate scale and with mills offering supplies somewhat sparingly the business transacted has been at full values.

The market for Eastern spruce has shown no changes. Few random cargoes have been coming this way and they have been somewhat difficult to move, as the yards apparently hold moderate stocks and have not been in the market for supplies. The demand for special cargoes has been very moderate, but for 10 and 12-in. bills full prices have to be paid.

There have been no interesting developments in the market for hardwoods. A moderate amount of business has been transacted in plain and quartered oak at steady prices, but for most styles of woods there has been a slow market and prices have favored buyers. The market for poplar has been flat at $27@$28. There has been considerable stock on the market offering for sale and prices have been easy.

The "Northwestern Lumberman" has the following on the foreign trade in hardwoods:

It is evident that the demand for American hardwoods in Europe is growing, and that hereafter the mill operators who cater to that trade will have an enlarging foreign outlet for their product. But in order to be successful in this business operators will have to study the requirements of the European market, and cut their lumber with reference to its peculiarities. By doing this, satisfaction can be given the foreign buyer, and a permanent demand fostered and increased.

The European market requires lumber to be cut of exact thickness and evenly. It must also be trimmed so as to have the butts square and well looking. Care should also be taken in respect to lengths. Piling space in English and continental yards is an object, and random and uneven lengths are objectionable. Quality should also be attended to, for the foreign buyer is exacting about having lumber just what he bargains for. It is easy to conform to such requisitions when they are well understood. On account of these rigid requirements the majority of mill operators are averse to filling foreign orders, but in these times when it is difficult to make good profits on lumber in the domestic market, it seems as if it will pay to make an extraordinary effort to enlarge the foreign outlet. The mill operator who is not willing to take the requisite pains to put up lumber as the foreign market demands cannot be very eager for success. It will be a good thing for our operators to take a little tuition from the foreign buyer, for most of us have been altogether too careless about sawing and shipping. The foreign trade may introduce a new habit at the mills which will be of benefit to operators.

There is one especially good thing about the foreign trade. The seller gets his money before the lumber leaves American ports. Moreover, the prices obtained generally average better than when lumber is disposed of in the domestic market. It is true that the quality must be good, but the money results are sufficient to offset this requirement.

Oak leads in foreign shipments, but within recent time other woods are being taken hold of by foreign buyers. Time was when black walnut was a favorite shipper, and a good deal still goes foreign, but the supply of first quality is meager. Poplar and ash, gum, etc., have found sale, but oak is the most in demand, and foreign buyers are constantly picking it up. It is known to be plentiful in this country, the main resource being here, in fact. It will be in demand as long as the supply shall last. European consumers especially like the quality of American oak and there is bound to be an increasing call for it on the other side of the ocean. This fact presents a promising outlook for American producers. It is sufficiently so to be a reason why mill operators should take pains to look into the matter and make an effort to cultivate foreign trade, and shape their product to meet that requirement.

VOL. LVIII. SEPTEMBER 19, 1896. No. 1,488

WEEK by week the business outlook improves. The measure of improvement made in any period of seven days is but slight, but that it exists at all is a matter for congratulation considering the condition of deadly funk into which the financial and commercial elements of the country were thrown by the Chicago platform and nominations. There is an excellent basis for a period of prosperity if the political conditions do not prove an obstacle, and at this showing there is very little likelihood of their doing so. We have plenty of grain, cotton, oil and many other things to sell; we have taken back an immense amount of our securities and our foreign trade already shows a large surplus in our favor, so that our friends abroad have little else than gold to make settlements with us. Below we refer to some other causes that will influence the movement of gold to our shores in an important degree. At home production has been restricted to our prudent needs for a long time. Taken together, these should form the groundwork for industrial and commercial prosperity as soon as this absurd silver business has received its quietus, as it undoubtedly will in November. The stock market reflects the better feeling that prevails. Notwithstanding predictions, prices did not go to pieces on the announcement of the result of the Maine election. That event, however, did occasion a good deal of realizing, but that only proves the latent strength of the market because it acted very well under it. We have already pointed out that the decline under the scare of last month brought out a good deal of cash buying and our statement receives confirmation in one of the interviews with savings' bank officials published in another column. This shows that the large withdrawals from such institutions are partly for employment in the stock market. So far as this is the case it is an important factor in maintaining prices, because the securities so purchased are paid for and taken away; their holders do not expect to take a profit the day after purchase, or the month after for that matter. Another point to bear in mind, is that, while prices have advanced substantially from the extreme decline, they would still be considered low in ordinary times.

MONEY is the feature of the European markets. Of course money always is a great feature, but not so predominantly so as now. The phenomenally low rates that prevailed for so long are surely gone until another period of distrust forces immense amounts back to the centres. This changed condition of things causes also a rearrangement of investment and speculative holdings of securities. With low rates for money, there was a profit in carrying Government bonds or shares in any enterprise that paid something more in dividends or interest than the prevailing borrowing rate. Even consols, bought at a premium and bearing only two and three-quarters or two and one-half per cent., could be handled at a profit. Now that this is no longer the case, such operations have to be abandoned and, in the shaking up that will follow, a good many things that have held their own hitherto must come to the ground. They only existed upon the strength of the plentitude and cheapness of money and as borrowing rates advance loans will be more sharply scrutinized, and the inferior collateral rejected. Prices for European securities have seen the top for sometime to come. The change was inevitable, but its immediate cause was the demand for gold from the United States. That this demand is not satisfied is proved by the continuing of low rates of exchange on this side, by the demand for freights in American ports, and more than anything by the action the Directors of the Bank of England have thought it proper to take to protect their own gold reserves, and so throw the American demand upon other markets. They would not have adopted these measures if they had not thought the westward movement of gold likely to continue. There are two things which can bring gold this way in the near future in quantities exceeding any estimates yet made: One of these is the return of money that has been sent to London by capitalists who were fearful of the results of silver agitation, and of the coming election, and the other is extensive purchases of American securities by Europe. Both of these it will be seen depend upon a sound money victory next November, though they need not necessarily wait for that victory to be formally proclaimed. It is very probable that much of the gold imported in the past four weeks is simply the return to where it belongs of money sent to London for safe keeping until the political outlook here became clearer, as funds used to be sent there when the Continental political aspect became cloudy. This idea is supported by the fact that it was so soon after the Madison Square Bryan meeting that the change in the exchange market was felt. How much was so sent or how much has been returned it is impossible to say, but it is certain that a great deal of American money in one shape or another was forwarded to London in the past year merely for the reason previously given and not in the workings of commerce. As to the European buying of American securities, that will come as soon as we on this side have confidence enough to make the market active, and we think from the alteration that has been made in the policy of the Bank that the managers of the Bank of England regard the early coming of such a movement as highly probable.

THOSE who have not closely followed the filing of plans at the Building Department may very well be under the impression that the recent commercial disturbance has very severely checked building operations, and that statistics show a marked decline in new projects compared with those of a year ago. As a matter of fact, the statistics do not give evidence of the decrease in enterprise that might be expected. Indeed, since the 1st of July there has been a fairly steady improvement compared with last year, so that from August 1 to September 12 199 plans were filed involving an estimated expenditure of $3,775,354 against 277 plans and $2,598,925 in 1895. The figures for the period mentioned of the current year, it is true, include one or two unusually large operations, such as, the new Broadway Hotel on Thirty-sixth street, and the Western Electric Company's warehouse at Bethune street. Big enterprises, however, are to be counted as well as the smaller ones, and so whatever falling off there has been has occurred in the smaller class of work. If the rate of increase since July 1 in the cost of buildings planned for, be maintained until the close of December, some part, if not all, of the decrease that arose in the first half of the year may be wiped out.

IN time, let us hope, the public mind will be touched regarding governmental architecture. At present, only here and there, is a protest raised against the poor, and often disgraceful, designs that the Federal authorities are sticking up all over the country. By and by, as we become more civilized and critical, improvement will be made; but the right conditions apparently do not exist yet, and therefor the excellent recommendation presented this week to the National Association of Master Builders' in Buffalo is likely to be only an ineffective, though laudable, expression of opinion. A concerted, energetic, persistent movement on the part of the entire architectural profession and of the Master Builders might be sufficient to arouse a public sentiment strong enough to produce a reformation in the way United States buildings are designed and erected, but the mere recitation of denunciatory resolutions is waste of time. More practical action should follow. Why do we get nothing but words? Government with us has no conscience to be touched. It is useless to appeal to it or reason with it. It must be politically kicked into any change that is not to the immediate advantage of the persons who for the moment constitute the government. Under a regime of commonsense or one in which real national pride played some part, the Supervising Architect's office would have reformed itself long ago. It would have recognized that its methods are bad, and its work outrageous. Of course, the fact is: Change wouldn't pay, and so the work continues of dotting the land with machine-made structures, which at the best express only blunt appreciation of the art they are supposed to illustrate. It sounds puerile to assert that Federal buildings should represent the best architectural talent of the country. They don't. Far from it. The higher talent is employed elsewhere, in designing hotels and mercantile structures to meet requirements which well-nigh preclude artistic results. The Government will have none of it, although the opportunities it has to offer to the talented designer are of an order rarely to be obtained from other sources. We are a practical people, claim some artistic reputation, and we manage so many of our affairs excellently!

THE fall house renting season that should now be at its apex is suffering with the same complaint that is afflicting the sales market—partial paralysis. The stagnated condition of business, local and general, is the origin in both cases. The extensive inquiry and the agreements made during August, that warranted expectations of increased activity in September, have not been realized. Leases are being negotiated to be sure as they are at all periods of the year in New York, but the house agents are not one whit busier to-day than they were in midsummer. Uncertainty regarding the financial future is preclusive of removals that entail a large or moderate outlay of money. Likewise the assumption by newcomers of renting engagements when accommodations at a family hotel can be made to answer their requirements until the business outlook improves. The same argument applies to families that have indulged in a more or less prolonged absence from the city, and whose household goods are in storage warehouses. A prominent agent who has been for years an active factor in renting throughout the fashionable residence district, south of Central Park, said in answer to an inquiry made a few days ago: "I never knew renting to be slower." The district referred to is the one lying between Madison and 6th avenues and extending to 34th street. Within its limits there are now unquestionably more unoccupied houses than ever before. The untenanted condition of many of them is due to their owners having acquired more modern dwellings in the exclusive section east of the Park. The abandoned houses are still rated as choice, however, and, as they are offered on very low terms, the supposition is natural that no difficulty should be experienced in leasing them. But the reverse is the case with the majority, and their number is being gradually added to. The cheaper class of dwellings, usually three stories in height, so numerous on the East Side, attract the same limited demand when vacant that they have for two or three years. The "To Let" signs increase in number steadily and it is a mystery to many people what has become of the former tenants. Brooklyn's lower rents have drawn many of them away, and the modern apartment and flat houses are largely responsible for the removal of a very great number. More especially the improved products of the builders' efforts that have become so plentiful on the West Side. They are so replete with up-to-date conveniences that they are preferred by many families of three to six members to the moderate-priced private houses on the opposite side of town, nearly all of which were built before the era of hardwood finish, sanitary improvements, etc., had arrived. Were the times more prosperous the population east of Park avenue would show a constant increase and the cheaper grade of houses would doubtless attract their full quota of tenants. Another source that would be drawn upon are the small tradesmen and shop-keepers, who now live convenient to their downtown places of business more cheaply, but with fewer conveniences. Prosperity with many of them whose offspring are nearing maturity would lead to their removal to more attractive quarters uptown. The situation that has worried East Side house owners for several years and caused sales to be seldom announced seems unlikely to change pending the arrival of a more gratifying period in all branches of trade. "The renting business on the West Side continues excellent" is a statement recently made by one of the daily papers. And so it does as regards apartments of the better class, and has been excellent all summer. And not alone during the hot months but for a long time previously. House renting west of Central Park is scarcely worth referring to, so few are the dwellings offered. What there has been of it this fall is satisfactory. It could hardly be otherwise. With flats and tenements the case is different, and the term, fall renting, as far as they are affected is as great a misnomer as it would be if used in reference to Harlem property of any grade. The renting season for apartments in such buildings begins as regularly as the years come around, on January 1 and ends on December 31. Their tenants are always shifting quarters, that is, a large number of them, and it must be a superior building that retains them for twelve months. On the West Side the poorer class of flats and tenements are not more favored than those in other parts of the city. The most serious drawback that the agents now meet with in that section is one of their own making, and brings to mind the biblical quotation: "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he reap." Always alive to the advantages derived from new methods of competition some of the agents a few years ago, introduced the plan of offering flats for a month or six weeks free from rent if a lease was arranged beginning subsequently. Their enterprise secured tenants, but also developed in their perfection renting beats, who, not contented with the free accommodations extended in consideration of their payment of one month's rent, generally succeed in hanging up the rent for another month or two and then "silently steal away" regardless of verbal or written leases that invariably prove worthless. This class of undesirable lessee has increased amazingly of late, as any agent of note will admit. Other tenants, more honest, but likewise irresponsible, seem to think nothing of moving when the desire seizes them, leaving in the lurch landlords whose condition of mind has been easy on account of their holding signed leases for a year or more. The evil exists all over town, but the more gentlemanly or ladylike and smooth talking beat will have nothing but the West Side and the superior surroundings existing there. The day may come when some plan will be devised to prevent their imposition on owners and agents.

Money for Real Estate and Buildings.

Our caption should probably be the want of money for real estate and building operations, because it is undoubtedly the fact that accommodations for either one or the other, have since the Chicago Convention, been very hard to obtain. Among builders it is reported that during August parties including moneyed institutions, who had undertaken to make loans backed out, and, as a consequence, work that had been arranged for had to be abandoned. There is also a disinclination to loan money on mortgage except at a low valuation and with a gold clause, as well as rearrangement of old loans at reduced amounts, which is pressing hard upon borrowers. These facts account for much of the depression now existing in the real estate business, and in the building trades, and what is not so accounted for is explained by the disinclination of capitalists to undertake new operations of any kind. The root of all the trouble is, of course, the political situation, but as that improves the prospects should brighten. People are feeling already encouraged by the results of the poll in Maine. The following frank statements of a number of high officers of financial institutions shows the present situation, and the outlook for the near future, and it may be added that private loaners are as conservative as the loaning corporations:

Mr. James McMahon, President, Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank: "So far as our savings' banks are concerned, they have no money at present to put out on real estate, or upon securities of any description, because of the fact that it is a time of year when depositors withdraw quite heavily from such institutions, and this year the withdrawals have been greater than usual, I should say at the same time that our deposits this summer have kept up, so that comparing them with, say those of 1894, they are very nearly or quite equal with those of that year. In 1895, considerable money came to the savings' banks from the trust companies and banks of deposit because of the fact that better interest could be obtained from the savings' bank than from any investments. This money has been largely going out during the summer, for which the savings' banks themselves feel thankful. However, the withdrawals of ordinary deposits are now diminishing, and in all probability within the next ten days deposits will exceed drafts. While it is doubtful that savings' banks generally will resume loaning upon real estate securities, I think, in ordinary times they would do so; but, when money is commanding a very high rate of interest, as it is at present and likely to do so for some time to come, the large monied institutions outside of the savings' banks will certainly not loan upon real estate, and, therefore, it will be difficult to obtain funds for building purposes through the usual channels while this condition of things endures. In our own case, we have not closed our real estate department; up to the present we have not refused loans to our clientage. Savings' banks, as a rule, only call in mortgages for good reasons, not because of the condition of the money market or of high rates prevailing. My opinion of the situation is: The trouble was more acute in August than it will be again; the real danger is substantially over."

Mr. John P. Townsend, President, Bowery Savings' Bank: "In times like these every financial institution owing deposits must have, perhaps, more than the ordinary amount of funds on hand, and, naturally, they are conservative; perhaps a little more conservative than usual. But we have taken no stand against making real estate loans. We are permitted by law to loan only one-half of our own appraised value on property. When one can make a selection of loans and the amount one has to invest is limited one takes the best always; but we have turned away no applications within the last sixty days that we would ordinarily have received and acted upon favorably. I do not think, let me also say, that we have had as many mortgage applications in the past three months as usual; nor do I think we have made as many loans in the past three months as usual. When the Chicago convention was held, or some time before it, because it was known what was coming, people who had contemplated making new ventures abandoned them and determined to wait until they saw the result of the elections, as a consequence they did not need the accommodations they would otherwise have applied for and this accounts for the falling off in the applications. As to the withdrawals from our bank, of course, it is impossible to say exactly what they are made for, but so far as our observation goes they are not to any extent for hoarding. We form this opinion from the size of the drafts, which are mostly small sums—ten or twenty dollars—and from other circumstances. We have among our depositors very many working people, a large number of whom are out of work, some have been on strike, the clothing makers, for instance, who want the money to live on."

Mr. James Quinlan, Treasurer, Greenwich Savings' Bank: "At present the savings' banks are not making many loans. This is due to the fact that so many of our depositors are out of situations and need the money for daily use. There is also another class of comparatively small investors who are improving the opportunity Wall Street presents for making small investments, and this creates a demand upon us." Regarding the future Mr. Quinlan said: "While this state of things lasts we must keep our money for our depositors." Mr. Quinlan gave some interesting instances of how the demand for hoarding was met. One was that a depositor drew $2,500 which was paid to him in silver bills. He asked for gold, and, on it being ascertained that he wanted to hoard it, it was refused. He then wanted to re-deposit the money and the bank refused to accept it. Meantime the error of his ways was carefully pointed out to this depositor and he was finally introduced to another bank which consented to take his $2,500 on deposit. In another instance the depositor withdrew $5,800, receiving silver certificates, as the previous one had done. A request for gold was met by a request to know what the gold was for. The reply was that the money was to be advanced on mortgage, and, as a gold clause had been insisted upon, silver certificates were declined by the party making the mortgage. The bank refused the gold in this case also.

Mr. Edward V. Loew, President and General Manager, German-American Real Estate Title Guarantee Co: "As far as we were concerned we were loaning money quite freely before the Chicago convention. Before that event I had nearly $2,000,000 placed in my hands and began to make loans, but when that anarchistic gathering had done its work our patrons got frightened and these resources were cut off as clean as if with a knife. I have not got anybody to take mortgages now, except a few who insist upon the gold clause. But there is money to be had and cheap, too, four per cent; but the difficulty arises over the valuation. Would-be borrowers will not accept the valuations fixed by the loaners. On this account, and because of the gold clause, I have been unable to place $200,000 which I have had to place for three weeks. There are many applications from people whose mortgages have been called in, and who cannot get the same amount again that they had before. A good many of these could keep up payments of interest and taxes, but cannot get the money to pay off their present obligations. It is on these that the times press the hardest. I am, however, very hopeful that things are going to be very much better. I think there is a better feeling prevailing. Judging from what I have heard from the many different people I have talked with, in some of the interior counties as well as in the City, they do not feel quite as blue as they have done. I anticipate that McKinley will carry this State by a very large majority, and the country, too, not only by the electoral vote but by the popular vote also. The latter is necessary to give the people of other countries confidence, and bring capital back to us."

The Validity of Gold Contracts.

In the course of fourteen years the Supreme Court has passed three times upon this question. It first decided that it was unconstitutional to make anything but coin a legal tender. It then decided that it could make Government promises to pay coin a legal tender in time of war, and last, in 1883, that Congress could make Government promises to pay coin a legal tender at any time. Whether Congress can make legal tender of that which has no value was suggested but not passed on by the Court. The question as to the validity of special contracts seems, therefore, to be within the constitutional power of Congress to settle by retroactive enactment which, under the previous legal-tender decisions, would be binding on the Supreme Court. Thus Congress is its own judge of the emergency and necessity requiring the passage of any law. If it decided, as a Congress imbued with populistic ideas might decide, that an emergency had arisen requiring the free coinage of silver, and that these silver dollars and all previously coined should be received in payment of all debts, dues and contracts, regardless of special clauses, then even the present Supreme Court, if it adhered to precedent decisions, would apparently have to sustain the constitutionality of such an enactment. But if they did not, and what court is there that cannot find plausible reasons for any breach of precedent? then it would be in the power of Congress to increase the number of the Supreme Court and of a President in accord with Congress to appoint new judges, who would render any decision required. * * * It is hardly a matter of doubt how the Supreme Court would decide, if the people are foolish enough to elect a Congress and President in favor of free coinage of silver at 16 to 1.—"The Bankers' Magazine."

Building Law for Greater New York.

The Sub-Committee appointed by the Committee of Digest of the Convention for the Revision of the Building Law, to secure a hearing before the Greater New York Commission on the subject of the building law for the Greater New York, met on Thursday afternoon last at the Building Trades' Club and organized with Mr. Samuel McMillan as chairman, and Mr. Wm. J. Fryer as secretary. A notification of the resignation of Mr. Stevenson Constable from membership on the Sub-Committee was received, and a request for a hearing by the Commission prepared for presentation to it at its meeting Monday next.

The State Tax.

The State tax of 2.69 mills is levied on a total valuation of $4,368,712,903 and will, therefore, amount to $11,751,837. Of this amount $5,451,110 is apportioned on New York county; $1,456,660 on Kings county, making 46.5 per cent of the total tax to be paid by New York, and 12.4 by Brooklyn, and 58.9 per cent by the two together.

Real Estate Market.

A little trading and a limited number of cash sales have contributed to a total of about $500,000, that will have to stand as representing the reported aggregate realty investment of the past week. Business is practically at a standstill, and promises to remain in that position until after the election. Money has eased up a bit but the large loaning institutions, including the savings banks, have not, despite published statements to the contrary, changed their attitude in the least from that taken by them two or three weeks ago. Like everybody else whose interests are largely in real estate, they are awaiting developments.

The following are the comparative tables for the New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1895 and 1896.

Nothing worthy of comment occurred in the auction room this week, the sales as usual of late being restricted to property offered under orders of Court. Foreclosure adjournments to dates beyond next week embraced advertised sales of the following: No. 60 Stanton street, corner of Eldridge street, by D. P. Ingraham & Co., to the 29th inst.; Nos. 636 and 638 East 139th street, by William M. Ryan to October 2 and No. 3097 3d avenue, corner of 158th street, by Richard V. Harnett & Co., until October 15. On Tuesday, D. P. Ingraham & Co., withdrew No. 12 5th avenue, pursuant to an agreement reached by the parties to the action in foreclosure. On the following day the Sheriff's auctioneers sold under a writ of execution the interest held on July 31 by Henry Vogel in one-half part of No. 211 Bowery, to E. Freund for $3,600, the interest of the same judgment debtor in No. 1½ Rivington street, to A. Krauss for $4,000, and postponed until the 30th inst., the sale of a similar right, title and interest in a vacant plot on Samuel street, near Franklin avenue.

Philip A. Smyth will sell at public auction, on Tuesday next, the 22d inst., in the Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, by order of the Supreme Court in partition, a number of valuable parcels consisting of No. 121 Crosby street, running through to Marion street and fronting on widened Elm street, Nos. 284 and 286 Mulberry street; Nos. 220 East 53d street, and No. 215 East 112th street, all of which are more fully described in the auctioneer's announcement, which will be found in our advertising pages. Book maps and all information can be obtained of Messrs. Lardner, Loughran & Smyth, No. 115 Broadway, or of the auctioneer, at No. 111 Broadway.

Eugene L. Clarkson, of No. 60 Broadway, announces that he has a large amount of money to loan, in sums to suit, on bond and mortgage at five per cent.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

J. H. Bryan has sold for a Mr. Kyritz to George Weiss, the three-story house with stable and lot, 25x95, No. 131 Perry street, which was last sold in November, 1888, for $12,700.

Schrag & Richtberg have sold for Mrs. John Eichler, the four-story store and business building, lot 21x65, No. 254 6th avenue, between 16th and 17th streets, to Mrs. Caroline Fink, for $70,000, a price that will warrant a readjustment on a higher scale of nearby real estate values. The late John Eichler purchased the property in December, 1883, for $28,600.

Joseph Levy & Son have sold the three-story brick house, with lot 16.6x98.9, No. 330 West 30th street. It was purchased in 1879 by Isaac S. Deutsch for $10,500.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

John O. Baker has sold the four-and-a-half-story American basement dwelling, 16x60.3x102.2, No. 253 West 85th street, to Leonard S. Howard, for about $26,000. The adjoining and similar house, No. 255, has also been sold, leaving but one out of a row of five, finished a few months ago.

W. Frederic Layton is reported to have sold the three-story brick dwelling, with lot 16x99.11, on the north side of 138th street, 192 feet west of the Boulevard, and to have purchased one of a row of five three-story brick dwellings on the south side of 149th street, 325 feet west of the Boulevard, from Patrick H. Lynch, and the lot, 25x100, on the southeast corner of Convent avenue and 146th street, from James Clancey.

Barnett & Co. have negotiated a trade between Henry and Hartmann Schmidt and Louis H. Hallen, by the terms of which the former will sell at $90,000 the two new five-story brick flats, 33.9x90.9x100.11 each, Nos. 71 and 73 East 119th street, and take in exchange at $60,000, the plot 99.11x70, on the southwest corner of Lenox avenue and 130th street. The latter will be improved without delay by the Messrs. Schmidt, who will erect five-story flats.

L. J. Phillips & Co. have sold for John Cullen to Theodore Goetze, of Astoria, L. I., two lots on the south side of 107th street, 175 feet west of Central Park West.

John J. Kavanagh has sold for Jacob Vogel, his four-story residence, with lot 20x102.2, No. 4 East 80th street, to Otto E. Dryfoos, for about $48,000.

John R. Davidson has sold for Mrs. Anne V. Williams, the three-story dwelling, with lot 16.4x86.10, No. 128 Manhattan avenue, to W. S. Patten, for about $13,000, which is $3,250 less than the consideration expressed in a deed to the seller, given nine years ago.

Julius Lochman has closed a trade with Mrs. Gertrude Stearns by which he agrees to sell at $29,500 his two four-story stone front single flats, with plot 40x100.11, Nos. 242 and 244 East 114th street, and take in exchange, at $30,000, the five-story brick flat, with lot 25x100.11. No. 153 West 102d street. Broker, A. Littery.

L. Froehlich has sold for Miss Flora Vogel, the four-story brick dwelling, 18x55, and extension, x102.2, No. 56 East 83d street, to J. Ertheiler, and for W. E. Whitehead and others the lot, 25x102.2, with frame house, No. 119 East 83d street, to Pizer Bros., probably for improvement.

David Stewart, conjointly with William P. Mangam has sold for Samuel and Henry Vollman a lot, 25x100, on the northwest corner of 11th avenue and 179th street, and for C. Thomsen, the full lot adjoining on the avenue. The former parcel was bought in at a public auction sale on April 29, for $7,200.

T. Scott & Son have sold for A. W. Weismann, the three-story stone front dwelling, 17x55x102.2, No. 157 East 74th street, to M. Goldberg, for about $13.000.

LEASES.

B. M. Strauss & Co. have leased, for Naumberg, Kraus & Co., the store and basement, 50x200, of Nos. 657 and 659 Broadway, to F. Bianci & Co., from February 1st next; for B. Wertheim, the store and basement of Nos. 4 and 6 West 4th street, to Nussbaum & Co., from September 1; and in conjunction with Chas. S. Brown, for Isabella C. May, the lofts, five in number, of the building on the southwest corner of 3d and Mercer streets, to Blumenthal, Bros. & Co., from February 1.

Golding & Whitehouse have leased, furnished, for Arthur M. Dodge, his residence on the southwest corner of Park avenue and 34th street, with stable on 33d street, to Henry R. Drexel, for the season, October 1st to June 1st, at $11,200.

Title Gaurantee and Trust Co.

A quarterly dividend of two per cent has been declared by the Directors of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., payable on October 1st. Books for this dividend will close on the 23d inst., and re-open on 1st proximo.

The Grade of Elm Street.

It has been suggested that the grade in Elm street be raised to meet requirements, if it should be determined to lay out a route for the proposed underground rapid transit railroad along that street. The Board of Street Opening and Improvement discussed the proposition yesterday, and Gen. Collis suggested that a public hearing be given upon it, but no action was taken.

Street Openings.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement, on the 11th inst., passed resolutions for opening streets as follows:

West 120th street, between Morningside and Riverside avenues.

Walton avenue, from East 138th street to East 150th street, this in place of resolution to open this avenue from 138th street to the south side of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. R., passed Nov. 21, 1894.

East 168th street, from Boston road to Prospect avenue.

Valentine avenue, from East 198th street to 204th street, Potter place.

East 173d street, from Weeks street to Grand Boulevard and Concourse .

Arthur avenue, from East 175th street to East 177th street.

Third avenue, at its eastern side, from a point 223.91 feet northerly of East 161st street, to Teasdale place.

East 167th street, from Anderson avenue to Marcher avenue.

Poor's Manual of Railroads.

We have received a copy of the 29th annual number of that well-known publication "Poor's Manual of Railroads," now combining with the original work relating to the history and condition of railroads, "Poor's Directory of Railway officials" and "Poor's Handbook of Investment Securities." So made up the manual is a compendious and indispensable reference for all who have any connection with the railroad, banking and investment businesses as well as to the student of railroad economy. The growth of the book and the labor attendant upon its preparation is shown by the fact that the edition for 1896 contains 253 pages more than that for 1895. Its statistics and text relate to companies having a total capitalization of $16,475,000,000; made up of $12,400,000,000 capital of 2,040 steam railroad companies; $1,375,000,000 capital of 1,208 street railroad companies; $1,500,000,000 capital of industrial corporations, and $1,200,000,000 debts of States, counties, cities, towns, etc. From these statements and the known character and ability of the work, it will be easily seen how useful a book it is. Notwithstanding the changes made in it and its increased size, the price remains the same, $7.50 a volume. The publishers are H. V. and H. W. Poor, and the offices of publication are at No. 44 Broad street.

Personals.

Wm. F. Donovan, late Vice-President and General Manager of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co., has become the president of the Structural and Sanitary Surety Co. The purpose of the latter company is the structural and sanitary inspection and certification of improved real estate for owners, mortgagees and lessors.

That Petition to the Mayor.

Mayor Strong has received a statement from Mr. Constable replying to the allegations contained in the petition asking for his removal, with which the Mayor has expressed himself as satisfied. The incident, however, is not ended and further representations are to be made to Mayor Strong by some of the signers of the petition, and probably also by others who did not sign it.

Questions and Answers.

ARCHITECT—CONTRACTOR.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly give me the following answer: I am a contractor doing a job for the owner; necessary changes have been made to make a complete job; the owner gave orders to architect to have work done that was necessary, but he should report back to him what it costs. The architect gave orders to contractor to do work, but did not report back to owner. Is the contractor entitled to his money?

Answer.—Yes. He is entitled to reasonable compensation.—Law Editor.

PLUMBER'S BILL.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A, the agent of a house, sends B, a plumber, to a house to do a small job. A few days after job is finished owner takes house away from agent and collects his own rent, and says she will pay plumber's bill. A notifies B at once that landlord will pay bill, and that satisfies B, but three months afterwards B presents bill to A, who refuses to pay, claiming that owner is responsible, he having only ordered work as agent, while B claims that A is responsible. Who is right, A or B?

Answer.—B can recover his money from the owner, not from A.—Law Editor.

COSTS OF DISPOSSESSING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following question in your next number: A broker who has charge of property gets a tenant who pays one month's rent, but does not pay the rent for three succeeding months until sued by the broker, the owner paying costs. When the broker charges the owner 5 per cent. commission for collecting rents should he deduct the costs of the suit from the gross rental?

Answer.—The cost of dispossessing the tenant is a charge which the owner is liable to pay, just the same as he is liable to pay for repairs, etc. It is not a charge which falls upon the broker or agent.—Law Editor.

CONTRACT—FRAUD.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

You would greatly oblige us by answering following question: We have furnished material to some uptown buildings, and a payment of $2,000 was due us. We received a check for same, and delivered $2,000 more work, when we were notified from our bank that payment of check was stopped, which is now three weeks ago, and builder has not made it good. Question: Can we have builder arrested for swindle? We would never have delivered second lot of goods had we not received a check for the first, which was stopped after goods were delivered.

Answer.—The facts which you set forth are not sufficient to sustain a charge of swindle. There may be facts which you have not disclosed which would warrant such a charge.—Law Editor.

WHERE TAXES MUST BE PAID.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE,

Will you kindly inform me if I am to pay taxes for property at Williamsbridge (Annexed District, 1895,), at White Plains, or at Tax Commissioner's office, at the City Hall.

Answer.—At the office of the Receiver of Taxes, No. 57 Chambers street. See paragraph "Important to Taxpayers," in our last issue.—Editor "Record and Guide."

Obituary.

Philip Sammet, a successful operator in New York realty, and at one time a partner of Ascher Weinstein, and later of Bernhard Grunhut, died on Sunday last, at Montclair, N. J. Two years ago his health failed, and he has not since that time been in active business.

Trade Notes.

FINISHING BIG CONTRACTS IN BROOKLYN.

That up-to-date and successful firm of building contractors, M. Gibbons & Son, have recently completed and are now putting the finishing touches to the following important structures: Six four-story brick store houses, each 66x200, at 42d street and the river, for the Brush Co., erected at a cost of $175,000; the 9th Precinct Police Station, corner of Throop and Gates avenues, built at a cost, $45,000, and machine shop and car building shop, 350x125 and 60 feet high, cost $70,000, erected at 52d street and 2d avenue. The firm have just commenced work on the new engine house at Wallabout Market. It will cost $25,300. Owners who contemplate building will do well to communicate with Messrs. Gibbons & Son, at Nos. 318 and 320 Columbia street, Brooklyn. Telephone call 83 Hamilton.

WINDOW SHADES.

The attention of owners, agents and builders is called to the card of Messrs. H. C. Kroh & Co., which appears on another page. This long established and reputable firm have exceptional facilities for filling orders for window shades, being manufacturers of shade cloth and large importers of John King & Son's Scotch Hollands. They have the contract for supplying window shades for the large and handsome new hotel "La Rochelle," corner of Columbus avenue and 74th street, and are prepared to do first-class work at moderate prices. On request they will take measurements and furnish estimates of cost.

After a long and careful consideration of the various systems of elevator service now in operation, the architects of the new fifteen-story office building for the Queens Fire Insurance Company, on the northwest corner of Cedar and William streets, have reached the same conclusion that was recently arrived at in the case of the Metropolitan Telephone Company's structure in Dey street, viz., that the Sprague Electric Elevator Company's elevators are superior to any other in the market.

NEW FLATS ON THE LOWER EAST SIDE.

A. Silverson, carpenter, builder, and general contractor, of No. 235 Henry street, recently completed a new five-story and basement flat at No. 48 Pike street, which is of attractive design and carefully constructed. The ten apartments above the stores, each contain six rooms and bath, sensibly arranged, and the fact that all have been rented is evidence of their superiority. Mr. Silverson has also completed a four-story and basement flat at No. 197 Stanton street, which was planned by Architect William Graul.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.

The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the Deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at the foot of this list.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—While there has been no positive change in the general situation of the market for Hudson River brick the undertone has been, if anything, a shade weaker. The amount of business transacted has been decidedly limited, as shown by the fact that despite the shipments by manufacturers have continued light and the arrivals necessarily small, supplies in receivers' hands have been slowly but gradually increasing and the daily number of barges now being carried over amount to 15 or 16 barges. The range of prices has been the same as that noted last week. The ordinary grades have sold at $3.75, while the better grades have sold up to $4.25 and specials have sold at $4.50@$5. The market for pale bricks has shown no changes. They have had a moderate call and have brought steady prices, generally selling at $2.00; the undesirable grades, however, have sold at $1.75. Not much attention has been given to the market for Jersey bricks. The supply coming forward has been very moderate and prices have ranged from $3.50 to $4, according to quality.

CEMENT.—No changes have been made in the quotations for Rosendale cement, but there has continued an absence of tone to the market, and while a buyer of a small lot had to pay full market rates we understand that an order for a round lot could possibly be filled at a shade below quotations. A steady market has been reported for Portland cement; the demand for domestic manufacture has been fairly brisk and there has also been a moderate call for foreign.

IRON AND STEEL.—The feature of the market for pig iron has been sales recently, amounting to about 100,000 tons by a large Southern company. Included in the transactions were 3,000 tons for England and 2,000 tons for Canada. Naturally these transactions have had a favorable influence upon the general situation. At the close, however, there was very little activity to business, but prices were quoted changed and steady: We quote at $11.75@1 per ton for No. 1 X foundry, $11.25@12, for No. 2 X do., and $11@11.25 for Gray forge. The call for old material has been very limited, but no changes of importance have been made in quoted values. We quote at $12.50@15.50 for old iron rails; $11.50@12 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $11@11.50 for cast scrap; $12.25@12.50 for old car wheels, and $7@9.50 for borings, stove plate, etc. Nothing of importance has transpired in the market for manufactured iron and steel. There have been few new orders placed, but the general tone of the market, however, has held steady. New steel rails have been quiet and unchanged, and quoted at $28 at mill.

WHY do you depreciate the selling value of your building by the improper way in which your hard and natural wood is finished? The use of the WHEELER PATENT WOOD FILLER and two coats of varnish gives you a permanent, smooth finish, developing all the life and beauty of the wood.

BEWARE OF SO-CALLED JUST AS GOOD ARTICLES.

LATH.—The market has shown a fair amount of tone. There has been only a very moderate stock on hand and supplies on the way are small; no advance has occurred in values, however, the sales made having been at $1.60 as the demand has been supplied to some extent by offerings of pine lath. At the close, however, sellers were taking $1.65, but no business had been transacted above $1.60.

LIME.—The market has been more or less nominal. There has been no stock of Rockland in first hands and only a limited supply is reported to be on the way. There has been some call for supplies, and it is expected that sellers will obtain better prices for the next arrivals, in the absence of supplies nominal quotations were repeated—60c. for common Eastern and 70c. for finishing do. A steady market has been reported for St. John lime and a cargo of 2,600 bbls. was sold at 55c. There has been no state lime on the market and quotations have been nominal.

LUMBER.—As the political situation brightens the improved feeling in the general situation of the market becomes more pronounced. The decided victory of the sound money party in the Maine state election held early in the week, has had a very appreciable influence in strengthening merchants' confidence in the complete defeat of the free silver party at the coming presidential election. There has been, however, no material improvement in business; still there has been some activity to the trading as the near-by interior points have continued taking a moderate amount of supplies and we have been informed that a number of the large buyers who are strong financially have latterly shown a disposition to take all offerings at inside prices as an investment, as there appears to be a generally prevalent belief that prices are now at the bottom.

There has been considerable tone to the market for hemlock. There has been a fairly good demand for the New York grades and a large sale was made recently at full prices. The particulars of the transaction, however, were not made public. A slow market has been reported for cypress. Buyers have appeared to have very few orders, and while sellers have shown no disposition to force business prices have been inclined to droop.

A better market has been reported for the market for Eastern spruce. Offerings of random cargoes have continued decidedly limited owing to the free shipments to England and South America, and while the call from the yards for supplies has been light sellers of narrow cargoes have stiffened slightly in their views and have succeeded in obtaining better prices. Special cargoes have had a limited call and have brought full quoted rates. Very little inquiry has been reported for West Virginia and State spruce, but no changes have occurred in market values; offerings have been light.

No noteworthy changes have occurred in the markets for pine. The amount of business transacted has been very moderate, although there has been a disposition shown by large buyers to take up offerings at inside prices, as they have begun to be looked upon in the nature of bargains. Interior dealers have had a limited number of orders in the market for supplies, but they name low figures.

The market for hardwoods has been without changes or new features of an especially interesting nature. There has been little spirit to the demand. Oak has had a limited call for house trim and chestnut has aso received some attention. As a rule, however, there has been a quiet trade demand for other descriptions having been slow and prices have shown an absence of tone.

The "Mississippi Valley Lumberman" says of the white pine log input of 1896-97: "The closing down of the white pine saw mills of the Northwest in August and September, several months before the usual time of ending the sawing season, naturally gives rise to conjectures as to the work in the pineries the coming winter. From all indications and reports gained from various sources, it is safe to say that there will be a large reduction in the log input. This will be true for several reasons. The closing down of the mills so early is leaving a large supply of logs at many of the larger mills, in many instances enough to supply these mills for all of next year's sawing. The improvement in transporting logs to the mills now in use in the Northern pineries, either by railroad or by improved driving streams, does not render it necessary to bank logs two years in advance to secure their arrival at the mills. The time was, and that not long ago, when it was customary for a large per cent. of the logs banked on the upper Mississippi River, for instance, to be hung up over one season and to guard against such emergencies it was necessary to have in the water almost twice the supply necessary to keep the mills going a single season. It is true that even up to the present year there has been a large surplus of logs put in the Mississippi and its tributaries which would nearly all have reached mills during the sawing season if they had been needed, but which were held over in the water one winter. But the Brainerd & Northern Minnesota Railroad, the Cross Lake logging road, and other logging railways have now been built out into the timber districts and afford a safe and certain method of bringing down to the main river, or within easy reach of it, the logs intended to be sawed the following summer. So there does not remain the necessity on the greater number of Northern streams of putting in logs a year and a-half ahead of the time they are expected to be sawed.

The result of this condition of affairs is that lumbermen and loggers are now planning to bank only logs needed for sawing the following season. For the sawing season of 1897, there will not be needed much more than 50 per cent. of the logs usually banked. In other words, the indications now are that the work in the pineries of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Northern Michigan will be reduced about one half the coming winter. On the Mississippi River, there is being left over and will be stored in the main river and its tributaries at the close of the present sawing season, which is now on its last legs, probably six hundred million feet of logs, enough and more to run the mills on the upper river, for which they are intended, all through the season of 1897. Nevertheless there will be some logging done on existing contracts that must be carried out, although the logs may not be needed. On streams, too, where the drives are likely to be hung up, perhaps nearly the full quota of logs will be put in. But the logging railways will curtail their output of logs, and the individual loggers who log for speculation will be inclined to go slow the coming winter, owing to the uncertainty as to the future, and the largo surplus of logs now in the water.

On the St. Croix, a large amount of logs will be left over, and stored for sawing next season. On that stream, however, the mills are running somewhat later than on the Mississippi, especially some of the down river mills that look to the St. Croix for their supply. So the reduction in the log input will probably not be as large on the St. Croix as on the Mississippi.

On the Chippewa River, the log input last winter was reduced about 40 per cent., as compared with previous winters, so the surplus of logs is not so large, owing to the early closing down of many of the mills whose log supply comes from Chippewa waters. On the Chippewa the reduction the coming winter will probably about equal the reduction that was made last winter. On the Wisconsin, also there was a reduction in the log input last winter, and as it is a stream that usually carries over very few logs, except those at the mill booms, there will not be many left on hand after all the mills have shut down. The business outlook at the begining of the logging season will largely guide the operators there as to the amount they will put in. That there will be a large reduction there is no doubt. The log input of the Black River and its tributaries has of late years been so small, that it has not cut much of a figure as compared with other years. As it grows less from year to year, owing to the timber tributaries being cut away, it is likely to be less the coming winter than it was last winter, and owing to the condition of trade, there will be a still further effort made to curtail it.

In the Duluth district there will be hardly a saw mill that will not have more or less logs on hand to carry over next winter. The same is true of the Ashland district. In both of these districts the lumbermen will cut only the timber that they feel is in danger of loss by forest fires or other causes, and the smaller companies will put in comparatively nothing. From this somewhat general review of the situation in the different logging districts, it is evident that at this early date, it may be safely predicted that the log input of the winter of 1896-97 will be greatly curtailed. The general business outlook at the begining of the logging season will, of course, be considered by operators and may cause them to still further decrease their operations. That a large curtailment should be made seems necessary, on account of the large number of logs which will be stored in the water during the winter, and also because of the fact that there is plenty of lumber in pile at mill points, and it will be necessary to continue the policy of curtailing the output of the saw mills next season as well as at present, if the white pine lumber trade is to be put on its feet again."

The "Northwestern Lumberman" says of Northern pine:

"Reports of shutting down of mills are frequent. On Saturday of this week the Mississippi & Rum River boom stopped turning logs to the Minneapolis mills, and in a few days the saws at that busy manufacturing point will cease turning out lumber, thus marking the termination of an unprecedently short season. One after another, throughuot the white pine field, the mills are shutting down, some because piling space is exhausted, others because sawing is done at a loss, the market is so weak and lumber so cheap, and a few because the necessary logs are hung up on account of low water in the streams. Less than the usual effort is being made to keep the mills running, anything like a reasonable excuse being seized on for a shut down. This considerable cessation of production is sure to result in a greatly curtailed output. Added to this is the fact that practically no attempt has yet been made to prepare for putting in logs during the coming winter, which will tend to the restriction of next season's output. With such results in view it seems as if renewed strength must soon be infused in the northern pine market and trade. At least it is a situation sufficiently interesting to attract the careful watch of all dealers who desire to take advantage of any rise in prices that may occur."

METALS.—There has been a steady market for ingot copper. There has been no particular activity to the trading, still it has been reported that there has been buying by exporters at 10¾c. and at a shade under this price. The demand from the home trade has been very limited. At this writing the market was quoted steady at 10¾c. for Lake Superior and 10¾@10⅝c. for other descriptions. Only a very limited number of orders have been received for manufactured copper, but values have held steady. We quote: For sheets, 32x72 ins. and 36 x 96 ins., 16@25c. as to weight; 30x longer than 96 ins., 16@19c.; do. 36 x 72 ins., 16@26c.; 36x96 ins., 16@25c.; 36x120 ins., 72 ins., 16@26c.; 48x96 ins., 16@24c.; 48x120 16@22c.; 36x longer than 120 ins., 16@18c.; 48x

THE rise in prices on the Stock Exchange is becoming so pronounced that we may soon expect the bears of the past six or seven weeks to recognize that it is a bull market and to admit that there is no reason for being scared at the political outlook. The latter is mentioned because the cause of the recent depression has been wholly the agitation on the currency question which has disturbed people's minds to an extent, in many cases, sufficient to paralyze, if not to destroy, reason. To those who have kept their senses there is nothing in the condition of things as they stand to-day, but a natural continuation of the improvement they detected at its inception and have recognized ever since. Nor is there any reason to suppose that this movement has yet run its course, because prices are, even on the advance, by no means abnormally, or in many instances normally, high. Neither is there that volume of business which is always a sure indication that the belated ones have at last caught on, and which warns the cautious of the approaching end. The continued movement of gold this way is also convincing the world that the operation is a natural and proper one, and one that augurs well for the prosperity of business on this side of the Atlantic. It may be pointed out, too, that such a movement so near election day would be highly improbable, if not impossible, were the chances in any way favoring the silver candidate for the Presidency; in such a case the fears of capitalists at home and the return of securities from abroad to be sold at any price would create a demand for exchange that would much more than offset any remittances due us on our foreign trade.

BESIDES a not unnatural, even if unexpected, falling off in volume, the trade of Europe is becoming affected by the condition of affairs in Turkey, admitted on all sides, even in Turkey itself, to be deplorable. The agitation in favor of the Armenians which had hitherto no sympathy outside of Great Britain and the United States, is spreading to Germany and France, and may ultimately be productive of good. The diplomatic situation, if we are rightly advised of it, is one that cannot endure for long. Great Britain, anxious to intervene, and held back by the threats of other powers that intervention means war—if this is the situation, it is simply an intimation to the sanguinary lunatic who rules at Constantinople that he may do what he pleases with his Christian subjects and one of which he is not likely to be regardless. To what depth of horror the Great Powers want the country to sink before they enter on their obvious duty of relief, it is impossible to say, but while we are heaping abuse upon the head of the Sultan it may be as well not to forget those other monarchs who look on and do nothing. The difficulties in the way are great, but the greatest of these, their jealousy of one another, ought to be the one to be soonest gotten over, instead of being the one most likely to delay action. There is no doubt whatever that Great Britain would be very glad to see Austria and Russia, the two powers most directly concerned, take into their own hands the work of disciplining the Sultan, and they would quickly do it but for France and Germany. On the whole the situation is rather more discreditable to the Christian powers than to the one Mahommedan who is responsible for it. Whatever may be the ultimate political outcome, the presence of fleets in Turkish waters and the movements of armies near her land boundaries make the chances of mischief great, especially when there is a fanatical and fearless people to be dealt with, who have been taught violence toward and assassination of their Christian fellow subjects as sacred duties. Under the dangers involved in this mess of bigotry and slaughter on one hand, and national selfishness on the other, it will not be surprising if we see a contraction of commerce in all directions until the incident has been disposed of. The outlook has been quite as bad on other occasions without serious consequences—except to the Armenians. Notwithstanding that, there will be a tendency toward caution that must have its effect upon business.

THE Silverites carefully avoid statistics relating to the production of their favorite metal or the cost of producing it. It is true, they declare, that it costs more to mine than is obtained for it in the market; but to support this assertion they include as cost of production all the money expended, either in prospecting or mining, which fails to produce any return. It can be confidently said that not one of them buys a necktie or a pair of socks on any such basis. The man that can sell either of those useful articles for the smallest sum is the man who has their trade. The sentimental views of the producer of silver are not going to influence the consumer any more than the views of producers in other lines influence the people who buy their goods. The price of silver will be influenced by the demand and the volume in which it can be produced and the price at which it can be produced. Recent improvements in the method of treating silver ores has so lessened the cost of production that it is a matter of surprise that the market quotation remains as high as it does. Mr. Edward Atkinson in a letter to "Bradstreets" shows the source of a third or more of the increasing annual product of silver, now 175,000,000 ounces, to come from three mines only, one in Australia, one in Bolivia and one in this country, and that the Australian mine can produce silver at a cost of 40 cents an ounce, and at ruling market prices for its main and by-products has paid 300 per cent per annum upon its original capital. His letter is intended to show the benevolent intentions of Messrs. Bryan & Co. toward the foreign silver mines in declaring that they will give a value of $1.29 to what costs them forty cents to produce. Had he merely intended to show how cheaply silver could be put upon the market under competition, he need not have gone to Australia for his illustrations, because there are several mines in this country which give out silver in return for an expenditure of much less than forty cents per ounce. A circular from a well-informed Colorado stock-broker was going the rounds recently which recommended the purchase of the shares of one silver mine because its product cost it only twenty-seven cents an ounce, and the friends of another well-known mine tell under their breath of the ability of their favorite to produce it at eighteen cents an ounce. If it were possible for an act of this Government to put silver up to $1.29, even for ever so short a time, it would give an impulse to mining in that metal which would raise the production away beyond anything yet dreamed of, and eventually bring about a corresponding fall in the price. If, while selling at sixty-six cents, the production increases what would it become merely on the prospect of its fetching $1.29. But silver mine-owners, who are a class distinct from Silverites, be it understood, do not seem to be enlarging their practical or speculative operations. Evidently they either do not believe that the results of free coinage of silver will be what the Silverites, through Mr. Bryan, predict, or that he and they will have an opportunity of trying their experiment.

MR. BRYAN is not very happy in his illustrations, whether drawn from hogs or Solomon. His vulgar suggestion of a ring in the nose of the Government, if meant to indicate the necessity of restraints was quite unnecessary, because we have had too many recent examples of the shackles that impede the hands of the Government in trying emergencies. Perhaps what Mr. Bryan meant to say was that no matter how large a ring the people want to put into his nose, he will gladly wear it if they will only make him President. In quoting Solomon's philosophic reflection on the happy state being one in which there was neither poverty nor riches, Mr. Bryan overlooked an obvious reflection upon himself. Solomon saw, as every wise and good man has seen, a condition of things he would like to mend, but was unable to alter. Elsewhere he gives excellent counsel, which, if followed to this day, would have made the world a much happier place than it is. But in reality he was unable to practice what he preached, and, while admiring sufficiency, was compelled by his circumstances to endure the burdens of affluence. For thirty-three centuries mankind has nodded approval of Solomon's wisdom, but has failed to take his advice. Mr. Bryan, whom alive no one has yet declared to be as wise or as influential as Solomon dead for all these centuries, promises to procure for his countrymen the blissful midway condition in four short years, and through an increase of that thing which Solomon despised and a later promulgator of philosophic truth declared to be the root of all evil. Seriously, it is in keeping with the character of the man who secured nomination from a delirious convention through a stolen metaphor, that he should maintain his position by false promises, by appeals to passion and prejudice and by overlooking all the faults of those whose support he seeks. It is natural for men to seek to lay the blame for their failures on any shoulders but their own. Mr. Bryan encourages this evil trait by telling the people whom he addresses that all the evils from which they are suffering are due to the monied men of Wall Street, and saying nothing about the idleness, drunkenness, recklessness and dishonesty that are always to be found among the active agencies for the production of poverty and distress. This is the common course of demagogues of all ages. Only overthrow the existing government and give them the reigns of power and people can be as extravagant, reckless and dishonest as they want to be without suffering any evil consequences therefrom. There is always, too, a panacea. This time it is free silver. With free silver the mortgage which was put upon the farm to meet extravagance of living or to thoughtlessly extend operations can be paid off, or the clothes or tools or household goods which are in pawn to pay for drink can be redeemed, nor need there be any more temperance or prudence than there was before. Mr. Bryan is going the way of all demagogues, showering abuse on one side, sowing envy and the seeds of strife on the other; palliating here, misrepresenting there, giving to one credit for all the virtues and charging the other with all the vices, promising anything and everything to those he thinks he can cajole with only one purpose before him that sensible men can see, the furtherance of his own selfish interests and ambition. This is what all public men come to who find themselves in a false position and lack the moral courage or self-denial necessary to retire from it.

The Modern Mythology.

THE prosy modern mind finds a great deal of difficulty in really understanding the old Pagan facility in creating gods. We know that the established explanation given in histories and mythologies runs to the effect that the people of antiquity possessed the human senses in a poetic degree. Thus endowed it was inevitable that your Greek should see Dryads in every bush, and a god or goddess in pursuit of a livelihood in every phenomenon of nature. With the specified mental apparatus at work there was not the least difficulty in stocking a large-sized pantheon.

But although the explanation which mythologists give of what they term the mythopoeic process stands without question because few have an overnice curiosity concerning the matter, the modern "man in the street," could he be induced to consider the subject for a moment, would regard the business as essentially queer, and as involving a wheel or two in the mental machinery which his apparatus (thank Heaven!) entirely lacks. Is he deficient, however? Is there no modern mythology? Has the common mind, of our generation—the mind that expresses itself in the newspapers, the convention, the political meeting, the store and the workshop—really no faculty for evolving personal forms out of general circumstances? It can be shown it seems to us that myth-making is far from having ceased, and that, really, mankind is as busy as ever it was personifying its impressions and generalizations. In the Middle Ages, the Greek Olympus and its divinities were replaced by demons, fays, gnomes, imps, incubi, succubi, and the like; and in turn this age of ours has substituted for the Brocken and its weird visitors a new assemblage of allegorical or typical figures.

This modern mythology is worth considering, for it is distinctly a popular creation, and consequently, is as much a part of our everyday furniture of life as Greek mythology was in Hellenic affairs, or mediaeval mythology in the Middle Ages. The actions and the thoughts of people are influenced, shaped and directed by it, and it merits attention especially because it has a particularly strong hold upon the crowd. Without a knowledge of this modern mythology some of the popular movements of our day are as far from being thoroughly understood as the persecution of numberless decrepit old women in Puritan times would be, were we to ignore our forefathers' superstition about evil spirits.

We do not propose to enumerate or describe the new pantheon. It is enough merely to indicate a few of the divinities and demons that have been formed, clothed in appropriate costume and set up in it.

First in order come the national personifications, the circle of which is now about complete—figures such as Uncle Sam and John Bull, around which national prejudices of one sort and another play with great vigor. These personifications make a huge impression on the average mind and have become so many centres of concentration or rallying points, like the Roman standards, in hours of passion and turbulence. Indeed, they are a species of tribal totem; and, the parallel runs to this extent that, as is the case with the savages' idols, they lie almost forgotten in times of peace. It is in moments of irritation and antagonism that they are brought out of their neglected corners to be set up before the crowd, with whom they have acquired a substantial measure of reality.

The misleading effect upon the popular mind of this figuration is better shown by the second order of personifications, which can be well illustrated by recent creations. Take, for instance, the Gold-bug. Out West they have lately conceived this queer being and endowed it with distinct characteristics. It is as strange as the Greek centaur, or the mediaeval hobgoblin. No man has ever seen it. But there it is, overrunning the land in the imagination of lots of good people who will tell you exactly where its habitat is, how it lives, and the nature of its activities. By some it is as accurately described as the potato-bug. Other mythical figures of the same type are the Capitalist—the modern Jove—Labor—a later counterpart to Hercules—the Debtor—whom we may well liken to Sisyphus—and so on through a list which is rapidly lengthening.

How foolish it is then to speak of this generation as lacking imagination, or as not believing in myths. Are not these personifications as pure creations of the mind as Eos or Aphrodite? The Greek admired the dawn or felt the stirring of love and he deified and worshipped both. His belief was not in the least shaken because he had never personally met the divinities. He was certain that they could be encountered somewhere; always at a great distance from him, however, at the tops of mountains and in the islands of the further seas. Is the case not the same in the modern instance? The farmer, for example, personifies his feelings, and lo! we have the Gold-bug and the Capitalist and the Millionaire. Nothing really exists at all corresponding to what his imagination has pictured. He has no more met the Gold-bug than the Greek ever met Aphrodite. But he is equally certain of its existence. The farmer has never seen a Gold-bug or Capitalist walking in his field or his village or his country-seat. He has not even met either when he visited the state capital, but the dear man knows that he would surely run across the monsters were he to travel in parts far enough away from home.

No; we have a modern mythology beyond doubt, and a highly imaginative one. The bad part of it is that it is a mythology of hate. Whereas the old Olympus was crowded with lovely forms, and beings of a beneficient and gracious nature, the new mythology is really a demonology, for it offers to us nothing but malevolent creatures which are a slander upon the human race they typify. Jove was unreal, the Capitalist is a lie. One was the creation of the mind at play, religiously if you will; the other is the product of the intellect disordered by anger and estranged by wild hallucinations.

The danger of this sort of personification is obvious. The multitude is enabled thereby to represent to itself in a concrete form and as a unit what at most are only scattered traits. Thus an imaginary object is formed that powerfully stimulates class prejudices and local feelings. It deludes and deceives. The imagination of people is filled with figments which scare and provoke irrational thoughts and actions.

BEFORE another year elapses, arrangements ought to be perfected to enable all property-owners who desire to do so to pay their taxes by mail in time to avail themselves of all of whatever inducement is offered by the city to secure prompt payment. This year owing to defective facilities under an extraordinary mail-demand for tax-bills, the Receiver of Taxes is unable to respond to all of them so far ahead of the opening of the tax books on the 1st proximo, as will enable the taxes to be paid on that day. It is necessary that payment should be made on October 1 in order to get the full rebate. The alternative open to taxpayers who do not receive their tax bills by mail prior to that date is described in another column. What we wish to do here is to call the attention of the city authorities to an evident need for a modest improvement in the system of collecting taxes, and that without finding fault with any department or official. The taxes due from the territory annexed to the city last year are now payable at the office of the Receiver of Taxes for the City of New York for the first time and this has not only considerably increased the number of taxpayers and the number of tax bills that have to be made out, but has also swelled the volume of mail requisitions for tax bills, because it is only natural to suppose that the people who are farthest away from the city hall will be the most anxious to avail themselves of the assistance of the mails in doing business with the municipal authorities. The arrangements for giving this accommodation should be as complete and perfect as possible. If we were a well regulated community, which we are not by any means, citizens would be saved all trouble and their tax bills would be delivered at their houses without requests from them; and, if they wished it, the money collected there also. This, however, would require a corps of reliable collectors whom our beautiful political system could not supply and is therefore at this date not to be thought of; but there is no reason why the payment and acknowledgement of taxes should not be made by mail in most cases, so that people whose time is of value should not be compelled to waste a day in going to and fro between the extensive limits of the city in order to discharge this most important duty. We understand that it would be possible to meet all mail requests for tax bills if the tax books were divided up and their number thereby increased, the trouble now being that only one clerk can work at a particular book at one time. If this is all that stands in the way of conveniencing the taxpayers who desire to use the mails, it ought to be easily removed and we hope the Tax Department will bear it in mind when preparing the tax books next year.

Independence and Interdependence.

CIVILIZATION consists in trading personal and national independence for something better. The lowest savage can do what he likes, but do what he will he has a pretty hard time of it. Gradually he learns to give up some of his "rights" for their equivalent in protection or opportunity. He may not do this voluntarily, but he does it, and it is a good thing for him. He gives up his right to kill a man he don't like in exchange for protection from murderers. He gives up his right to skulk in time of war in return for protection from foreign enemies. He gives up his right to hunt by himself and take all the game in return for the privilege of hunting in company with others and sharing in the product.

So, also in national affairs. The thirteen colonies asserted their independence of Great Britain because they were no longer getting value received for dependence; but eventually the individual colonies consented to yield up part of their independence and delegate large powers to the central government of the United States. They undoubtedly took the wise course in both cases. Great Britain retains her colonies now by making it to the interests of each to remain somewhat dependent upon her. The bargain they tacitly make is not an unworthy one, because honorable position and influence in the world's affairs is part of the pay they receive for allegiance.

In industrial and financial affairs persons and peoples have long been trading isolated freedom for what it is worth in the market of civilization. One of the servitudes to which the modern business man willingly submits himself is the servitude of debt. Credit is wings to the man of ability, the means whereby he who wants to use capital secures it and gives as interest part of the profits to the owners of it. When all goes well with the resulting investments, debtor and creditor think well of each other, and do not feel the burdens or the dangers involved in their mutual dependence. When it comes to a time for dividing losses instead of profits, however, the whole aspect of the situation changes, and debtor and creditor think hardly of each other, and very likely call each other names. They then wish that their interdependence had not been so fully developed.

Mr. Bryan makes the eagle scream out to inquire if this country cannot be independent of Great Britain in its financial and debt paying policy. Undoubtedly. Modern men and peoples do not, as a rule, borrow because they have to, but because they think they see an advantage in so doing. Not only can we cease to borrow if we wish, but we are strong enough so that we can cheat our creditors if we prefer to do se. Our "independence" can even go this far. But there is one thing that we are not strong enough to do, and that is to cheat our creditors and still go on borrowing of them at easy rates. There is no means short of conquering the other nations of the world by which we can secure all the advantages of borrowing with none of its drawbacks. Mr. Bryan does not seem to know this.

Drawbacks there certainly are in borrowing. Compound interest even at a low rate is a surprising thing when we study it mathematically; and that is the way the Populists study it. Before they became Populists, while they were simply farmers, they did not study interest problems at all. They simply borrowed when and where they could. The annual interest charge looked very small when they compared it with what they hoped to make out of the additional land, or additional improvements, or additional stock, bought with the money borrowed. A beautiful thing is credit when looked at from the side of the hopeful borrower.

In the interdependencies of credit the borrower is the man who takes the risk, at least the first risk. He is the one who deals in futures, who agrees to pay annual interest and the principal at a given time regardless of the variations of markets, the coming of floods, or droughts, or high taxes. If the borrower makes a great deal with the borrowed capital, all over the interest is his. If he makes nothing or loses, the principal and interest are still due. The creditor, so far as formal agreement can make him so, is safe from loss, but limited to a small gain. Of late the debtor has been much pinched. Consequently he has taken to totalizing his interest payments and concludes that he has been entrapped and enslaved. He studies the trend of prices and concludes that money has appreciated and that he has been buncoed by the creditor class.

Perhaps money has appreciated,but if so such appreciation has had other effects than that of making debts hard to pay. The creditor classes are now put in the position of defendants, but they have been far from happy of late years. The interest rate has been going down and down remorselessly. Non-producers with limited fortunes have found it harder and harder to live on the incomes derived from their possessions. One desiring securities absolutely safe must be content with a most meagre interest return. In the section of country where Mr. Bryan lives interest on good farm loans has been reduced from twelve per cent. to less than six since the "crime of '73." The appreciation of money has been steadily discounted by lenders, so that the relations of debtor and creditor have been approximately just after all. The debtor has not been "crushed" by any other force than the temporary ill-fortune that may come to any one who takes risks, who gambles in futures. Better judgment in estimating the future and in borrowing and investing the proceeds of borrowing is what he needs for the radical cure of his ills.

Just at present, however, he is tired of the dependence that comes of debt, and he wants to start over and be a free man. Colorado, that has probably used more English capital than any other State of equal wealth, promises to give a majority of 150,000 for Bryan, though the State is commonly Republican. Constantly bidding for foreign capital to develop its mine and irrigation projects, this State yet goes almost unanimously for a policy of financial independence of any other nation on earth. Independence has its advantages, interdependence has its advantages, but the attempt to secure the advantages of both at one and the same time will hardly be successful. A depreciating currency can be politically secured, but it will bring high interest rates and difficulty in securing loans as surely as water runs down hill. We can be independent, but we may have to pay more for the luxury than it is worth—just as the savage does.

The Trolley on Manhattan Island.

The State Board of Railroad Commissioners have recently given a hearing in this city upon the application of the Third Avenue Railroad Company to use the trolley system on their proposed extension, from 162d street to the city limit. This serves to call to mind the tremendous fight that was raised last year against the granting of the franchise by the Board of Aldermen for this line to the Third Avenue Railroad Company instead of permitting the Metropolitan Traction Company to enter this territory as a competing developer in accordance with the wishes of the residents and property-owners directly affected. Probably there was never in the history of municipal government an act of a constituted authority so in violence of public opinion and so opposed to the general as well as the direct interests involved as the passing of this ordinance by the Common Council of the City of New York. There are people who by their life's work and their achievements who cannot bring themselves to regard this ordinance with anything approaching satisfaction. Only the other day Mr. Frank R. Houghton said: "I look upon the final control of this territory by the Third Avenue Company as too great a calamity to be possible."

However, it must also be stated that a year has worked in some of the largest property-owners in this district a change of heart toward the Third Avenue Railroad Company, whose views are probably well expressed by one of them who prefers not to be quoted, but who was frank enough to confess that he had business transactions with the company which inclined him favorably towards them. He said: "After the passing of the ordinance and the sale of the route, people began to reflect and say: What we want is communications. We would rather have the Traction Company, but seeing no prospect of their being able to do anything, we will help the Third Avenue Company along. We believe that they had the intention and means to build at once. I supposed the road would be in operation in the course of the coming winter. They gave out a contract for building the road and power house to John Hopper, who went so far as to build a toolhouse. I have heard that they would not go ahead because of a dispute about the kind of rail to be laid down. Now I understand that the charge is made that they could not go ahead because they had not the consents of the property-owners in the necessary amount. My opinion is that they have got those consents, or honestly believe they have got them." This should be a very good view of the situation for one that favors the position of the Third Avenue Railroad Company.

The coming of the State Railroad Commission into this matter is peculiar, for the reason that the Commission has practically nothing to do with it. When what may be called the Third Avenue ordinance was passed, it was supposed, outside of the Railroad Company and the Board of Aldermen that, whatever extension was made would be operated by cable as was the main line of which it would be an addition. Even the Board of Aldermen which passed this ordinance in the face of the opposition that was presented, would probably not have directly authorized the introduction of the trolley system into Manhattan Island. However, a few words were introduced into the ordinance which opened the way to the use by the company of the electric trolley system, if some interested parties cannot prevent it by an appeal to the courts. These few words allowed the substitution of trolley for horse or cable power, conditioned in the consent of the State Railroad Commission being obtained, though why the Board of Aldermen should delegate its powers to the Commission or why the Commission should accept assignments from the Board of Aldermen, is a mystery which the lay mind will never be able to solve, especially as this is not a question of the substitution of one power for another, but the out and out building of a trolley railroad. However, the Third Avenue Railroad Company made application to the Commission for the approval of the motive power to be used to comply with the terms of the ordinances in the following form:

To the Honorable, the State Board of Railroad Commissioners:

The petition of the Third Avenue Railroad Company respectfully shows:

On October 14, 1895, the Third Avenue Railroad Company purchased a franchise for the construction of a street surface railway along Kingsbridge road and other streets in the City of New York as an extension of its existing lines, and since said time has acquired the requisite consent of property owners, as shown by the enclosed affidavit of William N Amory.

By the terms of the consent of the Common Council, as contained in the published notice of sale at which said franchise was acquired, which we herewith enclose, it is contemplated that the company shall use, as it desires to do, trolley electric power north of 162d street in the city of New York for ten years after said road shall commence to be operated, as shown by the following extract therefrom, viz.:

"The bidder to which the said sale shall be made shall construct and put in operation a street railroad upon said branches or extensions, with all the necessary equipments and fixtures, the motive power to be used thereon to be horse or cable power, or any other power other than steam locomotive power, which other power may be consented to by the State Board of Railroad Commissioners, but no overhead trolley shall be used south of One Hundred and Sixty-second street, nor north of One Hundred and Sixty-second street for a longer period than ten years after it shall have been first employed. The material to be of the best possible character, and the plans of the street construction, turn-tables and turn-out to be subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Public Works of said city."

Enclosed are diagrams and drawings showing the form of electric structure proposed to be used and the route of the Company along which it is proposed to construct and operate the same.

An exact description of the streets, avenues and highways involved in this application, as contained in the consent of the Common Council which was published in said notice of sale hereinbefore referred to as herewith enclosed, is as follows:

From the junction of Kingsbridge road or Broadway and West One Hundred and Sixty-second street, connecting there by suitable curves, switches and appliances with this company's railroad upon Amsterdam avenue, running thence northerly and northeasterly through and along Kingsbridge road or Broadway to and across the proposed new bridge over the Ship Canal; thence northerly through and along Kingsbridge road or Broadway from the proposed new bridge over the Ship Canal to and across the bridge over Spuyten Duyvil Creek at Broadway, thence northerly from the bridge over Spuyten Duyvil Creek at Broadway, through and along Broadway to the City line.

Also from the junction of Kingsbridge road or Broadway and Riverdale avenue, running thence northwesterly and northerly, through, upon and along Riverdale avenue to the City line.

Also from 162d street as projected, along Eleventh avenue or Boulevard to the junction of Kingsbridge road or Broadway, at or near One Hundred and Sixty-ninth street, with all the necessary connections, switches, turn-outs, cross-overs, sidings, turn-tables and suitable stands for the convenient working of said road, and for the accommodation of the company's cars which may run over the same.

The proposed trolley structure will be a single trolley consisting of one line of poles along the centre of the street, at the summit of every other one of which poles the petitioner proposes to erect and maintain at its own expense an electric light and the feeder wires of which system carrying the current of electricity will be wholly buried under ground, being thus a distinct improvement upon the other and less improved systems of trolley structure, involving lines of poles extending on each side of the street and carrying feeder wires, together with sustaining wires.

Wherefore, your petitioner respectfully asks the consent and approval of this Honorable Board to the construction and operation by it of a street surface railroad upon the streets, avenues and highways hereinbefore described by the overhead trolley electric power.

Respectfully submitted,
THIRD AVENUE RAILROAD COMPANY,
By H. Hart, Vice-President.

In due course the State Railroad Commission gave public hearings on this petition in this city, and now has the matter under advisement; and, judging from such impressions as can be gathered, from a contemplation of the facts and a conversation with a member of the Commission, their decision will be favorable to the Third Avenue Railroad Company. Counsel for the Traction Company and other opponents of the petition, raised the point, whether the necessary consents of property-owners had been obtained, but as will have been seen by the foregoing statements, that is a question with which the Commission has nothing to do. On this point the Commissioner previously referred to, Mr. Alfred C. Chapin, said: "We have usually in such cases never gone into questions of substantial law. The only question we have to consider is whether the power proposed to be used is a proper power to be used in that case."

What the whole matter involves seem to be these: Whether in addition to having control of the transit business of an important section of the city, the Third Avenue Company can add the horrors of the electrical trolley system and whether the substantial introduction of that system onto Manhattan Island, under the terms of the ordinance and the application of the Railroad Company to the State Railroad Commission, may not mean its moderately early pervasion to the rest of the Third Avenue Railroad Company's system. There are ambiguities in both documents sufficient to raise the last-mentioned suspicion, and it was ambiguity that Lord Brougham had in mind as the hole in any legislative act through which, as he boasted, he could drive a coach and six.

The Department of Buildings.

A movement has been on foot for sometime among the prominent architects of this city to secure, from the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, for the Department of Buildings, an appropriation more suited to its importance and the work it has to do than the allowances which have from time to time hitherto been made. Mayor Strong has received a petition on the subject, signed by a large number of architects, including nearly all the well-known ones, and will in the course of ten days or a fortnight receive a deputation in order that he may hear their views and reasons for pressing on the board the necessity of an adequate appropriation.

Mr. Hugo V. Koehler, who has been largely instrumental in drafting and securing signatures to the petition, which also takes the opportunity of endorsing Mr. Stevenson Constable's management of the Department, said a day or two ago: "We want to help the Superintendent to build up the Department. I have gone through the Department and have seen what the Superintendent has done. He is the first Superintendent we have ever had who has made any attempt to get that Department onto a business basis, to introduce system, order and method for the dispatch of work quickly and at the same time who has sought to keep the records of the Department clean and properly filed. One of the results of this work, which I mention for illustration, is that an architect can obtain for reference a set of plans filed sometime back which was impossible before. Every man in the Department is required to do his duty, and the Superintendent has matters so arranged that he can control the whole work from his desk. Again, all undue preferment of men who have business to transact with the Department is entirely done away with; the rule of first come first served prevails absolutely. In our petition we request the Mayor to help the Department with more money in order the more effectively to carry out its work. With the amount now at the disposal of the Superintendent it is impossible to carry out further reforms, or even to do the work that he is now doing and this for a good many reasons which we propose to lay before the Mayor. The first is the large increase in the amount of building done in the city, necessitating a proportionate increase in the work thrown upon the Department. Further, the salaries paid to-day to the officers of the Department for the responsibilities they have to assume are entirely inadequate making it necessary for the Superintendent to either underpay a good man, or fail to secure the services of such. The many divisions of the Department are cramped for room, and he has not the means to purchase additional space out of the present appropriation and has been forced to call upon his subordinates to chip in a small amount per month to pay for additional space. These are a few of the points we have to urge, but I think they are amply sufficient to show the propriety and justice of our request."

The petition, and the signatures attached to it, are as follows:

Hon. William L. Strong,
Mayor of the City of New York,

Sir: We, the architects of this city, whose names are appended to this petition, solicit and request that you respect the former petition requiring a larger appropriation for the conduct of the affairs of the Building Department of this city, so that that department may be enabled to still more effectively carry out its work.

We submit as an argument in favor of this request that during the incumbency in office of the present superintendent and the able assistants that he has gathered around him more satisfactory work has been done than ever was done before to properly carry out the great building enterprise of this city.

Under these circumstances we feel it due to the superintendent to thus show our appreciation in this tangible form, and we do so with the hope that our petition will be considered, and a further interview granted us on this request.

Fences Fronting Parks.

Acting under powers conferred by Section 688 of the Consolidation Act, as amended by Chapter 836 of the Laws of 1896, the Park Board has adopted the following rules and regulations relating to fences on vacant or unimproved lands fronting upon or adjacent to public parks, squares and places:

1. No fence in or about any vacant or unimproved land fronting upon or adjacent to any public park, square or place in the City of New York, shall be erected until a plan, showing the height, character and method of construction of the proposed fences, has been submitted to the Commissioners of Public Parks, approved by them, and a permit, in writing, issued therefor.

2. No poster or advertising device shall be placed upon any fence or other structure intended for advertisement or the exhibition of advertisements in, about or upon any vacant or unimproved land fronting upon or adjacent to any public park, square or place in the City of New York, until a description or drawing of the same shall be filed with the Commissioners of Public Parks, approved by them, and a permit, in writing, issued therefor.

3. Owners of existing fences, or other structures intended or used for advertisements, or the exhibition of advertisements, now existing in, about or upon any vacant or unimproved lands fronting upon or adjacent to any public park, square or place in the City of New York are hereby required, on or before the first day of September, 1896, to file with the Commissioners of Public Parks, a plan showing the height, character and method of construction of fences or other structures intended or used for advertisements, and a description or drawing of any poster or advertising device thereon. The Commissioners, if they approve the said fences, structures, posters or advertising devices, may issue a permit, in writing, for the continuance thereof, or may direct such change or modification therein as they may determine, and issue a written permit therefor. On and after said first day of September, 1896, no existing fence, structure intended or used for advertising purposes, device or advertisement shall be continued unless with the approval of the Commissioners of Public Parks, obtained as hereinbefore required and evidenced by their written permit.

4. Any person violating any of the foregoing rules and regulations shall be subject to a penalty of two hundred and fifty (250) dollars.

Real Estate Sound Money Club.

The first meeting since May of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange was held on Tuesday, in answer to a call for a special meeting to consider the formation of a Sound Money Club. The authorization of the organization of such a body had been frequently requested of the Board during several weeks by many of the members of the Exchange. The notification of the desired meeting stated that other matters would be considered, and they were. The following directors were present: Douglas Robinson, George De F. Barton, H. H. Cammann, S. F. Jayne, A. W. Cruikshank, A. E. Marling, Frederick Zittel, J. Edgar Leaycraft, Frank Yoran and Augustus H. Carpenter. The following preamble and resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the financial plank of the Chicago convention which proposes the free coinage of silver on a basis of 16 to 1 is an attack upon the honor and integrity of the United States and involves a virtual repudiation of about one-half of the honest debts of the country, both public and private, to the detriment of all business interests, to the great injury of the vast army of wage earners, of all depositors in savings banks, the members of all building and loan associations, and the holders of all life insurance policies, and which would most injuriously affect the interests of all owners and dealers in real estate throughout the United States, and,

"Whereas, we believe that the business interests of this country require that the money standard should be the same as that of the other great commercial nations of the world, and that the faith of the nation which is pledged to the maintenance of such standard should not be repudiated nor destroyed; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room, Limited, calls upon all its members and upon the real estate community throughout the city, irrespective of political affiliation, to use their utmost influence to insure the election of McKinley and Hobart, the representatives of honest money and the upholders of law and order throughout this broad land.

The following resolution offered by Mr. Cammann was also adopted: "Resolved, that this Board is opposed to the granting of any permission to erect stands under the stairways of the present elevated railroad stations and that if such permission be granted it should only be with the consent of the property-owner in front of whose property such stand is to be erected, and that in no event should such permission be granted for a longer period than one year.

"Resolved, that a copy of the above resolution, properly authenticated, be transmitted to his Honor the Mayor." The copy was forwarded to Mayor Strong on the same day.

Before adjourning the Board elected to stock membership of the Exchange, Timothy F. Neville and Edmund H. Martine.

Immediately after the adjournment The Real Estate Sound Money Club was organized. Douglas Robinson was elected president, and George De Forest Barton, secretary.

Important to Taxpayers.

The Tax Department has found it necessary to modify its announcement in regard to mail requisitions for tax-bills. This notice brought in requests at such a rate that the Department found that it would not be able to deal with all of them in time to enable the makers to obtain the full benefit of the rebate privilege. Taxpayers should pay heed to the circumstances as they now exist. They are: That the receipt of taxes will be begun on October 1st, and all paid on that date will entitle the payers to a rebate at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum on the money so paid from October 1st to December 1st, or a period of sixty days. Taxes paid on the 2d of October will be entitled to fifty-nine days' interest at the same rate and those paid on the 3d to fifty-eight days' interest, so on until November 1st, when the rebate privilege ceases. The Department will continue to mail tax-bills on request in the order that they are received when the request is accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, but for the reason previously given such requests now received, probably, will not receive attention until October 5th or 6th. However, taxpayers who have made requisitions and have received no response, can avail themselves of the rebate privilege to the full, by going on the line on October 1st and personally applying for their bills which can be paid then and there. It is needless to say that taxpayers who have not made requisition by mail can also apply for their bills and pay them on October 1st. Payment can be made by check, accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope, but receipts and rebate checks will not be returned until after December 1st.

Correspondence.

IS THIS NEW YORK—A PICTURE FOR CONSOLIDATIONISTS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Our association (Property Owners' Union of the City of New York) for the past year has been endeavoring to have improved that part of our city lying between 90th and 110th streets, from 3d to 5th avenue inclusive, and thus far have met with but little encouragement from the authorities. The majority of the owners of the properties affected are with us in this movement.

We have asked, among other things, to have the sidewalk on the east side of 5th avenue, from 90th to 110th street, paved full width, and a resolution last winter was passed by the Board of Aldermen. For the past six months we have had the promise of the Commissioner of Public Works that the contract for said work would be given out, and we are still waiting.

Park avenue, from 97th to 102d street, has never been paved, new buildings have been erected and still the shanties encroach upon the sidewalk, which is in very bad condition. The roadway on the east side of avenue, between 101st and 102d streets, is impassable for light vehicles, and between 97th and 101st streets, in wet weather, a mud bed. Sidewalks and roadways on 98th, 99th, 100th, 101st and 102d streets, between Park and 5th avenues, are for the most part neglected and only paved in few places. The sidewalks surrounding the Elevated Railroad Company's shops, from 98th to 99th street, 3d to Park avenue, are only flagged 4 feet wide, and are in a dirty condition; foul smelling. The same condition of affairs exists around the Cable Car Company's building, 99th to 100th street, Lexington to Park avenue. The sidewalk on west side of Madison avenue, between 95th and 96th streets, is flagged only 4 feet wide, and in front of three lots, on south side of 94th street, between Madison and 5th avenues, there is no sidewalk whatever for the last year. On the southwest corner of 93d street, on Madison avenue, extending half the block, no sidewalk exists—a narrow walk of boards is used, and has been so for over two years. At 95th street, between Madison and 5th avenues, the sidewalk is in bad condition and there is no pavement in the street, although the Board of Aldermen passed a resolution last winter in reference to it. The sidewalk on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and 92d street is in a bad condition and should be repaved. This is a residential neighborhood. Complaints have been made for over a year to the Commissioner. We could go on with complaints, for there is hardly a street or avenue in this district that is not in a bad condition. The Aldermen of the district has been appealed to and says that he has had ordinances passed to meet all these requirements, but when the resolutions reach the office of Commissioner of Public Works that seems to be the end of them. During the past year many men have been out of work. Why then could not our Commissioner of Public Works have seen that the improvements asked for were pushed. The city does not pay for improvements, the property-owners do. This section of the city is being rapidly built up notwithstanding its condition. Among the builders are Theo. A. Cordler, Schreiner & Fennell, Francis J. Schnugg, Quackenbush Bros., Charles Graham and many others. Theodore A. Cordler is building up the west side of Lexington avenue, from 97th to 98th street, yet the avenue is not paved nor sewered, nor has it water or gas. Or 98th street, between Lexington and Park avenues, Quackenbush

Bros. are building, yet the street has 4 feet of sidewalk only; no gas or pavements, and the surrounding streets and avenues are all mud. Much encouragement to owners to improve!

WILLIAM H. BELLINGER.

The Law of Charitable Uses and Trusts.

At the annual meeting of the American Bar Association at Saratoga last month, after Chief Justice Russell, of England, had made his eloquent and learned plea for International Arbitration, he was followed by a famous English lawyer with a paper on "The Uses of Legal History," in which he reviewed the developments of English law, pointing out the value of a knowledge of this development, and urged that the younger men should pursue the study of legal history side by side with their strict professional work. At the very time when Mr. Cracken-Thorpe read his able essay, a learned American lawyer, the author of a "History of Real Property," had just issued from the press, through the Diossy Law Book Company, 231 Broadway, N. Y., another valuable bit of legal history, the "Law of Charitable Uses, Trusts and Donations in New York." The author, Mr. Robert Ludlow Fowler, of the New York bar, is certainly placing under obligations every real estate owner and dealer, as well as every lawyer, by his learned and able treatise on this abstruse subject. The former law of New York relating to charities was greatly modified by Chapter 701 of the Laws of 1893, and this act is fully discussed by Mr. Fowler. There is no other treatise dealing with precisely the same topics, and any one interested in them generally, or who may desire particularly to know how he may safely make a will of his property for some public charity, will do well to purchase and read this book.

An International Granite Trust.

The London "Architect" gives the following details of the agreement entered into between the Boston Wholesale Granite Dealers' Association and the Aberdeen Granite Dealers' Association of Scotland: "1. No member of the first party shall buy from or deal with any manufacturer of granite in the shires of Aberdeen and Kincardine, in Scotland, who is not a member of the second party. 2. No member of the second party shall sell granite to any wholesale dealer in the United States other than members of the first party. By a 'wholesale dealer' is meant a dealer selling in the retail trade. 3. No member of the first party shall employ as agent any employee of a partner in a firm belonging to the second party. 4. The following conditions shall be the terms for sale of goods by the firms in connection with the second party to the members of the first party: (a) All work shall be set up by the manufacturers for inspection by the agent of the wholesale dealer at least three days prior to the date of shipment, with all dirt, etc., carefully washed off. (b) In the event of the work being passed after such inspection, the manufacturer is not to be held further accountable for it, other than a safe delivery f. o. b. cars at Aberdeen. (c) Where the work is shipped at the risk of the manufacturer, an agreement to that effect must be signed by him. 5. This agreement shall come into force on July 4, 1896, with the provision that all orders from wholesale dealers not members of the Boston Association, already accepted or under way, shall be completed, but no new orders to be taken after above date. A list of said orders in course of completion shall be filed with the secretary of the second party. In the event of any change in above agreement being desired by either party, twelve months' notice must be given."

The "L" Stand Ordinance.

Mayor Strong returned the "L" stand ordinance, published in our issue of the 12th inst., to the Board of Aldermen with the following remarks:

I return herewith, without approval, resolution of your Honorable Body, adopted September 3, 1896, regulating the placing of stands under elevated railroad stairs.

The resolution appears to have been passed in pursuance of the authority conferred by subdivision 3 of section 86 of the Consolidation Act, as amended by chapter 718 of the Laws of 1896. The section of the Consolidation Act thus amended prescribes the maximum length along the sidewalk which may be occupied by any booth, which length is to be determined by a line drawn from the under surface of the stairs where they come in contact with the sidewalk, to a point from which, if a perpendicular were erected from the sidewalk to the under surface of the stairs above, said perpendicular would not be greater than seven (7) feet. The resolution should specify particularly the length of the stands.

The stairs approaching the elevated stations, on account of the necessities of construction, are not all at the same angle and are sometimes broken by a platform in the middle of the rise, so that the mere description in the statute, if the resolution became a law, would give greater facilities to some stands than to others.

Again, the resolution should be so amended as to provide that, while only papers and periodicals may be sold, the license to be granted should be upon the express condition that the privilege is to be exercised in person by the licensee, and that there shall be no right of assigning such privilege, and that upon it being so assigned, or the privilege being used by any person other than the licensee, it becomes void.

Again, the resolution should be further so amended as to require the consent of the abutting property-owners or lessees for the erection of the stands referred to, and to require that no compensation shall have been or be received for such consent.

The Annexed Territory and the Assessment Rolls.

The Board of Aldermen have instructed the Finance Committee to report upon the means to be taken to enable the Board to include the property in the territory annexed to the city in 1895 in the assessment rolls for 1896. The committee is also instructed to report at the earliest opportunity and if necessary a special meeting of the Board may be called to take up their report.

The National Association of Builders.

The tenth annual convention of the National Association of Builders, which took place at Buffalo last week, was a very important one, as it may mark the time when the principles laid down and perfected by the association in its ten years of arduous labor will be put into practical use generally in the building trades. The Merchants' and Traders' Exchange of this city was most ably represented at this convention by Messrs. Stephen M. Wright, C. A. Cowen, John L. Hamilton, Augustus Meyer, Warren A. Connover, John J. Roberts, Ronald Taylor and Frank M. Weeks.

The three following matters were on the programme of the first day's session, presented by the Master Builders' Association of Boston:

1. That the National Association of Builders take action in support of the movement to create an expert commission to have charge of all architectural work of the United States Government.

2. That the National Association of Builders recommend all filial bodies to secure an amendment to the building laws of their various cities looking toward the creation of boards of appeal.

3. That the National Association of Builders recommend the Joint Committee on Uniform Contract to secure an amendment to the uniform contract, so that payments shall be called for under the contract in gold, rather than in "current funds," as the said contract now reads.

These were adopted, the latter, owing to its significance in the present political situation, with much enthusiasm, in which the Western delegates participated as heartily as those from the East.

At the second day's session the following questions were brought up, and, as may be imagined, elicited a very interesting discussion: "Are organizations of builders, either local or national, desirable? If so, what are the functions of such bodies, and should the value of organization be measured by, or be dependent upon, immediate specific results only?"

The matter that created the most feeling, and all of the amiable variety, was the request of Mr. Wm. H. Sayward, the gentleman who has worked most ably and conscientiously and who in fact, if it can be said of any one man, has been the soul of the Association during its ten years of life, to be retired from the position of paid secretary to an honorary office. This the convention would not hear of, and Mr. Sayward was induced to continue to occupy the position he has always so admirably filled. Following this a movement, as spontaneous as it was hearty, was made to give Mr. Sayward some tangible sign of the consideration in which he was held and in the course of twenty-four hours he was presented with a valuable diamond stud, Mr. Stephen M. Wright being selected to make the presentation address, which he did in graceful and flattering terms that gave perfect satisfaction to all who participated in this interesting occasion.

The following officers were elected: James Meathe, Detroit, president; Thomas H. Bentley, Milwaukee, and William H. Alsip, Chicago, vice-presidents; William H. Sayward, Boston, secretary; Geo. Tapper, Chicago, treasurer; Mr. Chas. A. Cowen was elected director for New York.

The next annual meeting will be at Detroit, on Sept. 14, 1897.

Trade Notes.

"KOSMOCRETE."

The Wilson & Baillie Manufacturing Co. have issued in neat pamphlet form a number of the more important testimonials they have received on the results of their work in important undertakings. We recently alluded to the flattering opinions expressed by the President and Chief Engineer of the Brooklyn Bridge Commission, which appear in this little book, and there are added one from Mayor Wurster relating to work done for the Brooklyn Fire Department and others from well known architects and engineers who have employed the Wilson & Baillie Mfg. Co. for years. This company, as is well-known, manufactures "Kosmocrete," which is most successfully used in its several forms for sidewalks, yards, floors, partitions and wherever fireproof and waterproof flooring, etc., are required. It is unnecessary to refer to the utility of this specialty, inasmuch as that is so thoroughly proved by the testimonials previously referred to and some of which will be found on another page. The main office and factory of the company are at Nos. 85-93 9th street, Brooklyn, and the New York office, at No. 45 Broadway, at either of which addresses all information required of this valuable flooring can be obtained.

THE ELECTRIC ELEVATOR AGAIN HEARD FROM.

The Sprague Electric Elevator Co. have closed within the past week contracts for the following buildings: No. 25 Waverly place, two machines; Nos. 141 and 143 5th avenue, Henry Corn, owner, two machines; No. 14 East 17th street, Dietsch Bros., owners, one machine; No. 38 Murray street, V. J. Hedden & Sons, contractors, one machine; No. 708 Broadway, S. H. Mela, contractor, two machines. They have also closed a contract for two more machines for the Siegel-Cooper Building, which they some time since equipped with twenty-one machines, making the number of Sprague elevators to be in use in that building twenty-three. The large number of contracts secured lately by this company gives evidence of the fact that the architects and contractors of large buildings are alive to the great superiority of the Sprague electric machines over the old time hydraulic.

Development In Neighborhood of Herald Square.

S. V. R. Cruger and H. W. McVickar, composing the firm of S. V. R. Cruger & Co., are about to build for the Fitzgerald estate, from plans by Messrs. Hoppin & Koen, a two-story store and office building, on the plot 100 ft. 9 ins. x 189 ft. 6 ins. x 98 ft. 9 ins. x 222 ft. at northwest corner of Broadway and 37th street. They expect to have the building completed by Feb. 1. The movement in real estate about Herald Square determined the firm last January to establish another branch office in that neighborhood for the better management of the properties already in their charge about there and for the extension of business with the development of that part of the city. The firm have a number of important operations under way.

The Real Estate Market

Two six-figure deals in business property, one or more trades in which fairly large sums are involved, an improved demand for dwellings, and a better buying movement affecting other grades of realty, enable us to estimate the aggregate investment of the week, so far as it has been disclosed, at about $1,300,000. Buyers have evidently recovered from the lethargy induced by summer vacations, and could the question of the country's future financial policy be settled now, the market would at once respond with evidence of renewed life. Even as it is, there has been shown in the last few days a greater inclination to purchase, and, unless all signs fail, several more good-sized transactions will be closed during the coming week.

The following are the comparative tables for the New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1895 and 1896.

This week marks the opening of the auctioneers' fall season, and while the transactions have not been of much greater significance than those of preceeding weeks, there has been a noticeable improvement in the daily attendance. William M. Ryan made the initial fall voluntary offering on Monday, that of No. 846 East 170th street. It was withdrawn on a bid of $3,325. On the following day Philip A. Smyth's announcements drew to his stand an audience more earnest than numerous, but as it included many bidders, the auctioneer was able to score a success both at partition and executors' sale. On Thursday Mr. Smyth had the auction room all to himself, his offerings consisting of a parcel under foreclosure which was knocked down to Smith Ely, and four small private houses on East 116th street, sold to settle the estate of Charles C. Fitzhugh, deceased. The dwellings, to which the late Mr. Fitzhugh took title in July, 1884, for an expressed consideration of $52,000, realized a total of $33,990 from three buyers. The prices obtained by auction are not a great deal under those that have prevailed in the vicinity for a year or more. The other sales of the week embraced property put up under decrees of foreclosure. Plaintiffs were the buyers in nearly every instance.

Peter F. Meyer & Co.'s sale yesterday of No. 6 East 74th street attracted unusual attention for a foreclosure. Several well-known speculators took part in the bidding, but the house was finally knocked down at $43,750 to a bidder who acted in the interest of Alfred Duane Pell, owner of the big, and as yet unfinished, Pickhardt mansion, the ground of which adjoins and extends to 5th avenue. It is worth relating that the property was offered to Mr. Pell a few days ago at private contract for $42,500, and the offer declined. A sale announced to take place at the Real Estate Exchange, of Nos. 113 and 115 East 83d street, under a mechanic's lien foreclosure, was adjourned sine die.

Peter F. Meyer calls attention, in our advertising pages, to the auction sale of 121 Morris Heights lots, located on Sedgwick and Undercliff avenues, between 176th and 177th streets. They are described as overlooking the Harlem River and Speedway, and as having sewer, water and gas. This sale will take place on Wednesday, Oct. 7, in the Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, and will be practically a continuation of the sale of May 7 last, when so many lots of a similar description were disposed of. It will afford a good opportunity to builders to secure desirable lots, and those who are looking for suitable places in which to operate, should refer to the announcement previously referred to, or obtain particulars of this sale from the auctioneer at No. 111 Broadway, or of Ephraim B. Levy, No. 7 Astor House, Broadway.

Attention is called to the advertisement, in another column, for an agent to take charge of a valuable tract of land in the Catskill Mountains.

Henry T. Eldridge, real estate broker, has been proposed for annual membership of the Real Estate Exchange.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

James J. Nealis has bought of Mrs. Albert Luyster and the Luyster estate the two three-and-a-half-story brick houses, with plot, 48x78.3x48x78.11, Nos. 302 and 303 East Broadway, one door from Scammel street.

Geo. R. Read has sold for Boehm & Coon the modern seven-story business structure; 35x79.10, Nos. 26 and 28 Washington place. It is rented at $10,000, for a term of years, to one tenant. The sellers have probably followed their usual plan of disposing of the property through a trade, but nothing regarding the identity of the buyer or the amount involved in the transaction has yet been learned. Their similar, but larger building adjoining, on the corner of Washington square East, figured in a trade last spring and is now owned by President Francis A. Palmer, of the Broadway National Bank.

Hiram Merritt has sold the lot, 25x103.3, with old three-story brick building, No. 532 East 13th street, for the estate of G. A. Hoyt.

R. M. Montgomery & Co. have definitely and finally settled all reports regarding a resale of Nos. 75 and 77 William street, southwest corner of Liberty street, by disposing of same for Jefferson M. Levy, to Anson Phelps Stokes. The plot is 45.9x81.9x46.1x slightly irregular, and is covered by two old five-story buildings. Broker Montgomery assures us that the contract price is $408,000, which is $103,000 more than the seller paid the Duchesse Di Dino for the property in December, 1894, but he is non-committal about the truth of a rumor which says that the buyer will give other property in part payment.

The latest sale, as nearly as can be calculated, in the absence of a surveyor's diagram, is at the rate of about $105 per square foot or a little under $108.37, the price paid in January by the Queen Insurance Company for the somewhat smaller plot on the northwest corner of William and Cedar streets. With the exception of the last named corner and one or two smaller parcels the ownership of the entire block is now divided between the Mutual Life Insurance Company and Mr. Stokes.

Mandelbaum & Lewine have resold at an advance on the price paid early in the month, the three-story brick house, with lot 25x98.9, No. 219 East 25th street. The new owner is a resident of the neighborhood who has bought for occupancy.

The Syndicate Realty Company; capital stock, $100,000; was incorporated on Thursday, with Hugh Lamb, John J. Brown and William Bryan as directors, and immediately thereafter acquired title to the Syndicate Building, at Liberty and Nassau streets. The company was formed by the orignal projectors and actual owners of the new sky-scraper.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

C. G. A. Brosien has sold for Builder William H. Hall, Jr., the two new five-story brick double flats, 25x77x100.11 each, Nos. 223 and 225 West 120th street, to Paul Obalski.

A. Littery has sold for the same owner the adjoining and similar flat, No. 221 West, to Christian Adler.

Jesse C. Bennett has sold for Anna E. Lyon to Ira D. Place, at $26,000, the four-story brick dwelling, 19x57x102.2, No. 268 West 77th street; for Charles W. Lindsley the two four-story stone front dwellings, 20x56x102.2 each, Nos. 11 and 13 West 83d street, and for A. Britton Havens, at about $25,000, his three-story brick residence, 18.9x55x102.2, No. 168 West 85th street, to Mrs. H. C. Hoole.

Golding & Whitehouse have sold for Builders W. W. and T. M. Hall the new four-story dwelling, 22x62 and extension x102.2, No. 7 East 76th street, to Mrs. Stephen R. Lesher, at a price close to $75,000

Charles E. Schuyler & Co. have sold for Alfred W. Ahrens the three-story stone front dwelling, with lot, 16.8x102.2, No. 229 West 71st street, to Bernard R. Murphy, for $22,000.

Slawson & Hobbs have sold for Margaret J. Mace, at about $26,500, the three-and-a-half-story brick dwelling, 17x56 and extension x102.2, No. 226 West 79th street, and for Builders James A. Frame & Son to John J. Mitchell, the four-story brick dwelling, 20x56 and extension x100.5, No. 9 West 69th street.

Eckel & Batterman have sold for J. H. Schnepel to Elizabeth Finley the three-story brick dwelling, with lot 19.10x94.10, No. 609 West 187th street.

Builder John Ruddell, Jr., has sold to a Mrs. Todd the three-story stone front dwelling, 18x56 and extension x99.11, No. 421 West 147th street, one of a new row of three, for about $22,000.

J. R. Lang has negotiated a trade between Morris Simon and Frederick Voss, involving a sale by the former at $39,000, of the five-story brick flat with stores, No. 1460 Amsterdam avenue, northwest corner of 132d street, 25x96x100, and the transfer by the latter of the five-story brick tenement, with lot, 25x100.5, No. 307 West 68th street, accepted at a valuation of $18,000.

L. J. Phillips & Co. have sold for Solomon R. Jacobs, a plot, 50 x100, on the west side of West End avenue, 50.11 north of 97th street.

Potter & Bro. have sold for improvement the plot, 118.5x136.2 x110.11x100, on the northwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 112th street, and the plot, 118.4x131.2x100.11x69.3, on the southeast corner of the same avenue and 114th street, both to Anna J., wife of Builder William F. Lennon, who will give in exchange the three five-story brick tenements with stores, plot 65.9x100, Nos. 97 to 101 Mangin street, 55.5 south of Stanton street.

The Messrs. Potter have also sold the three-story brick dwelling, with lot 18.9x102.2, No. 47 West 83d street, to Edward White for about $24,000.

J. P. & E. J. Murray have sold for Mrs. Feltz, the three-story stone front dwelling, 20x50x100.11, No. 225 East 116th street, to a Mr. Sietel for about $15,000.

I., at a valuation of $2,000.

The New Lien Law.

Elsewhere in this paper our readers will find the first filings, under Chapter 915 of the Laws of 1896. At the time of its enactment by the legislature we printed the provisions of the law, which it is expected will work greatly to the benefit of honest builders, and prevent the hasty filing of liens upon the slightest provocation. It will be seen that these new liens or recorded orders are not to be read to the financial discredit of the party or parties against whom they stand, as is the common rule with the ordinary form of mechanics' liens. The new act was in the form of an amendment to the mechanic's lien law and provides that no assignments of money due or to become due for materials or labor furnished for building, nor any order drawn by a contractor or sub-contractor for the payment of such moneys, shall have any force or validity until such assignment or a copy thereof or a copy of such order, as the case may be, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county where the premises are situated upon which such labor or service have been or are about to be performed; or for which materials have been or are about to be furnished, and that such assignment of money or order may then take effect and be enforced, as of the time of such filing. An important provision of this amendment is to the effect that liens, claims, assignments, and orders of contractors or sub-contractors, laborers, and material men shall be preferred over any other claim in the distribution of any fund, pursuant to the provisions of the act. It is also provided that assignment of moneys and orders shall be indexed in the lien docket kept in the County Clerk's office.

Questions and Answers.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE :

Kindly answer the following question: I have a tenant occupying a store under a lease which has six years to run. He is three months in arrears in his rent. If I dispossess him can he regain possession of the property by paying the rent due and the costs? He has made no improvements to the property, and has failed to comply with the conditions of the lease as to repairs, etc.

Answer—If proceedings are commenced to dispossess a tenant he can, at any time before a warrant is issued, pay the rent due and the costs and thereby put an end to the proceedings. But once a warrant is issued the lease is broken and the relation of landlord and tenant no longer exists. After the warrant is issued if the tenant desires to continue in possession of the premises, he must obtain a new lease.—Law Editor.

TRUCK ON STREET.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

(1) A, a truckman, has hired a floor from B, who owns an apartment house between two private houses. A has placed his truck on the street in front of his apartments. Is there any statute law to have the truck removed? (2) A and his wife get drunk and fight and annoy the neighbors in general. Have the neighbors any redress?

Answer—(1) A has no right to leave his truck on the street over night, unless he has obtained the privilege from the constituted authorities. Complain of the nuisance at the nearest station house. (2) They have. Let them lodge a complaint at the nearest station house or go before a police magistrate.—Law Editor.

COMMISSION FOR RENTING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

Kindly answer me through your publication what commission an agent is entitled to on a house which I have leased for one year and nine months, and oblige.

Answer.—Two-and-a-half per cent on the first year's rental.—Editor "Record and Guide."

TRESPASS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I would like to have you answer this question in your next issue: I am the owner of two unfenced lots, 50x100, at Dunwoodie. The parties next built a stable and used my property as storage for wagons, barrels, etc. I notified said parties to remove same at once or I would render them a bill for rent. Not having done as I requested can I collect rent for same?

Answer.—No. The right to collect rent as such depends upon a contract, and in this case there was no contract. You may cause the removal of their property, and also sue them for trespass.—Law Editor.

CONTRACT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following questions in your next number: A is the general contractor on a building, and gives B a sub-contract for the mason work, including digging, plastering, etc. B has received the greater portion of the money from A for said sub-contract and has abandoned the job unfinished. B got the digging, plastering, etc., done by sub-contracting the same to other parties and has not paid them, nor paid for the material used on that portion of the contract done by himself. Is A compelled to pay B's debts to his sub-contractors, and for his material, and can A do so without B's consent, A still owing B a balance, but has to finish his (B's) work. A has notified him (B) that if he does not go on with the work at the expiration of three days from date that A will finish his work and deduct the cost of same from his account.

Answer.—A is not obliged to pay the debts owing by B for work and material. If he chooses he may buy up any valid claims against B, and set them off against what he owes B. Or the mechanics and material men may file liens and A may pay them off up to the amount which he owes B.—Law Editor.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:
1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.
2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.
3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.
The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the Deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at the foot of this list.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

[1]Editor Record and Guide:

Messrs. E. M. Pritchard & Son received $450 on contract at 10.30 a. m., 21st inst., as agreed. Nevertheless they filed lien for more than entire account at 1.29 p. m. When they deliver all goods balance will be adjusted.

R. De Rago and F. Nigro, owners.

Editor Record and Guide:

The lien filed against 736 Broadway by Edward Debrunner is unjust, having received his payments as per contract. We positively do not owe him the amount claimed. We have bonded said lien.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for further particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before publication do not appear in this column, but in a list of Satisfied Judgments.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—There has been a dull, narrow and featureless market for Hudson River brick. The only feature has been a further reduction in the shipments, which naturally has caused a decrease in receipts, but as demand has been on a very limited scale there have been no important changes in the general situation. There has been a slight reduction in the supplies carried over, which now average about 10 barges daily. The range of prices for the average run of brick has been continued at $3.75@4.25, although for a few barges of special coloring cheap brick for which there was a particular demand an advance of 12½c. was paid. Specials have shown no changes and have brought $4.50@4.75, and in instances $5.00 has been paid. The market for pale brick has been quiet, but there have been few offerings without changes and fairly steady at $1.75@2.00. Jersey brick has been quiet and unchanged. The shipments to this market have been very limited, and prices have been unchanged and steady at $3.50@4.00, according to quality.

HARDWARE.—The market has latterly shown a steady improvement in tone as a result of the increasing confidence of the success of the sound money party and the improvement in the financial situation. The amount of business transacted, while it has not been large, has been gradually increasing, and recently quite a number of orders have been received by mail which is taken as an indication that supplies in the hands of the trade are small. The export demand has been growing steadily and has been a gratifying feature to manufacturers, inasmuch as they anticipate that they will thus find an important outlet for their goods. Prices generally have ruled steady.

LATH.—The market has been fairly active and steady. There were fairly large arrivals early in the week, and as these were the first receipts of importance for some time past, they found a quick sale at $1.60, although in instances business was reported at $1.65. At the close the market was quoted steady at $1.60.

LIME.—The market for Eastern lime has been unsettled. The supply in first hands has been decidedly small, being limited to a small cargo received early in the week, and as this was not placed on the market for sale the prices quoted have been largely nominal. There has been a moderate call for supplies, and sales have been to arrive at the market price at the time of arrival. The prices quoted for common Eastern were 70@75c. and 80@85c. for finishing do. No State nor St. John lime have been offering and no changes have been made in quoted values.

LUMBER.—There have been no especially interesting developments in the market for lumber. While business at present continues unsatisfactory, there is a steady improvement in the undertone. The political situation is gradually losing its influence as a disturbing influence, inasmuch as merchants generally appear to be fairly well satisfied that our present monetary situation will not be affected by the result of the Presidential contest as the belief in the success of the sound money party is becoming more and more pronounced. The financial situation also shows an improvement, and quite some encouragement is derived from the fact that both the time, money and commercial paper markets are beginning to feel the increase in the volume of currency resulting from the importations of gold.

In the market for pines there are no noteworthy changes. White pine moved slowly and to do business sellers find it necessary to accept low prices. There is no pressure to sell, however, and latterly the effect of the present short season and the probably reduced production for the coming season has been a topic of some interest, and the belief that prices are at bottom seems to be general. Yellow and North Carolina pine move slowly and sales made are at low prices.

A fairly steady market is reported for Eastern spruce. The amount of business doing is limited, but owing to the small shipment to this market, in consequence of the demand from England and South America, is beginning to have an influence. The few random cargoes offering for sale bring steady prices, and for special cargoes the market shows some firmness and sales made were at top prices.

The New York sizes of hemlock are receiving a moderate amount of attention and are selling at steady prices. There is a tame market for cypress. Demand is slow, buyers being indifferent, and prices show an absence of tone.

There are no changes to note in the market for hardwoods. A limited amount of business is doing in oak, both plain and quartered. Chestnut also continues to receive some attention, prices ruling fairly steady. Other descriptions of hardwoods, however, move slowly, demand being at a minimum and prices rule in buyers' favor.

The "Northwestern Lumberman" of Sept. 19 has the following:

"Northern Pine.—The notable feature of the week's business is the increase of demand on wholesale yards in this city and at Dubuque, Minneapolis and other points, as well as the considerable sales of bulk stocks which have been reported from Duluth. At the last named point, or at the several mills at the head of Lake Superior, 25,000,000 feet of lumber has changed hands within a few days. An attempt will be made to send this lumber forward to Lake Erie points and Chicago before the close of navigation. It is thought that this sudden close of deals, some of which have been pending for weeks, means that dealers down the lakes are making a final effort to fill up their stocks before it shall be too late in the season. Besides, it is probable that it is desired to make charters for vessels to move the lumber before there shall be an advance of rates. While these things are to be taken into account the fact that so much lumber has suddenly been sold is a relief to the stagnation which has prevailed at the head of the lakes for weeks. It is furthermore stated that there are other buyers at Duluth-Superior in quest of lumber, and inquiries are more frequent than they were. It is possible that this indicates a new interest in lumber, as a result of returning confidence in the future. It is evident that the time is approaching when there will be a reaction from the extreme torpidity which has characterized the bulk stock market during the season, and that this reaction will involve an advance of prices. It would be strange indeed if wholesale dealers did not make an attempt to secure stocks before advances occur, for by that means they are likely to realize good profits in the distribution of the lumber.

"Though there have been emphatic protestations of an intention to early shut down the mills this season, as a measure to relieve the market of surplus product, many threatened closures seem to be procrastinated. It is stated from Duluth-Superior that recent sales of lumber there have induced operators to continue running their mills longer than they had intended. At Ashland several mills have secured the sawing of Ontonagon logs, since the mills there were burned, and will run well toward the end of the season. While there is thus a disposition to prolong the sawing season on Lake Superior, there still well be so many shut downs of railway mills, and along the Mississippi River, that there will result a considerable curtailment of the cut. Mill concerns continue to talk of a limitation of the log input the coming winter, and seem to be backing their intention by refraining from starting camps.

"In the middle west the degree of increase of demand for lumber noted by our correspondents and market reporters is mainly coming from the farming districts. Such is particularly the case in Iowa and in Illinois. An immense corn crop necessitates crib building, and there is some putting up of barns, and making of repairs. Thus there is the customary fall requirement, but it is not in as large volume as it would be if prices of farm products were higher. Farmers are selling more of their last year's crop than earlier in the season, which helps collections and induces an increased demand for lumber.

"There has been no especial change in the northern pine trade in the Eastern States. The feeling is better than it was, but there is still pronounced caution about buying until after election. Still it can be said that September demand has slightly exceeded that in August."

"A Sash and Door Possibility.—The consolidation of the leading sash, door and blind factories into one corporation through and by which the manufacture and sale of such goods should be not only controlled but actually carried on, may materialize into something tangible after all. The argument in favor of such a proceeding is simply unanswerable. Not a word of adverse criticism was elicited by the proposition to save as profit the vast sums annually expended in maintaining so many separate competitive organizations for the disposition of the annual product. It was contended then, as can be maintained now, that an annual loss account could be turned into a handsome profit without materially raising prices to the consumer in the saving effected by such a consolidation and unification of interests.

"A quiet movement has been started upon two lines; one to see how manufacturers would take to the idea, the other to ascertain if the requisite amount of capital could be obtained wherewith to insure success. The financial part of the proposition may be considered settled. All the capital necessary can be secured. It has, in fact, been already tendered. Work upon the other line, already done, offers a fair prospect of ultimate success.

"One objection met with among manufacturers, and it is one which might have been anticipated, is the unwillingness to accept the actual value of a plant. In this connection consideration ought to be given to the fact that not since 1892 has there been a satisfactory season in the manufacture of sash and doors, and there has

VOL. LVIII. OCTOBER 3, 1896. No. 1,490

IT takes no deep penetration now to detect the improved feeling in the business world. The evidences of this fact are fast coming to the surface. Free coinage of silver and the other theories of government to which it was united by the Chicago convention are already discredited issues and the vote in November will be simply a formal, though, it is to be hoped, very emphatic notification of the fact. The reports from trade centres are not only more cheerful in tone, but give illustration of the substantial bettering of the condition of the several lines they represent. Some of the great industries are increasing their forces and operations, and we have had a rest from the announcement of big failures and the contraction of effort. The stock market continues to reflect these things so steadily that there is now no dispute about the character of the current movement of prices, but simply a question as to how far the advance will go. In view of the fact that the depression of July and August was wholly due to political dangers now fast being removed, if they are not already quite gone, the upward movement, putting aside moderate natural reactions under realizings from time to time, ought not to stop short of the highest prices of the year and will, in all probability, go beyond them. These prices, it is needless to say, have not yet been attained by any means, as a reference to the quotations for last May will show in a moment. It should be particularly borne in mind that the process of properly establishing upon the market the new securities of companies that have been reorganized or are undergoing reorganization was interrupted by the late silver scare, and will doubtless be renewed. This should give special attraction to these issues. It should also be borne in mind that there are exceptions to every rule, and that while circumstances affecting listed securities are favorable to a general rising movement, there are particular circumstances affecting individual cases which may cause a contrary course in the instances they affect. As an example it is hardly possible that the rapidly growing competition of foreign refined sugar now reaching quite large proportions should be without an unfavorable influence upon those securities that are predicated on the home sugar refining industry. The point in all this is that while the chances of profitable buying are more numerous than the chances of profitable selling, it is unsafe now, as it always is, to depend entirely upon generalizations, and an examination into merit is as necessary now as at other times. Something of a point has been made of the hardening of exchange rates, but this is nothing more than a natural reaction from the decline caused by the large imports of gold. They should for a time stay above the importing point, but should not reach exporting figures for a long time to come. In fact, it is reasonable to suppose that a great deal more gold will come from the other side before this side is again compelled to send a dollar.

WITH the advance of 1 per cent. the Bank of England rate is most probably fixed for some time to come, and business is speedily adapting itself to the new conditions inseparable from so substantial a rise in the rate of discount. This change will have a healthy effect not only in permitting the more remunerative employment of money in the open market, but also in checking dangerous speculation. Already it has brought about a decline in high-priced securities running from 2½ per cent. for the best government and municipal issues to 8 and 10 per cent. in railroad stocks, all of which, as we pointed out some time ago, were too high and whose high quotations might have produced serious trouble if a sudden demand for money had arisen from any cause, and the Bank rate had had to be advanced with less care and caution than was the case. There are people who will always "go the whole hog" even if they succumb in the process, so that there will continue to be sufficient indulgence in speculation and in new ventures to keep things lively, but the advance in money is a reminder to banks and capitalists to look more carefully where they are placing the funds owned by or entrusted to them. What was good business is no longer so, and the collateral offering has to undergo a new grading. Foreign politics, or rather that portion which for the moment occupies the public, continues to consist of the Turkish-Armenian situation. Mr. Gladstone's address is, unintentionally of course, the best apology for the inaction of the British Government that could be offered. Lord Salisbury could hardly do better. It shows quite conclusively the hopelessness of the situation without concert of the Great Powers. What Mr. Gladstone says his government should do, Lord Salisbury says it has already done, with the exception of breaking off diplomatic arrangements, a suggestion so absurd that it does not deserve a fraction of the attention bestowed upon it. There is also something spiteful and unfair in the comments of the foreign press that would make Great Britain responsible for the conduct of the Turk, when the latter has been encouraged to resent the former's action, directly by the European rivals of Great Britain and indirectly by her Transatlantic rival, ourselves, through the Venezuelan message. If we recall to mind the Sultan's demeanor as shown by his letter to Lord Salisbury, and read at a public meeting last November, we can easily see that he must have had some powerful encouragement to do what he is doing to-day. Moreover, Great Britain is no more responsible for the integrity of the Berlin treaty than are any of the other signatory Powers. It is a poor argument for any of them to say, or for any one else to say for them, that the terms of the treaty were suggested, or insisted upon, by one party. As agreements are supposed to be voluntary acts, when they are made by agencies that cannot plead insanity, they are binding upon all the parties to them; on one not more than another, except as specific burdens are bestowed by the document itself. Notwithstanding all the abuse that is heaped upon her, and upon which, it may be said, neither the sun nor the moon ever sets, Great Britain has been the only one of the signers of the Treaty of Berlin that has honestly attempted to enforce its conditions so far as the treatment of the Christian subjects of the Port is concerned, having due and proper regard to the welfare of her own people.

IN commenting upon the extremely low point to which rates for money recently fell, Mathew Marshall, in the Sun, suggests the possibility of a time coming when money will not command interest at all. This, though a random shot of this original writer upon economics, and looking at first sight like one of his misses, may turn out to be one of his best shots. Certainly the suggestion was never made before in seriousness by one who, while a writer, is also engaged in the every-day business of banking, and whose interest in the future of money is practical. The suggestion will now of a surety form an engaging study for political economists. The post-bellum period has seen interest rates in this country fall very materially, notwithstanding that we continue to be large borrowers of foreign capital, and that the development of our resources has by no means assumed such a form of completeness as has the development of those of Europe. When money loaned in London for short periods at the rate of a half to three-quarters of one per cent., as was the case recently, people might very well ask whether interest would not disappear altogether. Not only was this the case, but there were also immense stores of money that could find no use at all, and as a consequence commanded no return whatever. We have known, too, times in New York when trust companies would pay no interest on deposits because there was no way in which they could be used, and the companies naturally declined to reverse the ordinary practice and pay a premium for the doubtful privilege of taking care of the money of others. Ultimately, of course, uses were found for all these funds on both sides of the Atlantic, but an examination of the facts will probably show that the periods when large amounts of money are completely idle are becoming more frequent and more protracted, and the bulk of such unqualifiedly surplus capital is all the time growing larger. For interest on floating funds to disappear altogether, it would be necessary for the surplus wealth of the world to be so large that its owners would be glad to give its use for a guarantee of safe keeping, and return on demand or at specified times—an idea that suggests a bewildering number of changes in finance, yet which, because of recent experiences, cannot be dismissed off-hand as containing an impossibility.

LAST week we referred to the necessity that has arisen for an increase in the number of the tax books, in order that the force of the Receiver of Taxes can comply with mail requisitions for tax bills in sufficient time before the opening of the books to enable taxes to be paid by mail, and at the same time to secure to the payer the full concession allowed by law for prompt payment. It has since been suggested to us that another improvement can be made in the office of the Receiver of Taxes which would be of practical benefit. This is, that following the practice now in use in Boston, the Receiver should be given a night force, whose duty it should be to post up all the payments received by the day force, so that a searcher could ascertain at any time and without delay whether the taxes on a particular piece of property were paid up. The force now employed is fully occupied in the receipt of taxes until, say January, so that it is ordinarily only with the beginning of the new year that the work of posting payments commences and it drags along until August. If the posting of the books was kept up to date, one small difficulty in the way of the rapid transfer of realty would be removed and there would be no occasion for the present unpleasant custom of holding back part of a purchase price to guarantee a buyer against tax claims. A force capable of doing the necessary work would cost from $4,000 to $5,000 a year, and the resulting convenience to the public and to the real estate industry would be very cheap at the money.

Money and Wealth.

FROM one point of view the present campaign is a desirable occurrence—people are learning something from it about the nature and function of money. One would think that a nation engaged almost entirely in commercial pursuits would need very little instruction on that score; but the fact is quite the contrary. It can be shown that not only the current silver agitation, but also nearly all the other financial and economic lunacies which disturb the peace and periodically upset business arise directly from the dense ignorance that prevails among people generally as to money. It is not the farmer alone who is misled by fallacies based on misconceptions about money, and the part it plays in commercial affairs—the merchant, the manufacturer, the mechanic are equally led astray.

A sample of this ignorance is given in a letter received by THE RECORD AND GUIDE this week from a correspondent who takes us to task privately for our attitude toward the Bryan party. He complains that THE RECORD AND GUIDE and other journals, who support the gold standard, do not face the contention of the silverites and bimetallists that demonetization of silver (or gold), or any contraction of currency must produce an appreciation of money, a consequent fall in the price of commodities, with a diminution of profits and the advent of hard times when capital is hoarded. In effect, this is a restatement of a resolution adopted by the Free Coinage Convention, at Memphis, which reads: "The demonetization of either silver or gold means a fall in the price of commodities, a diminution of the profits of legitimate business, a continuing increase in the burden of debts with consequent hard times, idle labor and idle capital, the increasing value of money promising a surer return to a hoarded dollar than to an invested one." Bryan harps on this string. There is a certain music in it for the unfortunate and discontented. It even has an air of reasonableness about it for those who haven't learned the elementary distinction between money and capital. Here is where the money fallacy comes in.

Because wealth is measured in terms of money, people have come to imagine that the two things are identical. The wealthiest man is supposed to be the man who has the most money in his pocket or bank; the richest nation the one that has the largest stock on hand of cash. Hence, of course, wealth-making is solely money-making. This nonsense sticks in most people's heads, although right along side of it are a dozen facts, commonly known, that upset it all. For instance, the total fund of money in the United States is, in rough figures, $1,500,000,000. Surely it is hardly necessary to say that this amount doesn't represent the wealth of the country, nor its capital. If this were all we had to draw upon we should indeed be poor, and enterprise would be impoverished fatally—how much so, may be gathered from the fact that the annual product of the United States amounts to more than fourteen billions, while our public and private indebtedness alone aggregates twenty billions! We may imagine from these figures the amount of our capital. To measure it by the quantity of money we possess is manifestly absurd.

Now, it is this wealth that keeps the country going, starts factories, builds houses and employs labor. The merchant who, in the every-day language, "borrows money" to assist him in his enterprises draws in reality upon capital, upon stored wealth in the shape of commodities, or upon labor, which in turn draws upon commodities. Money doesn't build his new factory, and if he hadn't a cent the building could go up, provided he were supplied with the necessary credit for bricks, iron and other structural materials in addition to food, clothing and so forth for his workmen. His borrowing is really nothing but obtaining a call upon these articles. If somebody holds the goods and he is so circumstanced that he can command the credit, a few millions of money more or less in the country will not bother him.

The hoarding of money then, talked of by Bryan, our correspondent and others is no more than a hoarding of yard-sticks. The tailor doesn't make his clothes out of tape-measures, neither does a nation house, dress itself and provide for all its daily wants out of money. To hoard money may or may not be profitable; to hoard goods, that is the other and greater forms of capital, surely means loss. Bricks stored in the building material man's yards figure loss at all times; and similarly with other things. Nobody cares to hoard capital.

But, it may be urged, when money is hoarded other commodities are also hoarded. Credit contracts, is often extinguished. True. In times of uncertainty and panic, money and all other things are hard to obtain. One cause is in operation affecting the whole commercial world. Business is in a shaky condition; there has been overtrading, too much speculation, extravagance or other financial evil. The possessors both of money and capital have lost confidence. That is the trouble. There is a hitch somewhere in the machinery, and little can be done until matters are mended, the inflation punctured and extravagance replaced by economy. With the improvement brought about by proper reformation, capital and money which is its measure, are ready enough to be busy. The builder is willing again to part with his bricks and then the delayed factory is built.

It must be plain now to our correspondent why THE RECORD AND GUIDE or other well-informed journals pay little heed to what he and other Bryanites say about appreciation of money, the hoarding of the dollar and their fallacious scheme to make everybody happy by injecting into the currency an amount of silver that must be relatively only a drop in the bucket compared with capital, which is the main thing. If we have panic when the country produces fourteen billions of commodities annually, how will a few millions of silver save us? If our correspondent will free himself from the silver craze and go about his business industriously and economically and produce every year something more than he consumes, he will do more for commercial stability and good times than can be done in a century by agitation over idiotic theories founded upon ignorance.

THE resolution passed by the National Association of Builders at its Buffalo convention, advising local associations to agitate for the appointment in their several cities of Boards of Appeal similar to that established in Boston has, no doubt, created interest in the nature and functions of the Boston Board. Briefly it may be stated that an amendment to the building laws of Boston was passed two years ago establishing a board of appeal consisting of three members—one appointed by the Mayor of the city, one by the Boston Chapter of the American Society of Architects and one by the Master Builders' Association, the Mayor having power to remove any member for malfeasance, incapacity or neglect of duty. The duties of the board are to hear appeals from the decisions of the Inspector of Buildings, who is equivalent to the Superintendent of Buildings in New York City, and to construe the language of the decisions rendered by the Inspector whenever called upon to do so by any citizen of Boston in a prescribed form. The board is endowed with discretionary powers in the matters of construction and the use of materials, and with the necessary authority to enter buildings, etc. Its decisions are final. It is in some respects like the Board of Examiners created under the New York building laws but with enlarged responsibilities and more complete powers. The Board of Examiners is better constructed in that it contains a wider experience, and consequently better judgment, and is more adapted to the requirements of New York city; but the idea of a competent body having authority to decide all disputes with the single head of the Department of Buildings is one that is quite worthy of consideration. The time for taking up this question is opportune inasmuch as a new charter is being framed for Greater New York, and a representative and able committee is at work upon the revision of the building laws. There is one thing that might make busy men hesitate to give their time to this particular matter, and it is the current report that the form of government which the Greater New York Commission will eventually recommend to the Legislature for the Department of Buildings, as well as for the other city departments, is the bi-partizan commission. The board of appeal is said to be working very successfully in Boston, and that one of the causes of this success is that the method of its appointments takes it out of politics and provides for a thoroughly practical and efficient tribunal to whom all questions of doubt as to the construction of the law by the Inspector of Buildings may be referred. Undoubtedly a tribunal of this character is absolutely necessary to the satisfactory operation of the Department of Buildings, and this fact ought to be strongly impressed upon the Greater New York Commission and upon the Legislature.

The Mechanics' Lien Law Amendment.

In consequence of a number of inquiries received we give below the text of Chapter 915, Laws of 1896, which amends Section 5 of Chapter 342 of the Laws of 1885 relative to mechanics' liens, and which contains the provisions which have interested material men so much lately. The act took effect May 27 last, but attention has only lately been drawn to it because of the recent filing of the first "orders" in accordance with its provisions. The act has been so thoroughly misrepresented by the press recently that its publication cannot fail to be of service to the building and allied trades. The new parts, or the amendments to the section are enclosed in parentheses:

Section 5. Priority of Liens; Building Contract.—The liens provided for in this act shall be preferred as prior liens to any conveyance, judgment or other claim which was not docketed or recorded at the time of filing the notice of lien prescribed in fourth section of this act, and prior to advances made upon any mortgage on the premises after the filing of such notice of lien, and prior to the claim of the creditor who has not furnished materials or performed labor upon any land or towards the erection or improvement of premises described in said notice of lien, and which have been assigned by the owner, lessee or person in possession thereof by a general assignment for the benefit of creditors within thirty days before the filing of the notice of lien provided for in the fourth section of this act. (No assignment of any contract for the performance of any labor or services or the furnishing of any materials for any of the purposes specified in the first section of this act; nor of the moneys due or to become due therefor, nor of any part thereof, nor any order drawn by any contractor or sub-contractor for the payment of such moneys shall have any force or validity until the contract, or a statement containing the substance thereof, and such assignment, or copies thereof, or a copy of such order, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the county wherein the premises are situated upon which such labor or services have been or are to be performed, or such materials have been or are to be furnished, and may then take effect and be enforced as of the time of such filing. The clerk of the county shall immediately index the same in the "lien docket" provided for in section four of this act.) But nothing in this act shall affect the priority of the amount actually owing on a mortgage given for purchase money. (Liens claims, assignments and orders of contractors, sub-contractors, laborers and material men shall be preferred over any other claim in the distribution of any fund pursuant to the provisions of this act.) In cases in which the owner has made an agreement to sell and convey the premises to the contractor or other person, such owner shall be deemed to be the owner within the intent and meaning of this act until the deed had been actually delivered and recorded conveying said premises pursuant to such agreement.

Section 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

Mr. Frank M. Avery, of Phillips & Avery, attorneys, who are authorities on all matters relating to mechanics' liens, said, in explanation of the act just quoted: "The act is in the form of an amendment to the Mechanics' Lien Law, which, with the exception of the new matter introduced by the amendment remains as heretofore. The act as it stands at present provides among other things that no assignment of money due or to become due for materials or labor furnished for buildings, nor any order drawn by any contractor or sub-contractor for the payment of such moneys, shall have any force or validity until such assignment or a copy thereof, or a copy of such order as the case may be, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the premises upon which such labor or service have been, or are to be performed, or for which such materials have been or are about to be furnished are situated; and that such assignment of moneys or orders may then take effect and be enforced as of the time of such filing.

"Heretofore a contractor could give an order drawn upon an owner in favor of a sub-contractor and such order, notice thereof being given to the owner, operated as an assignment of the fund upon which it was drawn to the amount of such order, and such orders were held to take precedence of subsequently filed mechanics' liens. There was always, therefore, an uncertainty as to how much might be due from and payable by an owner to his contractor on any given payment, because the same might have been depleted by such orders. The new amendment also provides that the clerk to the county shall index all such assignments of moneys and orders in the lien docket kept in his office and such orders, it is provided become of validity and are payable prior to other claims and liens when the order, or a copy thereof, is so filed in the County Clerk's office and indexed in the lien docket.

"But such orders are in no sense mechanics' liens. A mechanics' lien is an act taken adversely by a creditor against a person who owes him money and, as such when published affects the standing of the latter in the trade to a greater or less extent, for the reason that it becomes known that someone has taken steps to lien him. An 'order' is drawn on a payment to be earned by the debtor and is given to his creditor as a voluntary act on the part of the latter. Indeed, it often happens that such orders are given before the person who draws them owes any money at all; that is they are given for materials yet to be furnished and are payable out of a payment to become due at some future time. The filing and docket of such orders, therefore, should not affect the standing or credit of the person by whom they are drawn.

"The amendment does not in any respect change the law giving the right to file mechanics' liens against property; it merely provides for the filing and docket of these orders which are in no sense a lien against property, but are directions to pay money. The amendment will have to receive construction by the courts before the effect of its provisions will be settled."

"The Law Journal," in commenting upon the amendment, says:

"It would seem that the legislature in enacting Chap. 915 of the Laws of 1896, intended not to increase the grounds for which mechanics' liens, strictly speaking, could be filed, but to recognize and regulate a distinct order of security which has grown up according to business customs and the decisions of the Courts.

"In Gibson v. Lenane (94 N. Y., 183) acceptances by the owners of premises of orders by the contractor, before the filing of any liens, were allowed as payments on the contract, with the effect of defeating the regular mechanics' lien of a sub-contractor. In Lauer v. Dunn (115 N. Y. 405), it was held that such an order would receive a similar effect without the acceptance of the owner of the property. Under the new law, as no assignment of moneys due or to become due on the contract, 'nor any order drawn by any contractor or sub-contractor for the payment of such moneys shall have any force or validity' until filed as prescribed, it would probably be held that an order by a contractor or sub-contractor, duly filed, would take precedence of previous orders, whether accepted by the owner or not, which had not been filed.

"What has been said, however, does not dispose of the following clause: 'Liens, claims, assignments and orders of contractors, sub-contractors, laborers and material men shall be preferred over any other claim in the distribution of any fund pursuant to the provisions of this act.' Just what was meant by this provision is a legitimate subject of speculation and controversy. We would suggest that the probable intention was to prefer, in the distribution of any fund, claimants who had themselves performed work or furnished materials toward improvements upon premises, with respect to which the fund arose, over outside assignees or holders of orders. Such construction would have meritorious grounds to support it, and would, moreover, give the clause an effect legitimately in furtherance of the main purpose of the amendment above discussed. The form of the amendment, however, makes construction difficult and uncertain."

Mr. Lambert S. Quackenbush on being asked to give an opinion said the amendment was a very objectionable one and would have a tendency to prevent and obstruct the making of accommodations to builders. He said: "It will be noticed that the orders in question are not directed against any one. The amendment simply gives the material man a chance to fire a random shot against a particular property, making that whole property a lien for his claim. The order is not to be served on any one but merely filed. It places upon people who make builders' loans the trouble of looking up the record every time they make a payment in order to find out if any orders have been given on the jobs, and whatever care they take they are liable to be stuck upon the last payment as it might be covered by an order filed on the morning they make that payment. It will make it necessary to proceed with extreme caution, and to make loans only to people we know and can implicitly trust. Hitherto we have been accustomed to send money up to the jobs and in other ways to assist builders, which we will not be able to do any longer. These facts will naturally make the amendment an obstacle to building operations."

The amendment does not specify how the orders or assignments are to be discharged; presumably it is in the form provided for mechanics' liens in the other sections of the act of 1885. The county clerk's office has conferred with Justice MacLean on this point, and he has suggested that the first request for a discharge be refused, and the matter forthwith brought before him for an opinion.

TESTS FOR PLUMBING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: Permit me to call your attention to a very important matter. Did you ever give it a thought that in demanding in specifications, a test such as is prescribed by the New York City Building Department, you only get one-half of the plumbing pipes tested, and the other half, including the branches for the fixtures and the fixtures themselves, the most important parts of the plumbing, are never tested? This is a fact, and after looking into the question you will see the point.

A water test is made by closing up all the waste soil and vent outlets in the cast-iron pipe. Here the test stops; the rising soil waste and vent pipes, and probably the cellar drain and iron branches, together with the fittings which are later to receive the branch pipes for the fixtures, are the only pipes which are tested. If this stands the test, it is passed, and the building is not tested again, notwithstanding the "bald" fact that since the test was made hundreds of feet of pipe have been added to the plumbing system, hundreds of caulked and wiped joints have been put in, and the fixtures themselves have been set. The most important joints, pipes and connections, the most dangerous joints, are those connecting the fixtures proper to the main pipe, and why? Because lead and brass are used to make these connections, and these two articles are very often defective in themselves; especially is this the case with brass ferules. These materials must be handled by the most skilled mechanics to have the work properly done.

Then we come to the caulking in of the brass ferules, or other caulked joints leading to the fixtures. These joints are never tested, after the main lines have been tested and passed. For this reason: The plumber knowing that no further test will be applied to his work, naturally slights the most important part. The proper setting of a porcelain water closet or wash basin, bath or other plumbing fixture, is a more important feature in plumbing work than is generally supposed. To get an even tight and proper setting takes particular care, and time. I am fully satisfied, and I have acquaintances of higher authority in this profession, who agree with me, that if a smoke test was to be applied to every building in any large city where sanitary plumbing is done, and where Boards of Health and Building Departments exist, seven-eighths of the buildings would show up a frightful condition of the plumbing.

Some few architects and sanitary engineers have seen the error of not testing the entire plumbing work, after completion, and they call for the smoke test to be applied in all their specifications. The Building Department and the Board of Health should demand this. The Building Department particularly should call for this in their printed rules. By means of the smoke test every small sand hole in a brass ferule, a poorly screwed pipe, a defective casting of any kind, a poorly wiped joint, a poorly set closet, basin coupling, cracked porcelain-ware, or in old work a pipe which is clogged up with rust may be detected, not only by the odor of the smoke, but by seeing it puff out with every stroke of the testing machine. In testing old houses by means of the smoke test, the fact of houses being connected together by one house drain, instead of each having an independent drain or sewer, can be found out inside of ten minutes, without resorting to excavating, or going down into the public sewer. The smoke test is invaluable to an architect or property-owner.

I have copied most of the technical and mechanical terms from the report of the sanitary engineers who made a smoke test in a house I recently purchased, and which was just finished when I purchased it. The plumbing work is all of the latest open work, and as far as appearances go I considered it the finest and best, from my personal view. I have learned a thing or two about plumbing and what it costs, and I would like to say to the Building Department of this city that the sooner they compel plumbers to make a smoke test, when the house is finished, and the builders and the architects demand it, the better it will perform its duty. AN EXPERIENCED PURCHASER.

Note.—Our correspondent is probably not aware of the exact terms of the departmental test requirements for plumbing. They are:

The entire plumbing and drainage system within the building must be tested by the plumber, in the presence of a plumbing inspector, under a water or air test, as directed. All pipes must remain uncovered in every part until they have successfully passed the test. The plumber must securely close all openings as directed by the inspector of plumbing. The use of wooden plugs for this purpose is prohibited.

The water test will be applied by closing the lower end of the main house drain and filling the pipes to the highest opening above the roof with water. If the drain or any part of the system is to be tested separately, there must be a head of water at least six (6) feet above all parts of the work so tested, and special provision must be made for including all joints and connections in at least one test.

The air test will be applied with a force-pump and mercury column unde. ten pounds pressure equal to 20 inches of mercury. The use of spring gauges is prohibited.

After the completion of the work, when the water has been turned on and the traps filled, the plumber must make a peppermint or smoke test in the presence of a plumbing inspector and as directed by him.

The material and labor for the tests must be furnished by the plumber. Where the peppermint test is used two ounces of oil of peppermint must be provided for each line up to five stories and basement in height, and for each additional five stories or fraction thereof one additional ounce of peppermint must be provided for each line.

NOTIFICATION OF TAXPAYERS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: I would offer to you the following suggestions as to the notification of taxpayers in different parts of the city, and would like a comment on it in your paper: Have one book for each of the thirteen sections of the city giving names, and amounts assessed against owners with conditions of payment, the books to be on sale previous to the time limit. Copies to be hung for public use in public places in different parts of the city.

New York, Sept. 28, 1896. W. A. H.

Building Construction.

From time to time we receive inquiries as to which is the best book upon building construction for readers who have only a slight acquaintance with the subject and wish to study it further. These requests are as a rule from students, draughtsmen in architects' offices and builders who desire to know more than the rules-of-thumb of their craft. Hitherto it has not been easy to make a satisfactory recommendation, for no work, quite of the kind desired, has existed. There are, of course, books of a somewhat technical nature which involve considerable preparatory study for thorough comprehension, such, for instance, as Berg's "Safe Building," and there are also foreign works, like "Notes on Building Construction," which have this serious defect that in many particulars they do not conform to American practice. These have not exactly filled the requirements and yet they have been about the best the market offers. The work recently published by William T. Comstock, "Building Construction and Superintendence," by F. E. Kidder, C. E. Ph. D., is just the book needed. The author is an architect, and what is as much to the purpose an architect who can impart his knowledge in clear untechnical language. He writes as a practical man and uses his pencil wherever the subject gains clearness from illustration. He is up to date, and advocates sound, thorough construction. He has produced a book which can be heartily recommended. It is in every way satisfactory.

The Appropriation for the Department of Buildings.

Mr. Stevenson Constable, Superintendent of the Department of Buildings, has sent to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment a request for an increased appropriation for his use in 1897. A summary of the amounts asked for set in comparison with the amounts received under the chief heads of expenditure is as follows:

	1896. Appropriation.	1897. Estimate.
Salaries	$247,700.00	$336,325.00
*Rents	8,500.00	11,500.00
Board of Examiners' Fees	5,200.00	5,200.00
Fees and Serving Summonses	1,200.00	200.00
Emergencies and Contingencies	2,400.00	12,000.00
Totals	$265,000.00	$365,225.00

*Includes rent of Branch Office and seventh floor of Main Office for 1897.

Mr. Constable accompanies this estimate by a long letter explaining its increase and containing sixteen reasons why the appropriation should be made in accordance therewith. These reasons somewhat abbreviated are:

1st. The work transacted by the Department for the nine months of this year has increased two hundred per cent. over the work transacted for the corresponding period of 1895, and that of 1895 being one hundred per cent. above the work transacted in the same period of 1894.

2d. The present number of employees is totally inadequate. The work now being done by the District Inspectors requires that one man shall have from ninety to one hundred and fifty buildings and over in his charge, and during the present year the Legislature enacted three laws which increase very largely the duties and responsibilities of the Department.

a. One requiring the filling in or covering over of all floors of each building during its construction to within two stories below the one which is being erected in said building.

b. An act prohibiting the erection of non-fireproof buildings over the height of seventy feet (chapter 723, Laws of 1896).

c. An act (chapter 803, Laws of 1896), which increases the responsibilities and duties of the Department in all matters relating to light and ventilation and plumbing.

At the time of the passage of each one of these acts, I notified the parties directly interested and the Legislature of the above fact, viz.: That in no case would the Department be able to carry out these acts unless additional aid and help were provided.

3d. The class of construction, which the rapid growth of the city and the various problems in the crowded parts of the city, and the great advance in engineering and architectural skill, and the many new materials which have come into use in construction, has developed a condition far beyond that which the laws that were passed in 1892 ever contemplated. Therefore, with the limited number of Inspectors to examine this class of work, increased risk and danger are developed in the use of and in the quality of the materials used in the construction and the detail in which they are placed in the work.

4th. The methods and calculations required in the great buildings of modern construction, and the great increase in this class of construction, require a larger number of competent Inspectors and men of higher technical knowledge than ever before employed by the Department.

5th. There are now over 1,800 passenger elevators in this city, which, under the law, must be inspected regularly by this Department. It is now impossible to inspect, with the present limited force in this line, said elevators more than once in four months.

6th. As the District Inspectors have a large amount of general and detail work to look after, I have established a corps of Special or Supervising Inspectors, whose duty it is to supervise a certain number of districts. This force should be increased.

7th. Owing to the careless work incompetent Inspectors, and lack of the adoption of thorough and business-like methods in the past in this Department, a large number of buildings have been erected in which many of the legal safety appliances in construction have not been properly carried out, such as, no flue linings, no brick chimney breasts, no cement or brick hearths, no hearth arches, no fire stops, no fire-escapes, non-fireproof elevator shafts, etc. And as this number has been increasing for several years, until a very large percentage of a certain class of buildings in this city, especially tenements, are in need of immediate inspection to prevent increased risk by fire, and damage and loss of life incidental thereto, I would most thoroughly advise the increase in the number of Inspectors. The number of structures becoming unsafe has greatly increased in recent years, owing to the increased depth of foundations for the modern buildings, the increased amount of building, the age of many of the buildings or of the adjoining structures. To guard against accident it is necessary to make prompt and careful inspection of such buildings, foundations, etc., making an increased force absolutely necessary. Moreover, the law passed in 1892, requiring that all elevator shafts in hotels and public buildings, then erected, should be inclosed with fireproof materials, has never been thoroughly enforced as the law requires, and an immediate and systematic inspection should be made.

8th. A large number of fire-escapes erected in the past and previous to the Laws of 1892, have, from lack of proper inspection, been allowed to deteriorate so as to become dangerous. Many of them from not having been properly painted have rusted to such an extent that they have become unsafe. Ladders have been misplaced, and many have wooden floors which have become rotten and dangerous.

9th. Thousands of buildings in this city, from change of occupancy and use (which has not been recorded in this Department as the law requires) now legally require fire-escapes, etc., but have not been thoroughly inspected.

10th. Plans and specifications are constantly filed in the Department calling for the use of materials and methods novel in construction. Before the Department can approve the same, the law requires that their strength, qualities and fire-resisting properties shall be determined "to be equally as good as those required by law." Therefore, proper Inspectors should be employed for this purpose.

11th. The work in the districts north of the Harlem River has been so extensive that it was found impracticable to properly transact the business of the Department in that locality from the main office. It is, therefore, necessary that sufficient means and help should be granted this Department to properly administer and carry on the branch office at 146th street and 3d avenue.

There will be a great increase of work in this section next year, making this more important.

12th. Owing to not having received the proper appropriation asked for by me for my "Contingency and Emergency Fund" of this year, $8,000 from the salary account had to be transferred to said "Emergency Fund" by your Board, thereby diverting the money from the purposes for which it was appropriated.

13th. This Department has legal charge of all new plumbing work in this city, and as one of the most important branches of this is the connection to the sewers of the city system, of which there has never been made or kept any record in this Department, or any plans indicating or showing said connection or arrangement of sewers in the streets, it is very important that a proper set of plans be reproduced for the use of this Department.

14th. There were no proper plans of the city for the use of the Department. Through the courtesy of Mr. F. C. Moore, President of the Board of Fire Underwriters, a complete set of the insurance maps of the city were furnished, with the understanding that I could use them for the year and that I would try and secure an appropriation to pay for the same.

15th. A proper library of engineering and technical books relating to construction, etc., and constantly needed as reference, should be supplied.

16th. The law requires that all tenement-houses in which bakeries have been placed shall be inspected by this Department. The law also provides for the regulation by this Department of the arrangement and construction of steam and gas pipes, etc. These provisions of the law affecting the safety of property and lives have never been carried out by this Department.

Notice to Property-Owners.

The assessments for the following have been completed and can be examined in the office of the Board of Assessors. Objections must be presented by the 26th inst. The lists will be transmitted on that day to the Board of Revision and Correction of Assessments for confirmation.

The Black Spot on the Building Industry.

This community was startled a week ago by another collapse of a building in course of erection, with fatal consequences, making the third within about a year and a half, a very unwholesome record for the building industry of this city. The most recent instance was the fall of the five-story flat house at No. 1078 Madison avenue, the story of which is one of the practices which have discredited the building business in this city for many years, and which no exposures or denunciations seem able to remove.

The lot on which the collapsed building was placed, our records show, was sold at public auction by William Kennelly for the Duffy estate early in June for $14,650. To give effect to this sale, the lot described as Madison avenue, west side, 51.2 north of 81st street, 25.6x95, was transferred by John Jeroloman, who held it for the Duffy estate, to Pincus Lowenfeld, in the week ending July 30, for a nominal consideration. In the week ending Aug. 13, a deed was placed on file purporting to convey the property from Pincus Lowenfeld to Lucy D. Rogers for $19,000, or $4,350 more than the price obtained at auction sale. This transfer was subject to mortgages of $12,000—$10,000 to the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and $2,000 to Frederick J. Middlebrook—and the balance was paid by a purchase money mortgage of $7,000, so that as a matter of fact the party to whom the lot was transferred did not pay a dollar and must be taken as a figurehead merely. She afterwards got a building loan of $12,000.

The work of building was carried up to the third story, when, without warning, the walls collapsed and one workman was killed and eight injured. The Department of Buildings immediately took charge and began an investigation as to the cause of the accident, if such it can be called. The building from the rear wall to within thirty feet of the front wall was carried away by the fall and the Department has had the balance removed. The builders were Shannon & Roche, and Patrick Roche, of that firm was arrested and put under bonds. De Andreas Bros. laid the foundations and an order for the arrest of their agent, F. Hawkins, was issued by the coroner. Building Department Inspectors George Vix, Thomas Walsh and John Thain, who at one time or another had supervision of the building, were suspended, pending investigation by the Superintendent.

The technical causes of the accident can only be determined by an examination, but that both material and workmanship were bad, goes without saying. A competent authority thus accounts for the accident: "A twelve-inch brick wall properly laid could be safely carried three stories high without mortar or any other holding substance, but it seems in this case that the walls were put up with poor mortar, back and front being good brick and the interior four inches bats thrown in anyhow. The sides of this hollow wall not being secured by good mortar or cement, buckled under pressure of its interior contents. It will be found that the condition of the foundations had nothing to do with the accident."

Street Openings.

At a meeting of the Board of Street Opening and Improvement held on 25th ult., the Commissioner of Street Improvements, 23d and 24th Wards, recommended the opening of streets as follows:

Creston av. from Tremont av to East 198th st (Travers st).

East 177th st, from Tremont av to Jerome av.

Ryer av, from Burnside av to the Grand Boulevard and Concourse.

Resolutions for the opening of:

Creston av, from Tremont av to Minerva pl.

East 177th st, from Jerome av to the Grand Boulevard and Concourse.

Ryer av, from Burnside av to East 187th st.

Fordham road, from East 189th st to the Kingsbridge road.

East 183d st, from Jerome av to Webster av.

East 182d st, from Jerome av to Valentine av.

Morris av, from Tremont av to Park View pl.

East 172d st, from Jerome av to Morris av.

East 164th st, from Jerome av to Sheridan av.

Clay av, from Park av (Railroad av West) to Webster av.

Public pl, at the junction of Morris av, College av and East 142d st.

Exterior st, from East 135th st to Gerard av, at Cheever pl.

Macomb's road, from Jerome av to Aqueduct av.

East 151st st, from Mott av to Exterior st.

East 170th st, from Aqueduct av to Jerome av.

Cameron pl, from Jerome av to Morris av.

Walton av, from Tremont av to Fordham road.

East 171st st, from Jerome av to Morris av.

Public pl, at the junction of East 143d and 144th sts.

East 140th st, from Morris av to Park av (Railroad av East).

East 172d st, from Plimpton av to Marcher av.

Public pl, bet Undercliff av and Boscobel av, near Washington Bridge.

Clifford pl, from Jerome av to Walton av.

East 153d st (formerly Sedgwick av), from Mott av to East 157th st.

Nelson av, from Boscobel av to Featherbed lane.

Plimpton av, from Boscobel av to Featherbed lane.

East 157th st, from Walton av to Exterior st.

Previous resolution for opening Ryer avenue, from Burnside avenue to Grand Boulevard and Concourse was rescinded and new one passed to open that thoroughfare in accordance with the later recommendation of the Commissioner. Action upon the other streets was postponed. The application of C. P. Huntington that proceedings for the opening of 139th street, from St. Ann's avenue to Locust avenue, was laid over until the next meeting and the secretary directed to request Mr. Huntington to be present.

Commissioner of Public Works C. H. T. Collis, wrote, referring to the matter of Mitchell place, a private street on the northerly side of 49th street, extending from 1st avenue to Beekman place: "49th street was legally opened, and title acquired by the city, December, 1837, the abutting owners paying for the land taken for the street for a width of 60 feet. It would seem to be unfair to burden these property-owners with an additional assessment for laying out a special street or place on the northerly side of 49th street, for the benefit of a few property-owners. It is suggested that the owners of the land within the lines of the private street, Mitchell place, convey to the city said street or place free of expense to the owners of the abutting property, before the Board of Street Opening take action declaring it one of the streets of the city, so that public improvements may be made thereon." The letter was ordered placed on file.

MERCANTILE.

Broadway, Nos. 149-153, northwest corner of Liberty street. The existing buildings will be demolished immediately after they are vacated by present tenants on May 1 next, and a ten-story office structure erected to cover the plot, 62.8x110x63x113.10, less space to be devoted to an interior court for light and air on the northerly end. Owner, Singer Manufacturing Co., Fred. G. Bourne, president, No. 149 Broadway; architect, Ernest Flagg, No. 54 Broad street.

FLATS AND TENEMENTS.

One Hundred and Fourth street, 125 feet east of 5th avenue, 25x100; five-story brick and stone flat, to cost $20,000; owner, Lambert S. Quackenbush, No. 163 Broadway; architect not selected.

One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, 300 feet east of 7th avenue, two five-story flats; owner, August Jacobs, No. 260 East 78th street. Condition, plans under way.

Ninety-fifth street, northeast corner of Park avenue; 100x90; three five-story brick and stone apartment houses; owners, Alexander Cameron and John Rankin. Condition, plans under way.

Jackson avenue, near Cedar place; three flats; wood; three stories; 19x60; to cost $20,000; owner, Jas. G. Patton, care of architect; architect, John De Hart, 1637 Fox street.

One Hundred and First st, north side, west of Madison av; four flats; brick and stone; five stories; 25x87; to cost $90,000; owners, Sheehy & Reagan, 247 East 83d street; architect, Chas. Stegmayer, 306 East 82d street; owners build.

East 153d street, No. 459; flat; wood; three stories; 20x50; to cost $5,000; owners, Margaret and Wm. L. Jungermann, 551 East 153d street; architect, L. C. Devis, 815 Cedar place.

Bathgate avenue, east side, south of 179th street; three flats; wood; three stories; 16x65; to cost $4,000 each; owner, Mary J. O'Brien, 2283 Bathgate avenue; architect, J. G. Robinson, 2283 Bathgate avenue.

Lenox avenue, east side, between 137th and 138th streets; nine flats, to cost $200,000; brick and stone; five stories; 25x75; owner, Henry Muhlker, 14 West 114th street; architect, R. R. Davis, No. 247 West 125th street. Condition, sketches. Owner builds. Contracts not let; nothing will be done until after election.

Jackson avenue, near Cedar place; three three-story brick 19x60 flats, $20,000 total cost; owner, James G. Patton, care architect; architect, John De Hart, No. 1637 Fox street. Condition, sketches.

Eagle avenue, east side, north of Westchester avenue; brick and stone flats and stores; owner, C. Manello; architect, W. C. Dickerson, 149th street and 3d avenue. Condition, plans in progress.

Seventh avenue, northwest corner of 120th street; seven-story brick and stone apartment house, 100x125; owners, William C. Turner and George Heeseman, No. 176 Broadway, New York City, and No. 393 16th street, Brooklyn; architects, Neville & Bagge, No. 217 West 125th street. Condition, sketches. Owners build.

DWELLINGS.

Bathgate avenue, southeast corner 179th street; five dwellings; wood; three and two stories; 24x50; 18x60; to cost $20,000; owner, Mary J. O'Brien, 2283 Bathgate avenue; architect, J. G. Robinson, 2283 Bathgate avenue.

Jackson avenue, east side, 90 south of 156th street; eight residences; to cost $40,000; architect, W. C. Dickerson, 149th street and 3d avenue. Work on this operation will not be started until after election.

One Hundred and Thirty-second street, south side, 200 feet west of Lenox avenue, three-story brick and stone residence, 20x50; architect, Paul Kuhne, Stapleton, S. I.; owner, J. J. Cohn, No. 32 Park place.

ALTERATIONS.

It is reported that John Wanamaker will make some interior alterations to Hilton, Hughes & Co.'s old store, Broadway, 9th and 10th streets.

All but $3,500 has been subscribed to rebuild the part destroyed by fire of Mount Holyoke College. It will cost $30,000. No architect selected.

BROOKLYN.

Hancock street, north side, east of Marcy avenue; five three-story and basement stone residences, to cost $30,000; owner, John F. Saddington, No. 265 Jefferson avenue. Owner builds, but may not start until after election.

Eagle street, No. 182; three-story wood flat, 25x55, to cost $6,000; owner, Patrick Kiernan, on premises; architect, B. E. Lowe, No. 115 Diamond street. Owner builds and is taking bids.

Grand and Greene avenues, southwest corner; alteration to store, to cost $1,500, and consisting of a one-story rear extension, 20x30, and new store front; owner, F. H. Maass; architect, S. W. Dodge, No. 45 Exchange place, New York City.

Pacific street, near Kingston avenue; four four-story brick and stone flats, to cost $40,000; owner, George Brown, No. 26 Court street. Condition, sketches. Owner builds, but will not start until after election.

Trade Notes.

TINPLATES.

N. & G. Taylor Co., Philadelphia, manufacturers of tinplates, report a large and steadily growing business in their roofing tin in rolls These rolls are sheets of tin soldered together with the aid of rosin, no acid being used. They are then thoroughly painted on one side, and carefully put up in rolls ready for shipping. These rolls are particularly adapted for quick contracts as the tin is all ready for instant use, and for laying on the roof. N. & G. Taylor Co. originated the idea of continuous roofing tin some thirty years ago. They make the tin in all grades from their celebrated "Taylor Old-Style" brand, extra heavy coated, down to ordinary grades. They are also agents for the Pancoast ventilator, which is recognized among the technical as being made under scientific principles, and to be a ventilator that ventilates. They invite correspondence.

CORNICE AND ROOFING WORK.

The Manhattan Cornice and Roofing Works, 1st avenue, southeast corner of 61st street, have been busy of late filling contracts for work in their line for such builders as Alex. McDowell, whose latest operation is on the corner of Manhattan avenue and 114th street; Gammie & Robertson's flats, corner of 5th avenue and 134th street; G. Johnson's five flats on 5th avenue, L. R. True's new store on Bleecker street and Amund Johnsen's on West 3d street. Messrs. Werner & Kullman, proprietors of the Manhattan Cornice & Roofing Works, are both practical and active workers, and personally look after all orders entrusted to them, which accounts for their success.

Real Estate Valuations.

The report of the Tax Department for the quarter ended June 30th last, though only recently published in the "City Record," contains a number of statements that are still of interest. One of these relates to the work of laying the city out in tax sections. It is, that sections 1 and 2 will be used in 1897 and in 1898 section 8 will be added, bringing the whole of Manhattan Island into tax sections by that year. The report contains the assessed valuations for 1896 by wards and sections, but these were published by us last August. The following table showing the total increase in valuation of real estate in each ward and section and the proportion of the same due to improvements has not yet been published.

Wards.	Total Increase.	Increase for Improvements.	Wards	Total Increase.	Increase for Improvements.

			Total	$85,480,488	$32,706,174

The number of assessments for the year 1896 was 153,999, and the number of pieces assessed, 166,407. The last named figures compare with 138,949 for 1895, 161,786 for 1894, with figures varying little from those for 1894 for the other years as far back as 1886.

Real Estate Market.

The improvement noted last week has continued and that investors are regaining confidence in realty's future, regardless of the political situation, is shown by a gratifying increase in the number of sales reported. They include property of every grade and indicate a total investment of about $1,500,000. The West Side has done remarkably well and if the expectations of many of the brokers in that section are well grounded, an excellent business will be transacted before winter sets in. Its accomplishment, however, will depend on easier financial conditions prevailing than now exist, but they are expected to follow the approaching election, and are being counted on by many of the inquirers and would-be buyers who have been in evidence in the last six days.

The following are the comparative tables for the New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1895 and 1896.

The array of property, offered by the auctioneers during the week, under foreclosure or otherwise, could hardly have been less attractive, and the result was an exceedingly slim attendance throughout. The adjournments beyond next week comprised sales of the following: No. 483 Manhattan avenue, by William Kennelly until the 14th inst; No. 103 West 76th street, by the same auctioneer until the 19th inst; No. 52 East 121st street, by Bryan L. Kennelly to Dec. 1, and parcels on Washington, Bleecker, Christopher and Bank streets, and 3d avenue, north of Mott street, by Peter F. Meyer & Co., to the same date. On Tuesday, Bryan L. Kennelly's offering of the leasehold premises, No. 189 Avenue B, ended in the property being bought in at $3,950.

Peter F. Meyer again calls attention to the auction sales to be conducted by him at the New York Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, on Wednesday next, the 7th proximo. There will then be offered 121 city lots having sewer, water and gas, and located on Undercliff Terrace and Morris Heights, overlooking the magnificent panorama of the Harlem River, and the Speedway. The occasion will afford a good opportunity to builders and others to obtain desirable sites for their operations, and we repeat our advice to them to consult the announcement on another page, or inquire of Ephraim B. Levy, No. 7 Astor House, Broadway, or the auctioneer at No. 111 Broadway, for full description, terms, etc., of these offerings. At the same time and place, Mr. Meyer will sell Nos. 116 and 118 West 64th street, by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure. These parcels consist of four-story and basement, high-stoop brownstone dwellings, with lots, located on the street named, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues. Maps, etc., can be obtained of the auctioneer.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

Horace S. Ely & Co. have sold for Robert B. Suckley the five-story brick and iron store and loft building with lot, 23.7x85.11, No. 30 Beekman street, for about $72,500 to a customer who buys for investment.

Daniel Birdsall & Co. have sold for John T. Williams the six-story business building, Nos. 95 to 99 Hudson street, 50x100, with L 23.6x25, No. 171 Franklin street.

Joseph L. Buttenwieser has sold the six-story brick tenement with stores, 25x90x100, No. 86 Catharine street, at about $43,000 to Simon Schalanski, who will give in part payment the three-story dwelling with lot, 25x87.6, No. 50 Market street.

Frank J. Southwell has sold the three three-story brick tenements, Nos. 224 to 228 West 30th street, and No. 230, a seven-story brick factory adjoining, with plot, 91.11x98.9, and five-story brick factory covering the rear of all the lots, to a Mr. Bolton, of Brooklyn, for investment.

Mandelbaum & Lewine have sold the five-story brick tenement with store, 25x60x100, No. 112 Macdougal street, to Anthony De Maria for $16,000, an advance of $2,000 on the price at which they recently purchased the property.

Frederick Southack & Co. have sold for Jefferson M. Levy as administrator of the estate of Fanny Levy, the plot 40x76 with old three-story brick buildings, Nos. 507 and 509 Washington street, about 140 feet north of Spring street, to Joseph Naylor for $20,000.

We learn that part of the consideration for the southwest corner of William and Liberty streets, reported sold last week by Brokers R. M. Montgomery & Co., for Jefferson M. Levy to Anson Phelps Stokes, is the latter's handsome country seat at Lenox, Mass., which is said to have cost him about $175,000.

Folsom Bros. have sold for Helen H. Mulliken to John H. McGurk the leasehold premises No. 209 East 18th street.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

Edward and Henry Hirsh have sold the block front, 199.10x30, on the east side of Amsterdam avenue, between 142d and 143d streets, at about $70,000, to a builder for immediate improvement.

George Heesemann and Mrs. W.C. Turner, whose recently-mentioned purchase of a plot on Morningside avenue, has, it seems, fallen through, have bought of Mrs. Francis A. Clark, the plot, 100x125, on the northwest corner of 7th avenue and 120th street, for something under $100,000, and will improve same without delay. A sale of this plot, reported in July, failed of consummation owing to its becoming involved in litigation and the seller's consequent inability to deliver according to the contract, which, by the way, called for a larger consideration than the one now agreed upon.

Bryan L. Kennelly has sold for Walter Phelps Dodge a plot, 45.5x100, on the east side of Amsterdam avenue, 50 feet south of 184th street, for about $8,000.

Builders Gross & Herbener have sold the five-story brick flat, 27.10x95x100, on the northeast corner of Manhattan avenue and 101st street, with the adjoining and similar flat, 27x83x100, for about $80,000; also one of the two others included in the same operation involving the improvement of the half block front.

Sigmund B. Steinmann and John Wilson have sold to an out-of-town investor, for about $230,000, the two five-story brick flats, 60x95x100, and 40.11x89.6x100, respectively, that are now nearing completion on the southeast corner of West End avenue and 97th street.

T. E. D. Power has sold for Builder Patrick Pendegast at about $35,000, the new five-story flat, 18x92x102.2, on the north side of 84th street, about 325 feet east of Amsterdam avenue.

Henry C. Bailey has sold for Builders Leith & Glenn to Theron L. Carman the four-story brick dwelling, No. 139 West 136th street, lot 16.6x99.11. This is the tenth house sold in a new row of sixteen finished a few months ago.

N. Weilburg and A. Guthman have sold for Christian L. Schluter, the five-story brick flat, 50x80, on the southwest corner of Amsterdam avenue and 99th street, for $70,000, to Herman Wronkow, who will give in trade at $52,000 four flats in Brooklyn, two of which are on 9th street, near 5th avenue, and two on that avenue, near 9th street.

Ribeth & Trattner have sold for Mrs. Estelle P. Lewis, the five-story tenement with stores, lot 25x100.8, No. 346 East 92d street, and for Martin Bossong at $10,500, his three-story stone front residence with lot, 18.9x102.2, No. 250 East 78th street.

Wood & Miller have sold for Mrs. L. Schiefer the five-story double flat with store, lot 25.11x75, No. 361 Lenox avenue, northwest corner of 128th street, for a little under $44,000.

Frederick Zittel has sold for Builder John C. Umberfield the four-story stone front dwelling, 23x61x102.2, No. 31 West 86th street, for about $59,000. It is the third house to secure a purchaser out of a new row of nine finished in the spring. The buyer is Ferdinand Forsch, who will give in part payment his present four-story stone front residence, 20x55x100.5, No. 164 East 61st street, valued at about $25,000.

It was reported yesterday that the same broker had sold for Builders Egan & Hallecy at a price close to $60,000, one of their row of three five-story brick flats, 33.4x91x102.2, on the south side of 84th street, 175 feet east of Amsterdam avenue.

Golding & Whitehouse have sold for George F. Johnson the three-story brick dwelling, 17x55x100.5, No. 251 West 70th street, which he acquired in January last, through a trade at an expressed consideration of $20,000.

The Frank L. Fisher Co. has sold for Perez M. Stewart the four-story dwelling, 22x62x102.2, No. 326 West 76th street, at about $47,000, to J. Dey, who will give country property in part payment.

Isaac T. Meyer and M. Kamak have sold for Eugene P. Peyser to Louis N. Henriquez at a price close to $85,000, the five-story brick flat, 27.8x100.8, on the southeast corner of 89th street and Columbus avenue, with stores fronting on the latter.

Alfred Kuhlke and John J. Schwartz have sold for Edward H. Ryan to William H. Houghton, the three and four-story brick dwelling with lot, 20x79.4, No. 381 West End avenue, northwest corner of 83d street, at a price that indicates a trade.

Charles F. Atherton has sold the two five-story stone front flats with plot, 40x100.8, Nos. 414 and 416 East 89th street, to Mrs. E. B. Sanger, who will give in part payment property at Southampton, L. I.

William Bird has sold his four-story stone front residence with lot, 20x102.2, No. 33 East 72d street, to a Mr. Marshall for something less than $50,000. Mrs. Bird acquired the house in August, 1888, for a consideration of $46,000.

George Gerlach has sold to A. King the five-story brick tenement with stores, lot 25x100, No. 2092 8th avenue, one door north of 113th street.

NORTH SIDE.

John R. Ross has sold for J. C. Reckweg, of California, the plot, 100x47x104x81 with buildings, on the south side of Suburban street, 287 feet east of Anthony avenue, Bedford Park, to E. Krakowski, for $7,000. The buyer has purchased for permanent investment, and will improve the buildings.

Sonneborn & Woolsey have sold for William J. Usher the plot 150x119, on the northeast corner of Decatur avenue and Mosholu Parkway, to Anna Hogg for immediate improvement at $10,000, and the plot, 75x148x118x100, on the northeast corner of Bainbridge avenue and Southern Boulevard, for Elenoria Freystadt to Margaret Houlihan for investment at $10,500.

Francis J. Schnugg has sold the two-story store building with lot, 25x100, No. 2690 3d avenue, near 143d street, to Becker Bros. for about $22,000.

LEASES.

Frederick Southack & Co. have leased for Mrs. Anne E. Gawtry the former dwelling, No. 146 5th avenue, between 19th and 20th streets, now occupied for business, to William Sittenham for a term of twenty-one years.

Golding & Whitehouse have leased the fourth floor of the new Johnston building at Broad street and Exchange place, to E. P. Cuthbert & Co., for five years from January 1 next, at an average annual rental of a little less than $15,000.

B. M. Strauss & Co. have leased for John Jacob Astor the entire building on the northeast corner of Broadway and 42d street, to Beltaire, Lurch & Co., for a term of ten years. They have also leased to J. C. Stratton & Co., the upper floors of the building on the northeast corner of Waverly place and Mercer street, for five years,

Real Estate Notes.

Francis T. Underhill, real estate broker, has been proposed for stock membership of the Real Estate Exchange, and Richard B. McCotter, also a broker, for annual membership.

A. W. McLaughlin & Co. report a somewhat improved condition in the loan market. They have succeeded in placing during the last ten days various loans aggregating $536,000, which will be advanced when searches now under way are concluded.

Apparently the most important real estate item published in the daily papers this week was that of the sale of Nos. 112 to 116 Bleecker street, 75x100 feet, by Louis M. Jones to Henry S. Wood. It was, however, referred to in our "Gossip" column on July 18, and the reason given for Mr. Jones' relinquishment of the plot after finishing its excavation and had become a matter of record previous to its being used for padding the real estate columns of our enterprising daily contemporaries. On the day of the publication of the reports, plans for two buildings were filed by the new owner. The latter, who has heretofore been unknown in building enterprises paid, we are informed, $165,000 for the land and estimates his proposed additional expenditure for the buildings at $274,000. Whew!

There is a lively time ahead for the westerly corners of Broadway and Liberty street to begin on May 1 next. The tenants of the Singer Manufacturing Company's property on the northwest corner, have been notified to leave by that date, as the long-expected office building, it is positively announced, is finally to be erected. That and the Washington Life's structure on the southwest corner will therefore be commenced about the same time. It is not unlikely that both will be greatly delayed at the beginning on account of the treacherous soil that is a feature of the neighborhood, and will add largely to the estimated cost of the respective foundations. But all projects eventually reach an end, and when both buildings are finished, many months later, they will add greatly to the appearance of lower Broadway.

Concerning Real Estate Agents and Brokers.

Mr. Remsen Darling succeeds to the long-established and successful mortgage-loan brokerage business of Darling Bros., at No. 171 Broadway, Benedict Building. This office has long been known as having excellent facilities for placing mortgage loans. Mr. Remsen Darling is the crack shot of the 7th Regiment Veterans. He recently won the Mali cup at Creedmore. It is valued at $250.

The Uptown Electric Trolley.

As we indicated last week, the State Board of Railroad Commissioners has approved the use of the electric trolley on the Third Avenue Railroad Company's extension from 162d street to the city limits.

Hold-over on Monthly Tenure.

The Supreme Court, Appellate Term, has rendered an opinion in the case of Patrick Gilfoyle v. Daniel C. Cahill et al, which was a suit to recover $45, one month's rent for the store and basement of No. 189 West 10th street, and for which the lower court had given judgment. This judgment was confirmed by the Appellate Term, which held that where a tenant has entered into possession under an oral lease for more than a year at a monthly rental payable in advance and has vacated the premises after the beginning of a subsequent month, extending from April 15 to May 15, he is liable for a full month's rent. The facts show a monthly letting, and therefore the case does not fall within the statutory provision that leases of premises in New York city expire on May 1, unless the duration of the same is otherwise particularly specified.

Questions and Answers.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

ASHES AND GARBAGE.

I own a three-story house, occupied by three families. I have provided them with two iron and one wooden barrel. I am continually troubled with complaints from the inspectors. Will you kindly inform me if I am expected to sift their ashes and garbage? Please answer in your next copy.

Answer.—No.—Law Editor.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

LAW BOOKS RECOMMENDED.

Kindly answer the following questions in your next issue if not too late. Whose law edition or book do you recommend on titles to real estate. Also on parsons, or information on legal documents. Hoping to see same in your next edition, I remain one of your sincere subscribers.

Answer.—Gerard on "Titles to Real Estate." We do not know of any law book that treats of the duties of clergymen. On legal documents, the celebrated writer, Theophilus Parsons, has written a work which we can highly recommend, "Laws of Business for Business Men." There is another work which has had a very large circulation, "Wells Every Man his Own Lawyer, and Book of Forms."—Law Editor.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:
1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.
2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.
3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it.
The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the Deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded. Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent. Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at the foot of this list.

[1]Editor Record and Guide:

On behalf of my clients, Henry Rothschild and W. G. Webber against whom two mechanics' liens, aggregating $1,050, were filed on Monday last, by Thomas Madden against property on east side of 5th avenue, between 112th and 113th streets, I beg to state that the filing of the liens was unjustifiable and without cause or merit. Mr. Madden has violated his contracts and proceedings are now pending to bond both of said liens.
